EVER BRIGHTER EVER NEW

Embry-Riddle has experienced a long and successful career in the history of American Aviation, a career marked with change and growth. Keeping pace with the rapid growth of the industry as a whole, ERAU has developed into the most widely known and accredited "University of the Air." The Embry-Riddle of today bears little resemblance to the small flying service formed in 1926.

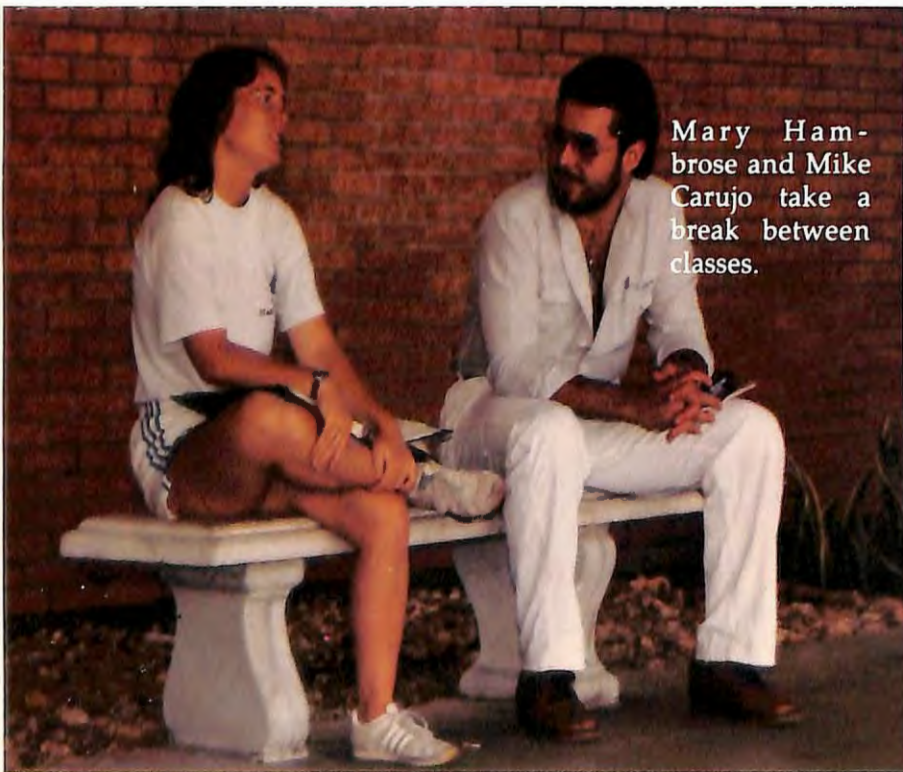

THERE'S A NEW WORLD COMING

Attracted by the lure of aviation, John Paul Riddle opened a "flying service" at Lunken Airport, Cincinnati. His limited funds enabled him to purchase two aging Waco biplanes. In those days, "flying service" meant doing just about anything to earn a living with an airplane. He organized and flew air shows, carried sightseers, hauled the mail, and gave flight instruction; thus the beginning of Embry-Riddle.

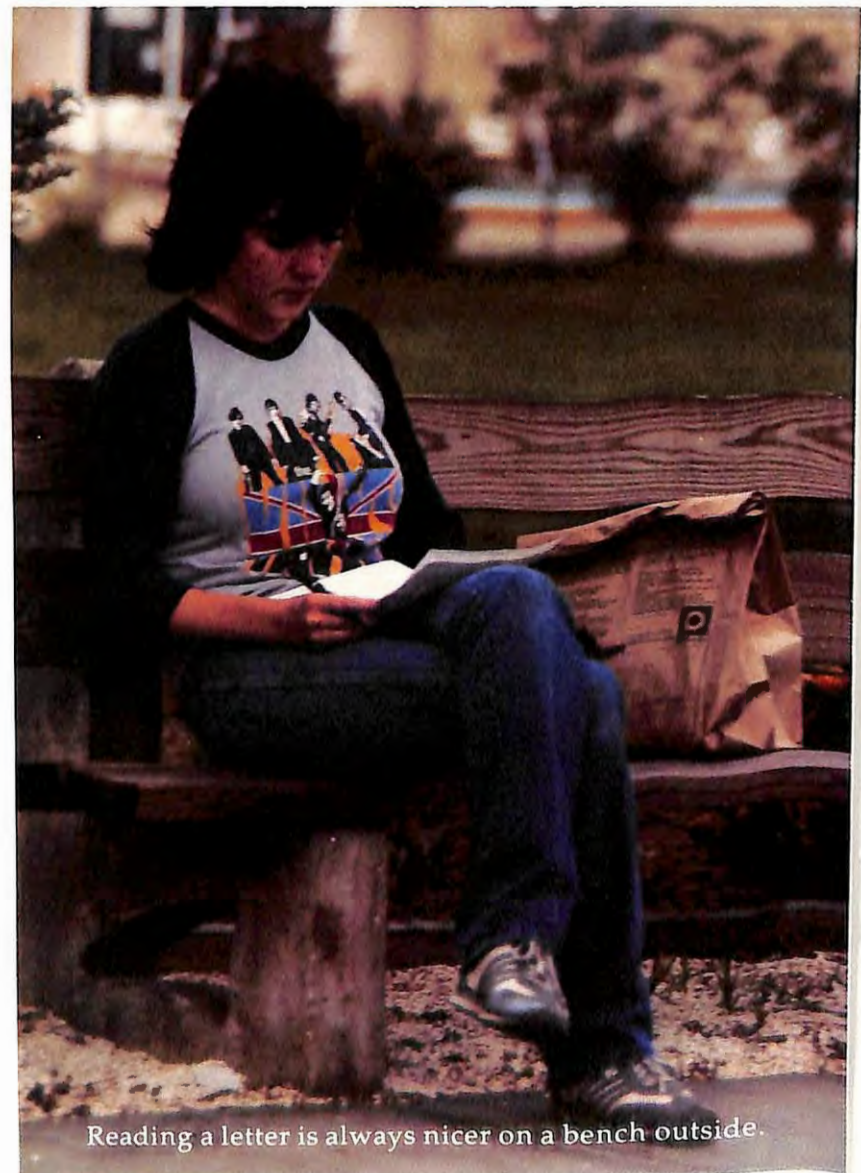

Able to meet his expenses, Riddle kept his struggling company together and worked toward expanding its services. It was in 1926 that Riddle first met T. Higbee Embry who shared in the excitement of flight. Convinced that aviation would be profitable if set up on a solid business base, Embry contributed some badly needed funding to the operation and went into partnership with Riddle. The Embry-Riddle Company was born May 19, 1926 at Lunken Airport in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Supported by Embry's business knowledge and Riddle's vision and enthusiasm, the firm would try to make a go of it, using four Waco biplanes. Service would include carrying passengers and freight, aerial photography, aerial advertising, and exhibition flying.

Despite Embry's strong financial backing, the company still faced a number of problems.

LIKE A PHOENIX FROM THE ASHES

Even the airfield was a shaky proposition. It was often under water from the rampages of the Ohio River, running directly along its western edge. And there was a constant shortage of everything from hangar space to spare parts. Even trained mechanics to repair the Wacos, and pilots to fly them safely, were in short supply. It was this particular need that later would play an important part in setting a new direction of growth for the Embry-Riddle Company.

In 1927, Embry-Riddle formed an air express line. As far as anyone knows, this was the first business venture of its kind in the United States. Air express packages and letters were flown daily between Cincinnati, Columbus, Dayton, Akron, and Cleveland. The service wasn't fast or totally reliable, but it managed to show a profit.

A year later things took a turn for the better when Embry-Riddle's bid for the Cincinnati to Chicago government mail contract was accepted.

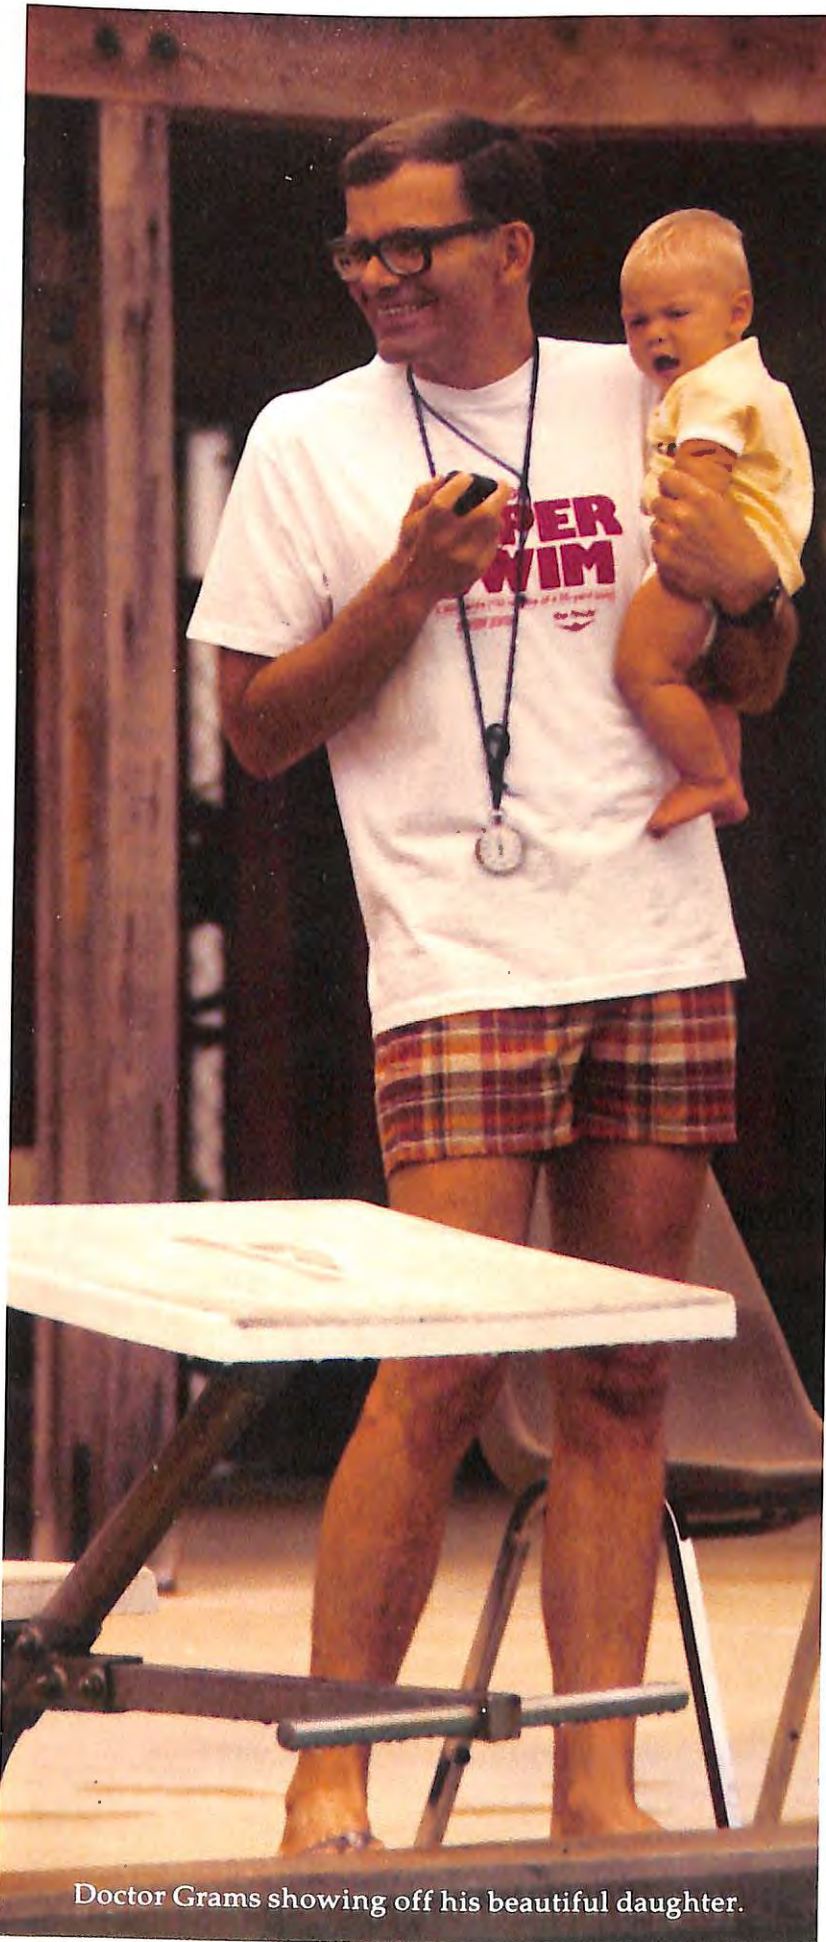

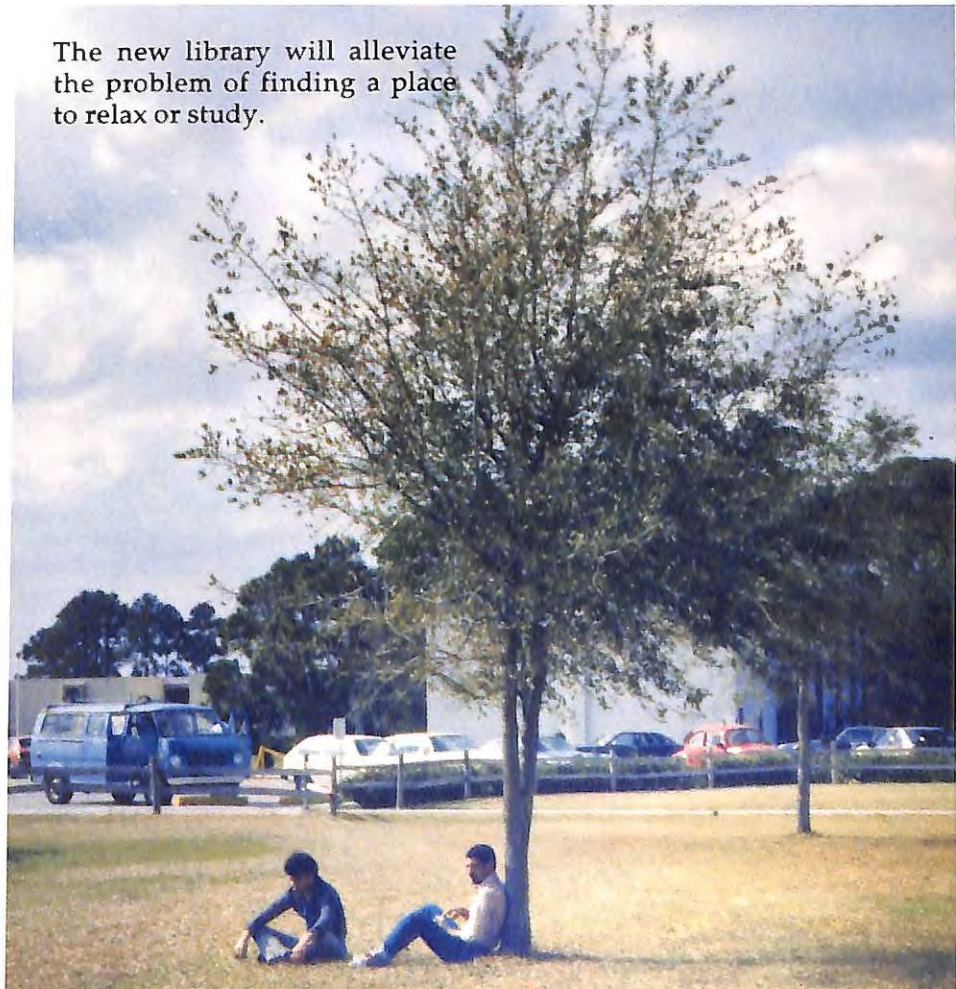

RISING BEAUTIFUL AND YOUNG

Air mail Route No. 24 was inaugurated December 17, 1927, by the Embry-Riddle Company between Cincinnati and Chicago, a distance of 270 miles. The flying equipment consisted of six Waco biplanes, and one Ryan Wright "Whirlwind" cabin monoplane. Two of the planes were strictly for mail, and three carried passengers as well as mail. One plane was used for instruction purposes.

The mail routes subsequently won by Embry-Riddle pioneered direct air service to cities including Dallas and Atlanta. Today these routes are part of the nation's airline system, and early graduates of the Embry-Riddle flight school have recorded careers as some of the country's first true airline transport pilots.

LIKE A BRAND NEW SONG

It was the emotion shown such as this that made the Missing Persons concert so good.

These pioneer aviators worked hard, but they had their fun. Mr. Embry and Mr. Riddle particularly enjoyed the Sunday afternoon air shows they sponsored. One of the first mass parachute jumps in history was a highlight of an Embry-Riddle air show on September 24, 1928, at Lunken Airport. Riddle went first, followed by Embry and a squad of former saxophone players he had lured away from the Erie orchestra.

The original Embry-Riddle company remained intact until late 1928, when it was sold to become a unit of what is now American Airlines. Although Embry chose to move to California, where he subsequently died in 1946, Riddle elected to join the new organization, and the Embry-Riddle partnership was dissolved. Riddle remained with his new employer as the firm acquired air services including Universal Aviation Corporation, Robertson Airlines, Colonial Airlines, Thompson Aeronautical Corporation, and other small operations. These would become the backbone of American Airlines, born in 1934.

Two years before the final consolidation, Riddle resigned and moved to Miami, Florida. Aviation education still occupied his mind and he was convinced that he had a better way to develop it. The Florida location would be the key to a new venture. The state's proximity to the rich resources of Central and South America would insure fast and profitable aviation development. The company's original name was retained, and Embry-Riddle's first Florida-based home was established along Miami's causeway.

THE FIRM WAS REORGANIZED IN 1940 . . .

The reorganization took place when Paul Riddle and John McKay became equal partners. McKay, one of the south's outstanding lawyers and an avid sportsman, had been intrigued with aviation since the first world war when he was a lieutenant in the balloon corps.

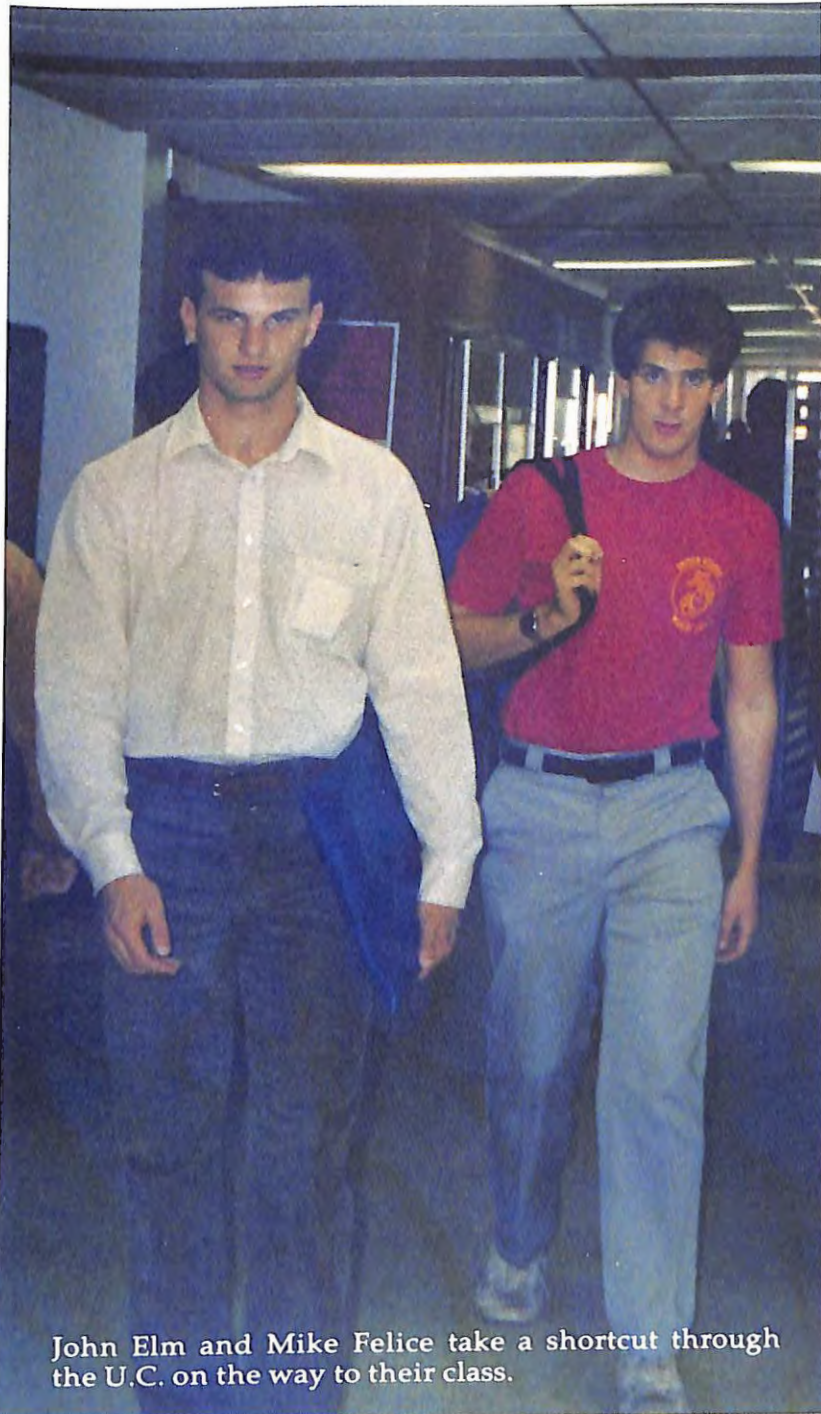

John Scribner and Holly Vath enjoy a beer before beginning the Avion's canoe trip.

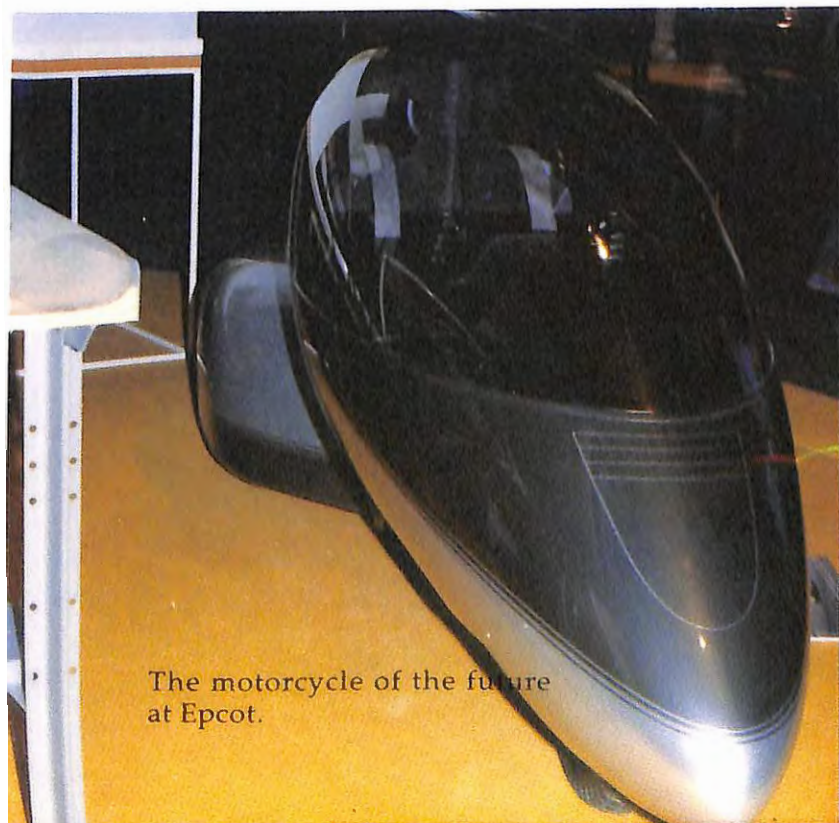

ALLIANCE MAKES HISTORY . . .

The alliance of these two men was destined to make history in a short time.

The threat of the war was building. German armed forces were surging across Europe and Japan's military might was growing rapidly. Riddle and McKay were among the second wave of civilian flight service operators called upon by General Hap Arnold in 1940. They accepted Arnold's challenge to assist in building an Army Air Force at great personal financial risk. McKay was one of the few contract flight school operators with extensive business experience.

THERE'S A NEW AGE DAWNING

Largely through McKay's efforts, flight schools were made eligible for defense plant status. This greatly relieved the operators' financial hardships. The men with the knowledge of flight training met their commitments to General Arnold to build the nation's airstrike capability in short order. Under the leadership of Riddle and McKay, with Captain Len D. Povey as general manager, Embry-Riddle rapidly became the World's largest aviation school. The company operated flight training centers at Florida's Carlstrom and Dorr airfields, Miami's Riddle McKay Aero College, and the Riddle-McKay Institute in Tennessee.

The use of trick photography creates an eerie picture of Paul with the city of Washington, D.C. behind him.

AN AGE UNTOUCHED

Carlstrom aviation cadets earned a spot for themselves in aviation history books by flying 650,000 hours with a single fatality. To keep pace with wartime demands for first rate aviators, the Embry-Riddle company opened additional Miami area training facilities. Chapman field joined the ranks, as did a seaplane base on the MacArthur Causeway, and special schools occupied 48 buildings in Coral Gables, as well as the vast Aviation Building in Miami.

THE 10th ANNUAL RIDDLE REGATTA

Cold, crisp weather welcomed hardy people — oarsmen and committee members early on that October morning. Signs, tables, trophies, food and inner tubes crunched into many forms, shapes and sizes filled the Beach Street park prior to the beginning of the 1982 Regatta. The flag dropped and the largest number of rafts ever launched for this event took off on icy waters of the Halifax. The Better Way, hot dogs, beer, coke, and trophies made the racers, weary from the run, relax and enjoy the rest of the day as the most financially successful Veterans Association charity Regatta ended for another year.

PUB AREA

The Pub Area in the University Center is a place where many diverse activities take place. Students can take a break between classes and enjoy a video or pool game, as well as enjoy a meal while catching up on their favorite soap opera on television.

Although a few students use the pub to enjoy a beer after classes, the majority of students utilize the pub during happy hour on Fridays when beers are three for a dollar.

Embry-Riddle may not have a Student Union Building but the University Center (especially the pub) is a good substitute.

Students spend countless hours and immense amounts of money on the many video games offered.

Pool is a favorite game of many Riddle students. Tournaments are held a few times each year.

THE AVION POOL PARTY

Windjammer brought the islands to the Tine Davis Swimming Pool as reggae sounds carried dancing and movement to an all time high this fall. To compliment the sounds, bikini clad damsels displayed the newest beach fashions sponsored by Sun Solutions. The models also organized some interesting pool games. An extremely interested mass of Riddle students apparently couldn't decide between purchasing a suit or asking the models for a date! The Avion Newspaper staff who funded and coordinated the event provided a cool and delightful afternoon break for a study-weary population of some 500 Riddle students.

NOVEMBER JAZZFEST

Spyra Gyra highlighted a brilliant concert of jazz that was successful in warming the souls of over a thousand people — on a cold day in November, 1982 — as the Entertainment Committee provided an afternoon of jazz. Clubs provided booths of food and drink.

Jazzfest took the place this past year of Oktoberfest to allow Spyra Gyra, a nationally known contemporary jazz group, to perform for the crowd they deserve.

HAPPY HOURS:

After the grind of those Friday tests, what better way to start the weekend off than to relax, have a beer with friends, and listen to a live band or the juke box. Hundreds of E-RAU students flock to the Pub for those Friday happy hours and just to let off steam. The students relax to the sounds of such bands as "Raze," "The Above," and "The Better Way." Happy hour really makes the rest of the week quite bearable.

HALLOWEEN

Punkers, goblins, witches and some semi-normal participants were rocked and vibrated by the pulsating new-wave sounds of "The Above" who entertained the night away amid writhing, jumping bodies and mellow brew to sustain the active attendees. Prizes were awarded for best costumes in different categories. The winner of the most original female costume was dressed in a tailored feline outfit. "Gumby" won best costume in the MALE category. The group prize went to the Army ROTC who dressed as a 15 foot helicopter.

NIGHT LIFE IN DAYTONA

Daytona Beach not only is famous for its beach but also for its night life.

With hundreds of bars, discos and nightclubs to choose from, Riddle students are seldom bored. To name a few, there is: the Plantation Club where you can dance your feet off to great disco music all night, 600 North where you can enjoy the beauty of the latest in video rock, the Beachcomber where you get the best of both worlds, there is a D.J. to play all your favorites and there is a live band that performs every night, P.J.'s where you can enjoy the best rock in town, THE OYSTER PUB where you can hang out, drink beer, eat popcorn and oysters, watch their large screen T.V., etc., THE OCEAN DECK where you can dance and wind your waist to the great reggae sounds of Windjammer, D.B. MISSING PERSONS

After a delay of a few months, E-RAU finally showcased the Rock sounds of Missing Persons to a University Center capacity crowd. The New Wave sound of this nationally known band, whose use of the synthesizer truly set them apart, brought a good crowd out. They entertained throughout the evening with good sounds and a dynamic stage presence to enthrall the audience and make new fans. Promoted and funded by the Entertainment Committee, this concert highlighted the beginning of 1983.

VIXEN

Vixen has proven that they are in a class all by themselves. The lovely and talented female Rock band provided new and original music to a pleased audience in the University Center January 29, 1983. Jan Kuehnemund, who was outstanding on lead guitar, along with singer Gayle Erickson's ability to interact well with the crowd, both contributed to an excellent concert. Though the concert got off to a slow start with a band called The Spinouts, Vixen's crowd pleasing ways provided an exciting evening of Rock.

TALENT NIGHT

It is not too often that students get a chance to show off their talent and sometimes extraordinary abilities. Every so often the students at E-RAU get to do just that and take part in Talent Night. The only requirement imposed on the student is that they must have the courage to get up in front of a live audience. Students in the past have played instruments, sang, and even a few daring students tried their hand at telling jokes and doing comedy skits. Almost all the people that took part in talent night had a good time, and the people that watched it certainly did.

Carl Wilson pleased the audience with a song.

Phil Black and friend fool around before their number.

Although not many songs were sung this student sang some of the better ones.

Talent was demonstrated in many forms, this student showed his expertise on the piano.

SPEECH NIGHT SPRING 83

The Humanities/Social Sciences Department, featuring the members of the Spring 1983 speech classes, held their trimesterly exposition of public speakers on March 29th, 1983. These students, speaking on a wide variety of topics, were selected from their Communications III classes. Because of the large number of students in these classes, a select group of nine were chosen by a panel of Humanities instructors.

Held in the University Center for the second trimester in a row, Speech Night was hosted by Master of Ceremonies, Peter Lapiana. Well dressed and quickwitted, Peter tersely introduced each orator.

HYPNOTIST

Hypnotizing, magnetizing, mesmerizing, energizing, fascinating ... the original Tom DeLuca. On March 3rd at 8:30 p.m. over 500 eager, enthusiastic E-RAU students watched as their fellow students were chosen to participate in hypnotic activities.

Students were given a variety of action to do while under hypnotic trances and the audience loved the results. One activity was to believe that you (the hypnotized student) were high and were hungry. Result — munch out! Another was to play Strongman and bend imaginary steel bars.

DeLuca attempts an ESP experiment during his show.

After the hypnotized students are told they are "hungry", the suggestion is made to "munch out".

With all their strength, hypnotized students try bending an imaginary steel bar set high above their heads.

A NIGHT OF COMEDY

COMEDY NIGHT was a laugh. The packed energetic audience responded enthusiastically to the antics of a stand-up comic A. Whitney Brown and Tim Settimi, a comic mime and roller skater extraordinaire. A standing ovation surprised the performers and closed a delightful evening of entertainment and fun. According to Bernie Castell, Entertainment Committee Chairman, "Tim was really impressed." After all the work and energy spent to study here, it was great to stop and "smell the roses" with an evening of comedy.

During an energy-filled skating exhibition, Tim shows off for all.

S.G.A. VICTORY PARTY

E-RAU's first VICTORY PARTY celebrating the winners of the Student Government Association race for 1983 was held on March 19, 1983. The party was a success as over 300 students attended the celebration.

All elected candidates were honored for their victories at the election polls. The following students were elected to the indicated positions:

Chuck McKenney	President
Tom McGimpsey	Vice-President
Mel Green	Chief Justice
Seth Tzizik	Representative
Steve Helms	Representative
Bob Everitt	Representative
Scott Johnson	Representative

Thanks to a lot of student volunteers and Ben Mills, Election Chairman, everyone who attended enjoyed themselves. The evening started with refreshments followed by the dynamic entertainment of the rock band "Gypsy Child". The Victory Celebration Party was viewed by many as an event which should be carried on as a tradition during every SGA Election.

Gypsy Child played the top hits for the crowd who came for the celebration.

THE FIRST ANNUAL TOGA PARTY

February 26, 1983 marked the beginning of what we hope will be a lasting affair — it was The First Annual Toga Party sponsored by the Avion Newspaper. All who attended would agree that the evening was a success and set the precedence for future affairs.

Most noteworthy of the evening's entertainment was the band Common Sense. Comprised of four Embry-Riddle students and one female vocalist; this hard-driving group entertained a crowd of at least eighty-five hearty party goers.

Best Couple in a Toga went to Percy Neall, an engineering student and his girlfriend. Best Toga was a toss up between a good looking gal in leopard garb and Max Corneau in a tapestry outfit. The Most Unconventional Toga went to Bill Schrock who showed up in a monk outfit from last Halloween.

Debbie from the Career Center was a special guest.

Could this be the perfect couple?

Jocelyn Coor, beautiful and bashful.

For Leigh Prentice this is a well deserved break from her S.G.A. Vice President job.

Carol Faith trying her hand at cocktail waitressing.

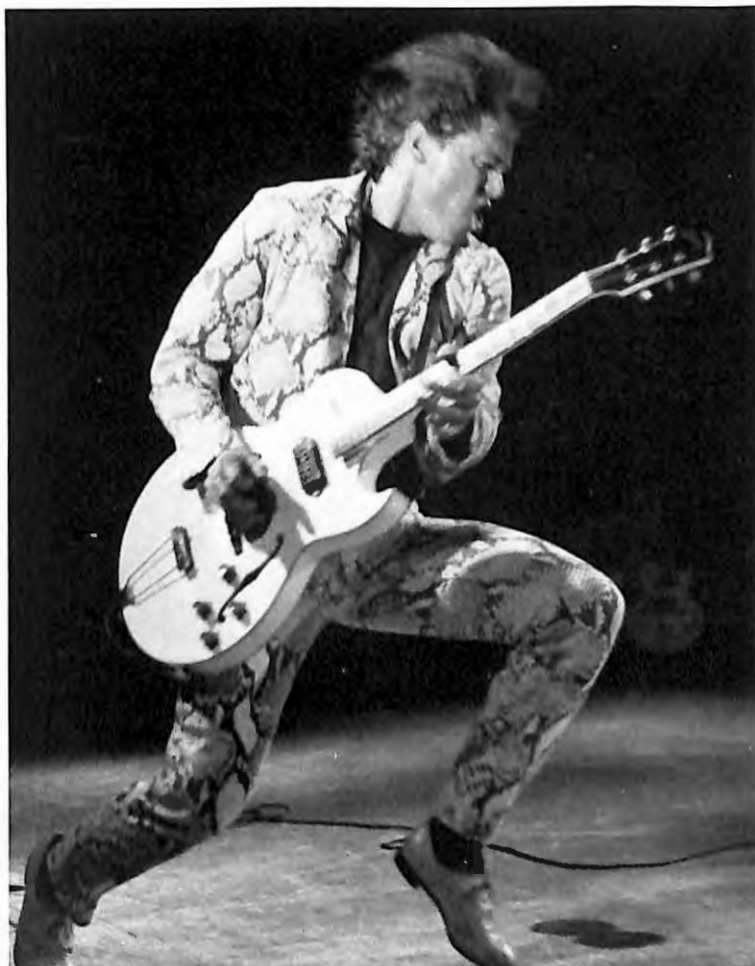

GEORGE THOROGOOD

Spring Fling sparkled a little brighter this year when George Thorogood and The Destroyers closed their 1983 tour 'Around the World in 80 Days' in Daytona. Opening for Thorogood, The Nighthawks worked an eager audience into a healthy sweat with hustling boogie and bruising blues. Riding the waves of clapping hands, stomping feet and spirited shouts, Thorogood and his Destroyers swept onstage. The band power-housed through their best hits while George leapt across the stage; his lead guitar blazing above the melodies. Playing extended versions of their songs, George Thorogood and The Destroyers seemed determined to thrill each and every fan and to blister the evening through.

Many students enjoyed the concert.

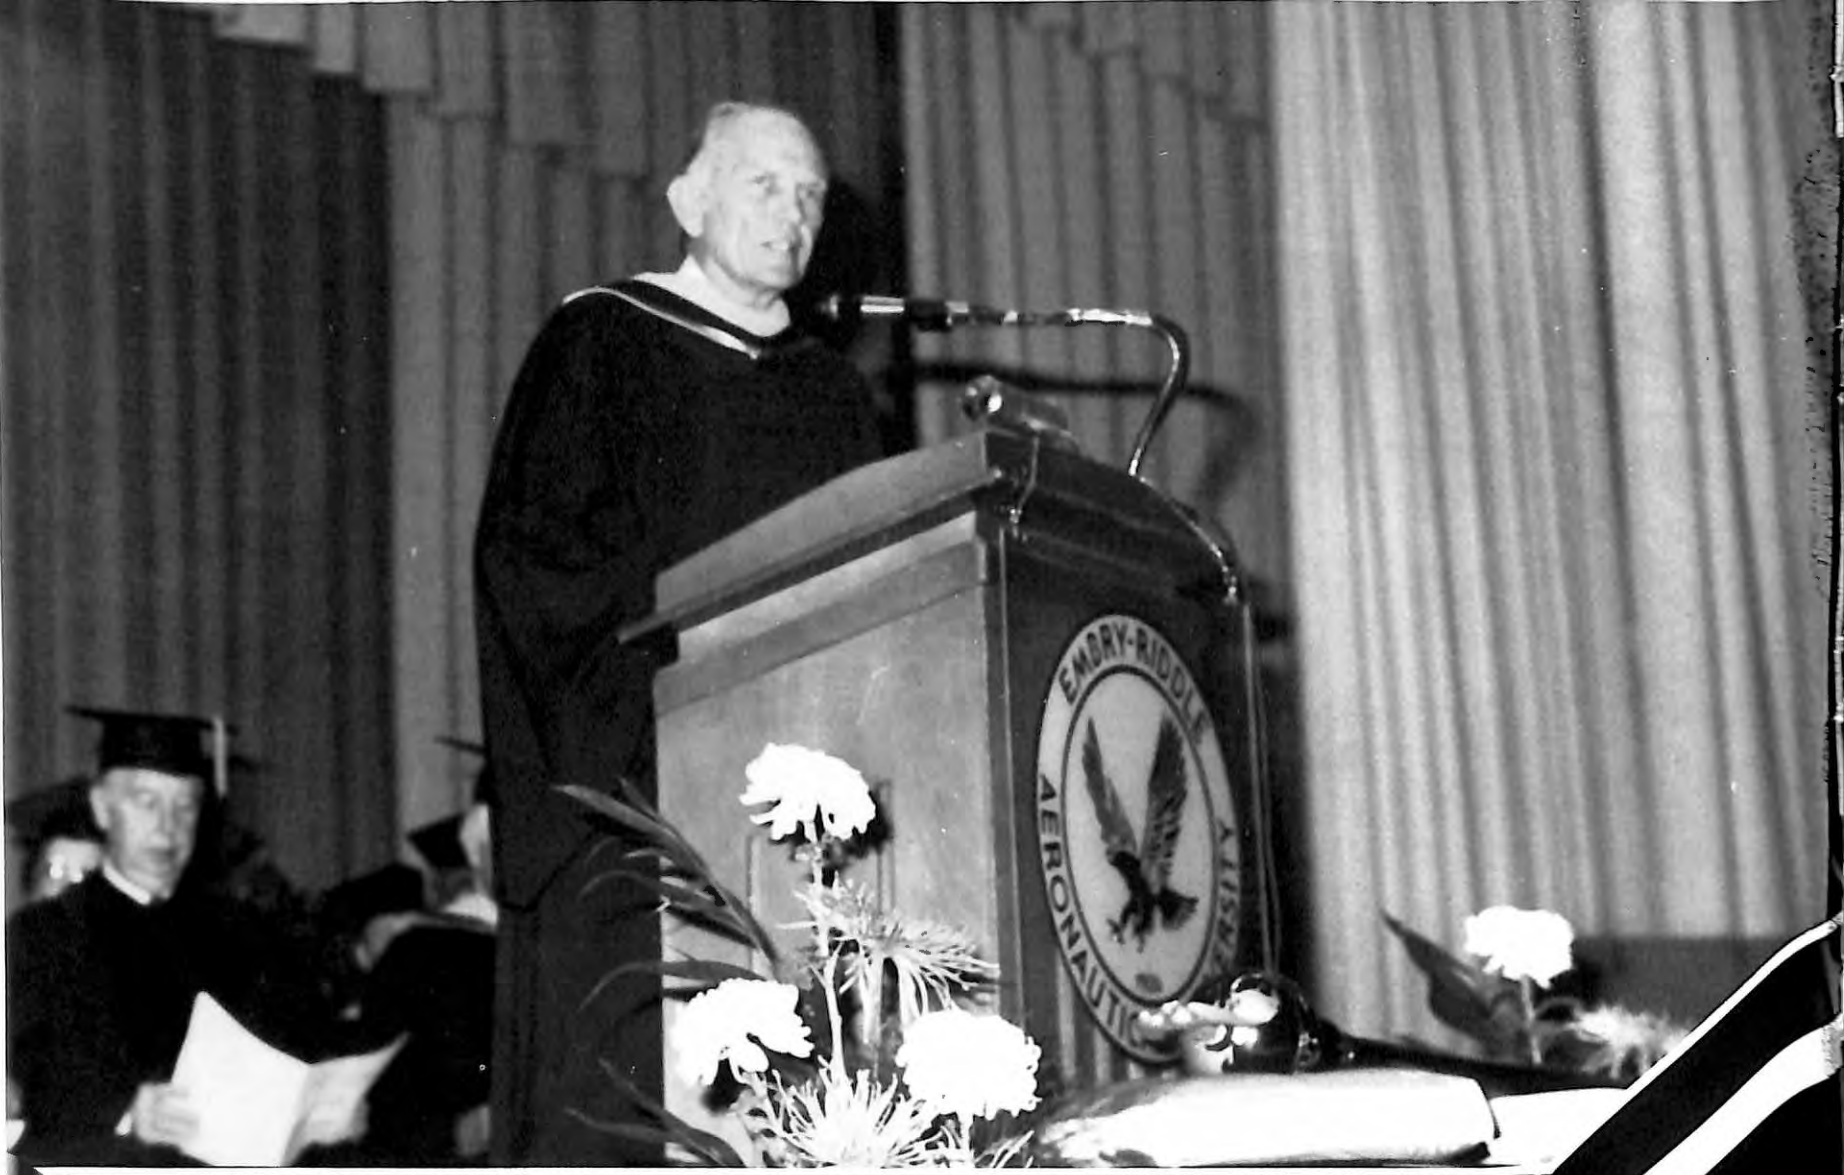

George Thorogood put on an excellent performance for the Riddle students.

Exhausted but willing to continue.

The crowd cheered the band on as they played many favorites.

SENIOR ACCOMPLISHMENTS

There is a legend in Greek Mythology of a magnificent bird which is born from fire and ashes. Ancient Greeks named the bird PHOENIX. It is a strange conception: strength and life rising out of destruction. This legend is thought to relate to the sun as it dies in flames at sunset and rises in the fiery dawn.

EDITORIAL STAFF

Upper Level: Holly Vath, Joe Elm. Lower Level: Max Corneau, Woody Kennedy, Jim Crocker, Bill Schrock and Louis Kady.

Campus Events, student opinions, and local news are just some of the topics covered by the AVION. We keep the students informed on current news and sports. We also antagonize when the need arises; and praise when an achievement is made.

The AVION is put together by students. We write the stories, take the pictures and layout the paper. Students volunteer their time to produce the AVION. The energy and enthusiasm displayed by all staff members make the AVION an "Award-winning newspaper."

THE S.G.A.

The Student Government Association provides students with a representative voice on University committees, on the Board of Trustees, and is the hub of financial considerations in relation to Entertainment Committee activities, the expense of the Avion Newspaper, the publication costs of the Phoenix Yearbook and services supplied by the SAC (Student Administrative Council) for you — the students at E-RAU, Daytona.

Services to all students include: free notary services, free coffee, copier services at $.05 per copy, typewriter and calculator rentals, class ring information and sales, and most of all the channeling of student views and problems to the Administration concerning University policies.

THE SKY DIVING CLUB

THE MANAGEMENT CLUB

It's easy to give the organization purpose for The Management Club: to promote interest in the profession of management, and to establish both social and business relationships with people in the aviation industry, but it is more effective to list some of the representative companies whose representatives have spoken at Management Club Dinner meetings and let students know of some of their activities: Speakers from — Butler Aviation, Gulfstream American Corp., TWA, Federal Express, Sunair, Piedmont Airlines and Eastern have given talks at dinner meetings. The club has toured Atlanta Airport, helped support Halifax Historical Society and have had fun in the process.

OFFICERS: Todd Dawkins — President, Mark Ryan — Vice-President, Tom Tomczyk — Secretary, Mike Wadner — Treasurer.

STUDENT COURT

A branch of the Student Government Association, Student Court hears cases involving traffic violations, interpretation of the SGA Constitution, and personal disputes between two or more students. The Court members include a Chief Justice, elected from the student body, and five justices selected from the student applications.

BROTHERS OF THE WIND

Brothers of the Wind seek to promote aviation awareness in the minority community both locally and nationally. The club has been very professionally motivated and during one of their special programs several VIPs were present. Pictures at right include two of those VIPs. Center front: J. Paul Riddle, co-founder of this school and second from right, front row is Dr. James O. Plinton, Jr., Board of Trustees member here, former Vice President for Eastern Airlines and presently Executive Director, Metropolitan Fellowship of Churches, Coral Gables, Fla.

THE SURF CLUB

Looking for the perfect wave, these club members have successfully won individual awards in surfing in this region within the last year. The club is open to all interested in the joy of surfing.

CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP CLUB

The Christian Fellowship Club strives to represent the name of Jesus Christ on campus while providing an arena of spiritual growth and outreach for the E-RAU Christian community.

OFFICERS: Emerol Lewis — President, Arthur Schmidt — Vice-President, Derrick Baxter — Secretary, Pat Phillips — Treasurer, Joe Cappurccini — Outreach, Axel Reeves — Asst. Outreach.

THE COOPERATIVE EDUCATION STUDENT ADVISORY COUNCIL

The Co-op Student Advisory was established for the continuation of and recruitment for the Co-op Program. It provides a feedback loop for both graduates and students on assignment.

ARNOLD AIR SOCIETY

The Gill Robb Wilson Squadron of the Arnold Air Society works toward the improvement of more effective Air Force officers through community, school and social interaction. Members must have a 2.5 CGPS, 3.0 GPA in ROTC, 12 credit-hrs — AFROTC Cadet and be in good standing as defined in the AAS By-laws. AAS has a very active schedule which includes such events as: area conclave, beach parties, and assisting with the Special Olympics.

OMICRON DELTA KAPPA

THE NATIONAL LEADERSHIP HONOR SOCIETY

Omicron Delta Kappa's purpose is to recognize those who have attained a high standard of efficiency in collegiate activities and to inspire others to strive for conspicuous attainments along similar lines. ODK is a national honor leadership society and brings together the most representative students in all phases of collegiate life and thus creates an organization which will help to mold the sentiment of the institution on questions of local and intercollegiate interest. ODK also brings together members of the faculty, and student body of the institution on a basis of mutual interest and understanding.

OFFICERS: Jeffrey Williams — President, Edward Asikele — Vice President, Sharon DiGiovanni — Secretary, Marla Galloway — Treasurer, Faculty Secretary — Dr. Carl H. Lippold.

ENTERTAIN- MENT COMMITTEE

CHAIRMAN: BERNIE

PROFESSOR KENNETH L. DEISSLER

Kenneth L. Deissler, Associate Professor in Humanities and Social Science at Embry-Riddle Aeronautical University, Daytona Campus, lives in our thoughts.

"He was very caring and concerned about students at school." — Ann Heintz, Senior, Aviation Management.

"He was a very nice person and I enjoyed his class immensely." — Paul Levy, Senior, Aeronautical Studies.

"He was my favorite — if anybody made you think back and smile about school, he did." — Janice Ford, Junior, Aeronautical Science.

"He was a good man, a caring man. He is missed. He had a full, rich life. He was one of the lucky ones." — Mr. Roger Campbell, Acting Humanities Department Chairman and 15-year friend to Mr. Deissler.

"At the end of the course he said that it was perfectly plain that we were always going to be his students. I still feel that way." — Alex Franco, Senior, Aeronautical Engineering.

Mr. Kenneth L. Deissler passed away on April 27th, 1983.

CHARLES BOOTH

Aviation and Business Law Instructor, Daytona Beach Campus. Died: Summer, 1983

Charles Booth, a prominent local attorney in Daytona and an instructor at Embry-Riddle for several years, passed away early this summer.

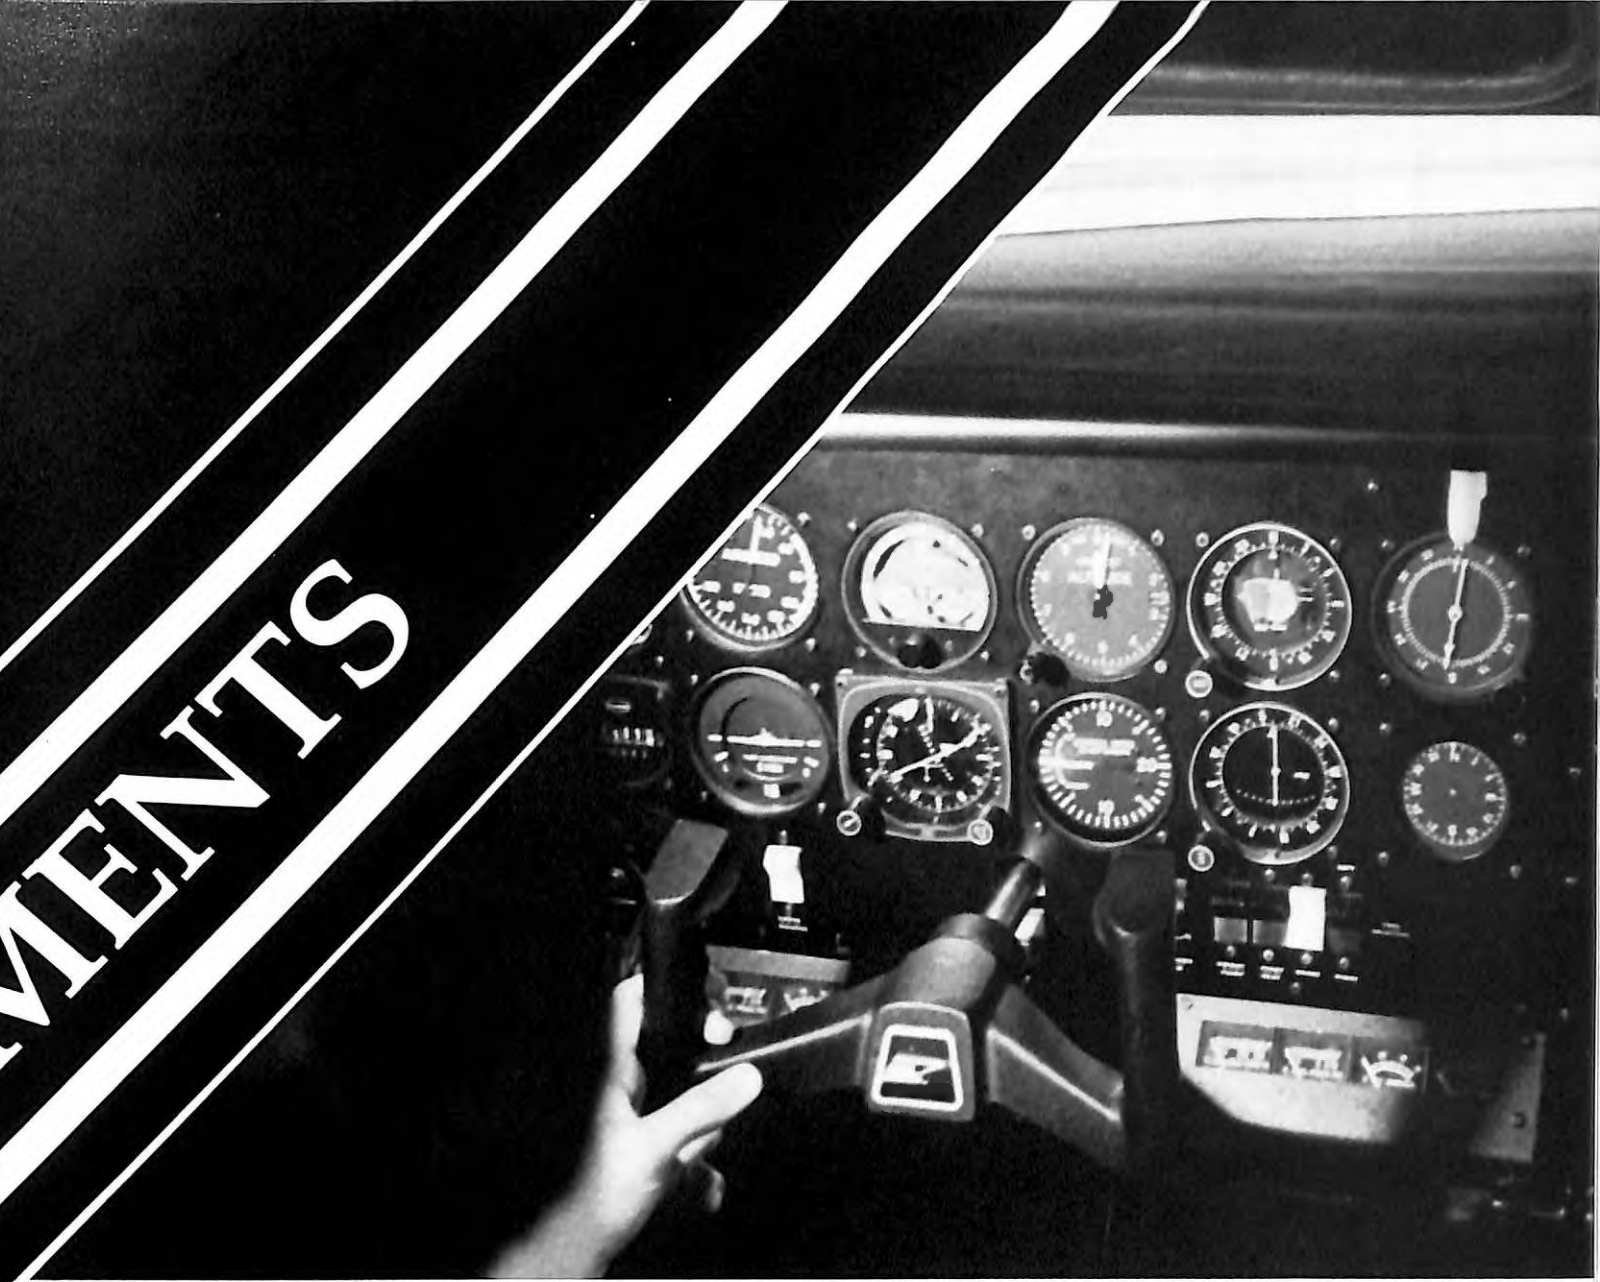

For many of the university's staff Charles Booth was the Law. He helped the Professional Programs office out each year for their aviation law seminars, and according to many he was an excellent and knowledgeable teacher at the Daytona Campus.

ALUMNI

The Embry-Riddle Aeronautical University Alumni Relations Office takes this opportunity to welcome you as our newest Alumni! You have worked long and hard to earn your Degree and now the Alumni Relations Office is here to ensure your continued contact with your University.

The Alumni Relations Office publishes a quarterly newsletter known as the Eagles Nest which you will soon be receiving regularly. The Eagles Nest is printed for you, and is designed to give you a forum to voice your opinion, raise questions, or just let us know what you're up to!

We are also involved in many service projects such as discount car rentals, Alumni travel plans, Alumni insurance programs, and Alumni Career Search to name a few.

Perhaps you would like to be involved in referring students to your alma mater. If so, you are invited to join the Alumni Leadership Program which allows Alumni to refer qualified students to Embry-Riddle.

Of course we are also involved with fund raising events throughout the year. The next step you take in your aviation career is one we need to take together! Keep us informed of your address changes!

Congratulations and best wishes for a successful future!

You fly for the world's largest air carrier— GENERAL AVIATION

GENERAL AVIATION IS...

...more than 630,000 pilots...flying more than 213,000 aircraft over 36.9 million hours a year...carrying more than 120 million passengers over 5 billion miles a year...to patrol pipelines, ferry accident victims, spray crops, transport food and supplies, fight forest fires, deliver mail, conduct training, gather news...and have fun!

AOPA fights hard to keep general aviation—and all aviation—safe and healthy. You're a part of it; become a part of AOPA, too.

THERE'S A NEW AGE DAWNING

The Volusia Mall utilizes much modern architecture.

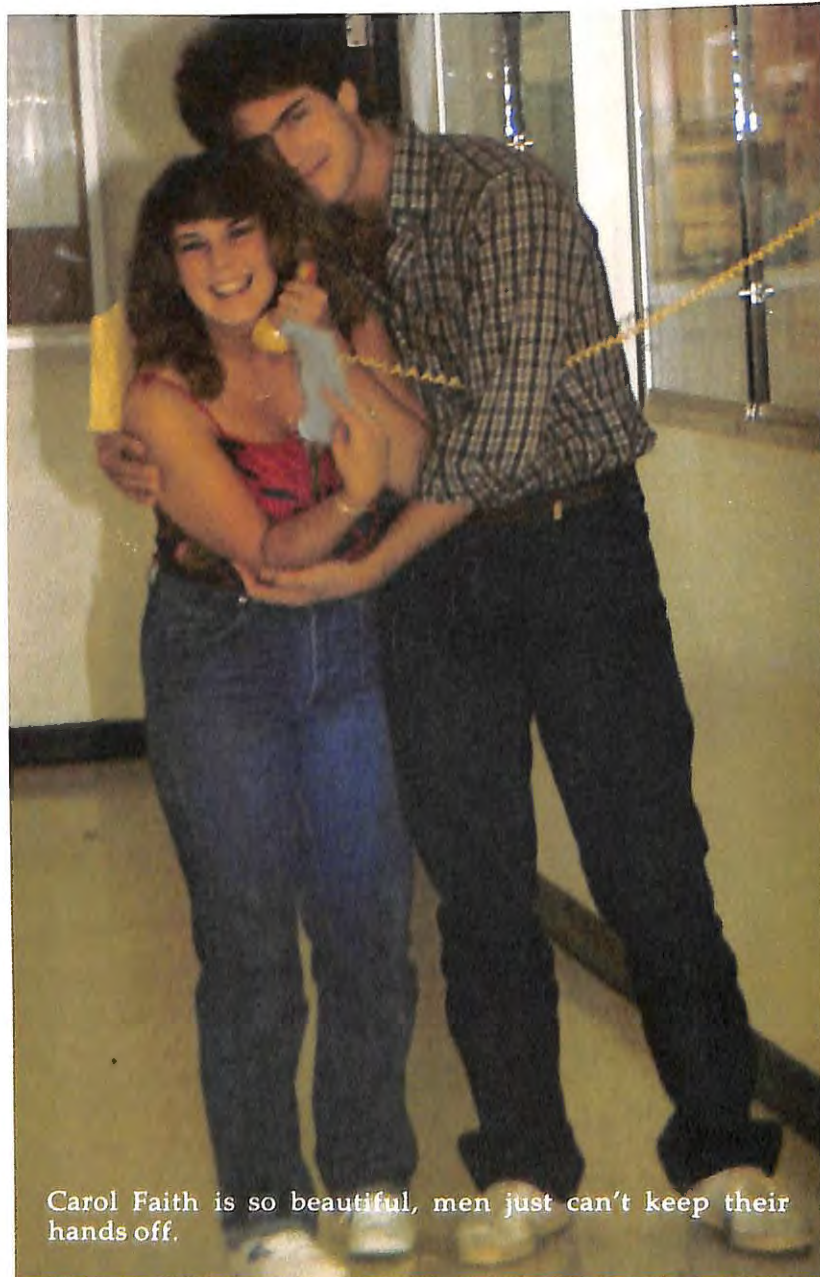

The U.C. water tower presents a spectacular shot.

The U.C. lobby, always a busy place.

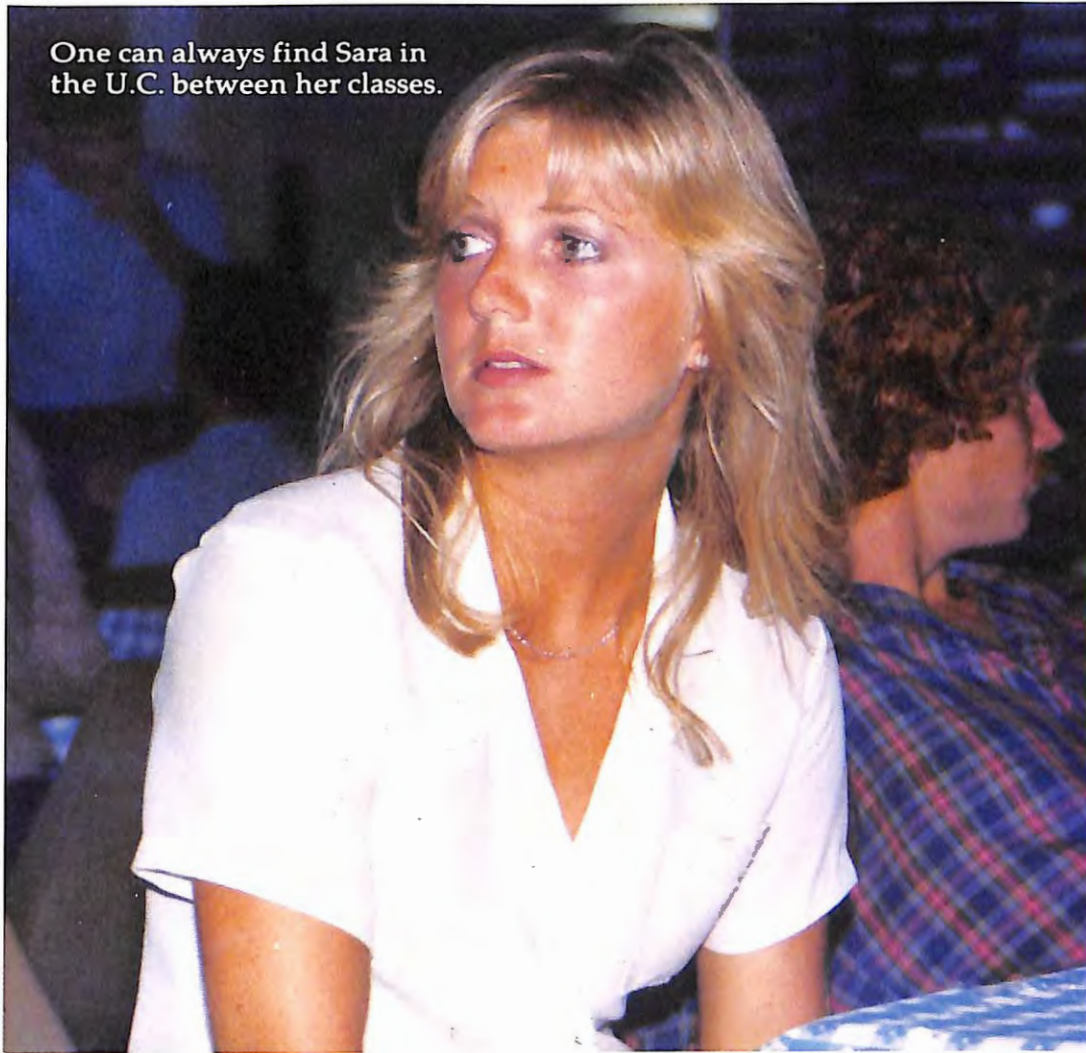

Embry-Riddle also expanded into South America. An Embry-Riddle school was opened in Sao Paulo, Brazil to train aviation technicians for the Brazilian government.

While the school was extending its training facilities overseas, allied nations were sending thousands of fledgling airmen to Miami to become pilots, mechanics and aviation technicians of all kinds.

Carol Faith is so beautiful, men just can't keep their hands off.

One can always find Sara in the U.C. between her classes.

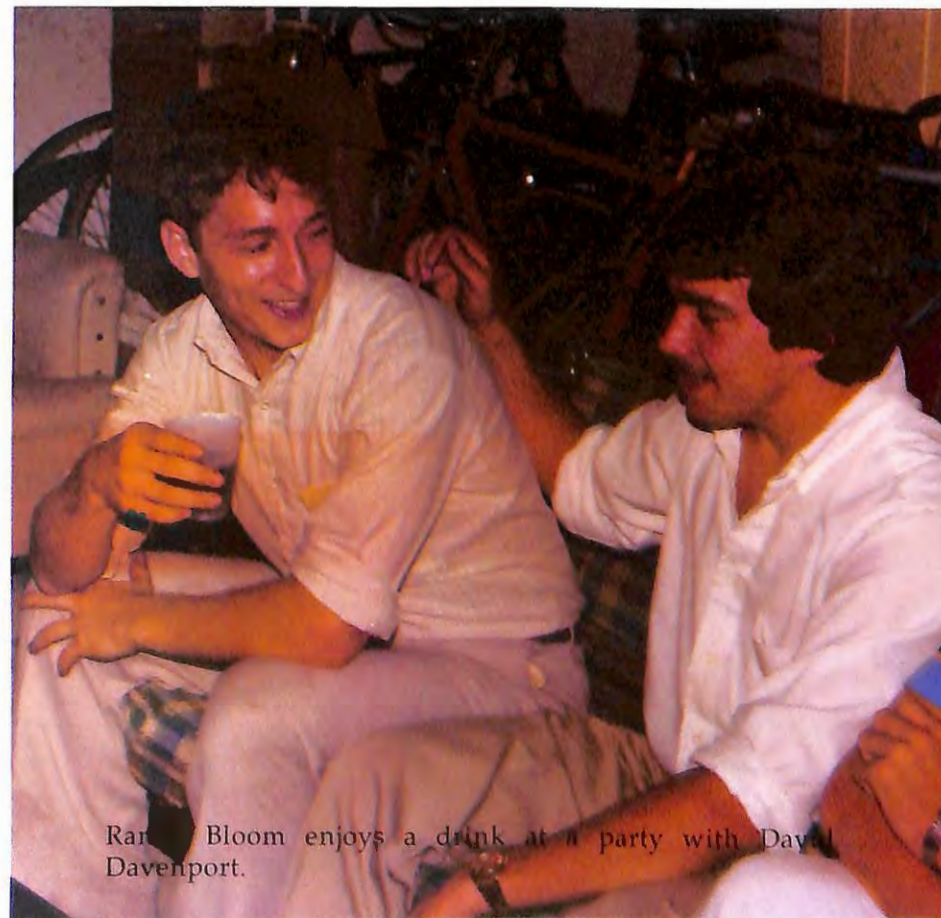

ONE THAT'S REVITALIZED AND FRESH

Almost overnight, Embry-Riddle's classrooms, shops, hangars and flight lines swelled to capacity — and beyond — as young volunteers from all over Western Europe poured in. According to the best estimates, somewhere near 50,000 aviation candidates were trained by Embry-Riddle during the war years. Among these were large numbers of British Royal Air Force cadets, as well as their counterparts from France and other Allied countries. In fact, the sharply tapered caps and inverted stripes of the R.A.F. quickly became as familiar a sight on campus as the tan uniforms of U.S. Army Air Corps student pilots and maintenance technicians.

LIKE THE SUNRISE IN THE MORNING

Women played an important wartime role at Embry-Riddle, too. But instead of becoming "Rosie the Riveter" on an industrial assembly line, these women traded their long dresses for flight suits and goggles, and took their place as flight instructors and aircraft ferry pilots. Their many contributions to the school's success were recognized in the June 15, 1945 edition of Fly paper, the

CLEANSING THE OLD DAY CREATING THE NEW

Embry-Riddle newsletter, which included a photo of the eight women then enrolled in the school's various courses.

LIKE A LEAF AT DAYBREAK

In 1944, McKay purchased Riddle's interest in the Embry-Riddle Company. With the end of the war at hand, he began new development to extend Embry-Riddle's flight and maintenance instruction to the civilian market. Embry-Riddle's curriculum was expanded, and the one-time flight school became the Embry-Riddle International School of Aviation, with the headquarters in the Aviation building on Miami's Northwest 27th Avenue. McKay assumed the presidency of the expanded operation, and his wife, Isabel, worked as his chief assistant.

When John McKay died in 1951, Mrs. McKay took over his duties. Their sons, Hobert, Robert, and John Junior, all Embry-Riddle trained pilots were named directors and officers of the school and worked closely with their mother to develop new Embry-Riddle programs and to increase student enrollment.

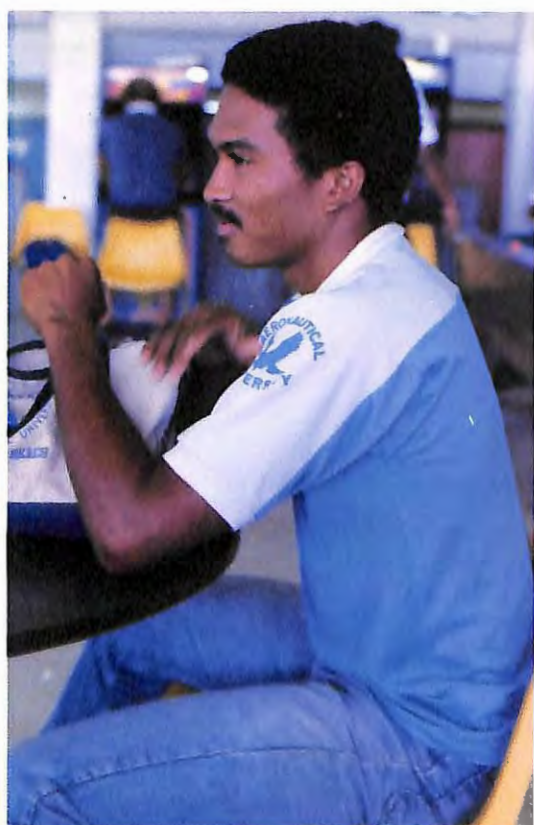

The new parking lot will accommodate

E-RAU's main training aircraft — the C-172 — sometimes referred to by some as the Bug-smasher.

WEIGHTED DOWN WITH DEW

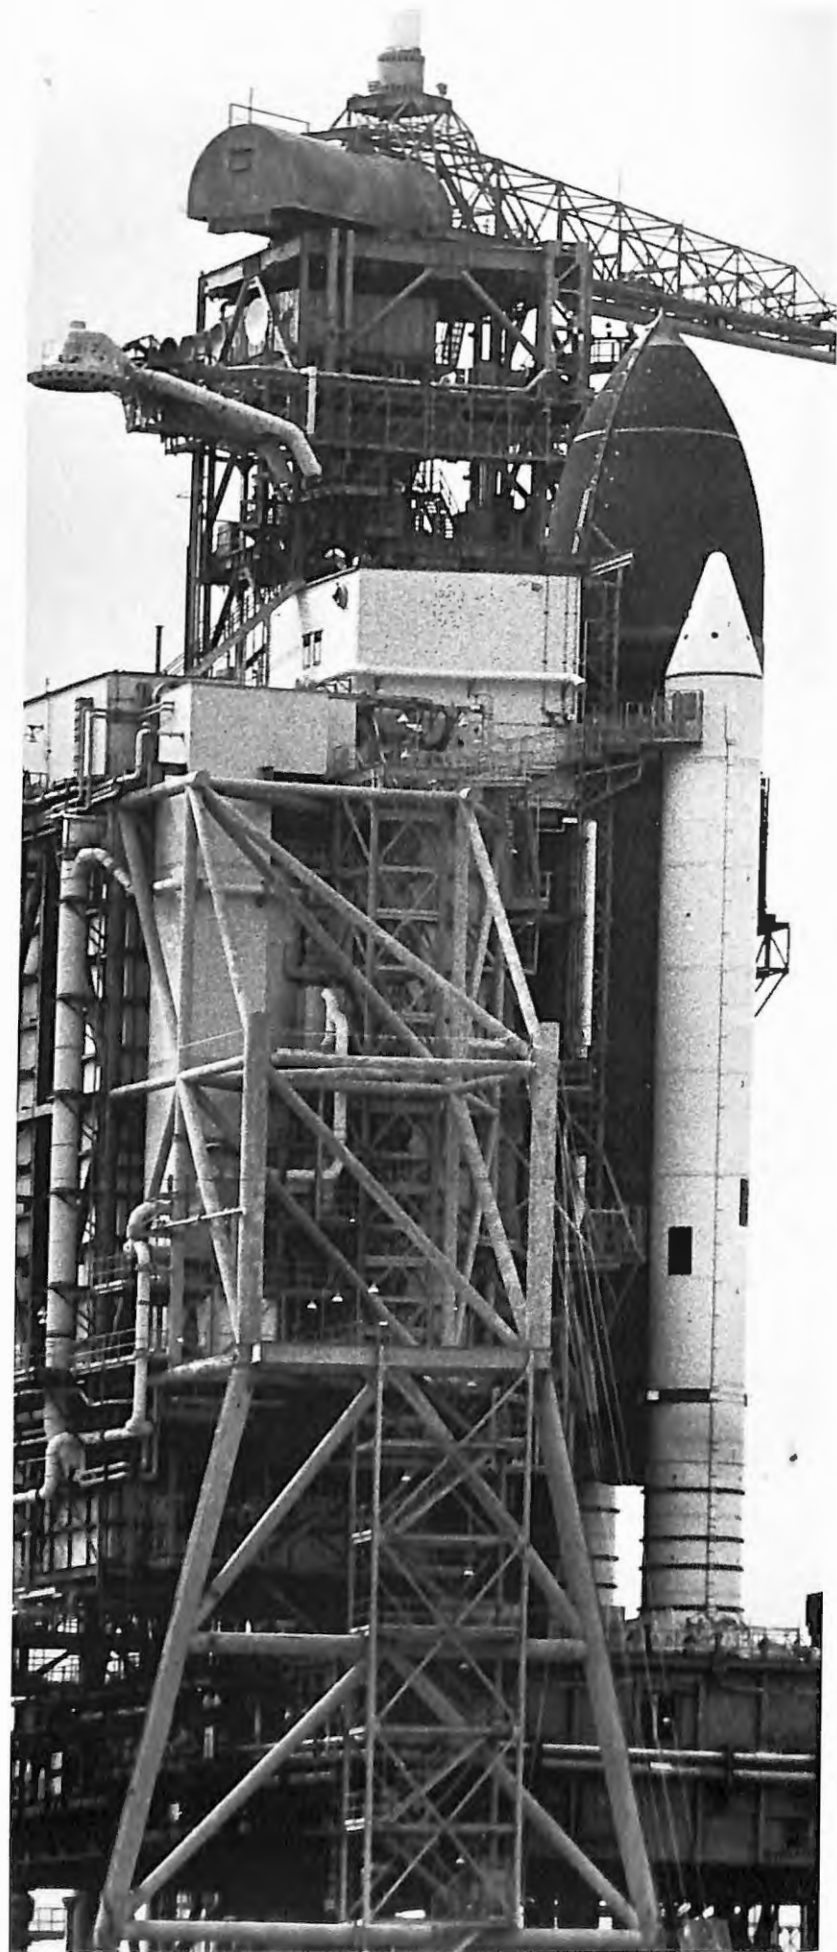

In keeping with Embry-Riddle's emergence as a center for aviation academic instruction, the organization discontinued use of the title of International School of Aviation in favor of a new designation, Embry-Riddle Aeronautical Institute, and at that time reorganized as a non-profit institution. In 1963 the Institute hired Jack Hunt as an aviation consultant as its business advisor. After carefully surveying the organization's facilities and estimating its potentials, he began laying plans for further expansion and development. Part of that included finding a new location, one offering room for growth.

Jerry Ogle tries to make everyone believe that he studies in the U.C., however, we all know that he's only there to watch the girls.

YES THERE'S A NEW WORLD COMING

Trimming an initial list of more than 20 Florida locations, President Hunt settled on Daytona Beach as the first choice. Official announcement of the impending move to the 'world's most famous beach' was made on April 22, 1964. One year and 2 days later, a convoy of 30 trucks rolled into the Daytona Beach airport. On board was everything the Institute owned, from student desks to engine displays. 239 students, a staff of about 75, and a collection of rented buildings at the regional airport were what Embry-Riddle consisted of when it began its first classes here that year.

ONE WHERE DREAMS CAN FLOW

Shortly after the re-location, Hunt, now the Institute's elected President, began negotiations to secure property on the airport for construction of a permanent facility. Through his efforts, Embry-Riddle acquired the 86 acre tract which today is the main campus, bordered on the East by Clyde Morris Boulevard and on the West by the flightline. But a piece of land without buildings was of little use, so Hunt set out to gather support for construction of modern classrooms, labs and dormitory, and other immediately needed facilities.

If anyone doubted that Embry-Riddle could continue to prove itself successful, those doubts vanished in the summer of 1968, even before the Institute had graduated its first four year degree students. Embry-Riddle officials announced a current enrollment of 800, and predicted that figure would reach 1,400 by the fall term. Equally important, a master plan had been created to guide the Institute's continued expansion. Beginning with construction of a student dormitory and an academic center, Embry-Riddle was growing once again.

YES THERE'S A NEW WORLD COMING

By 1970, the Institute had developed into a full university, and the Board of Trustees voted to change its name to the one we know today. The Gill Robb Wilson Aeronautical Science Center rose to the University's west side, followed by the University Center in 1975, and the new Aviation Maintenance Technology Center a year later.

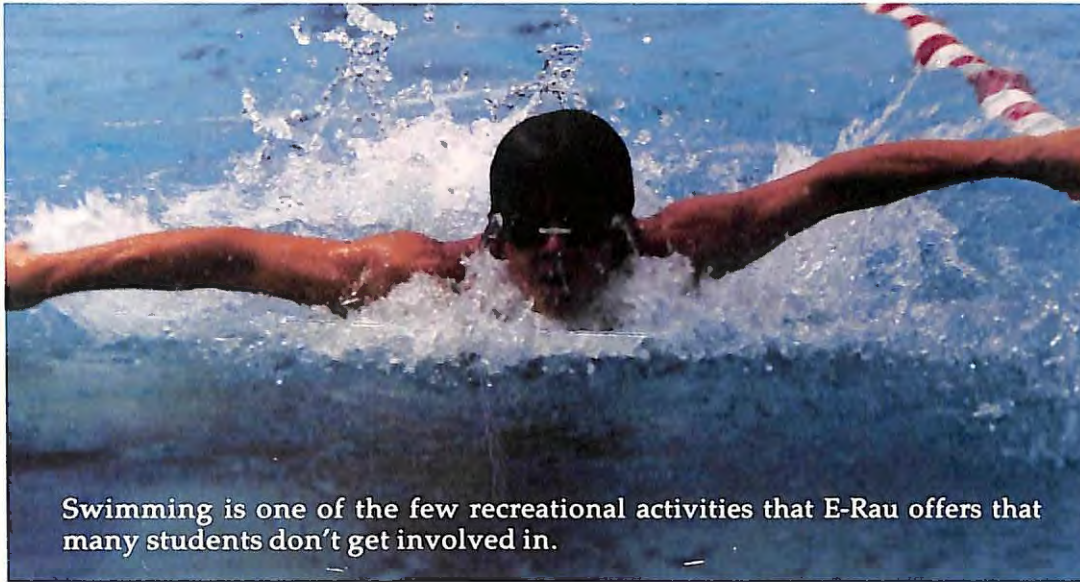

Diane Teti patiently waits to register.

A CHANCE TO CHANGE A CHANCE TO GROW

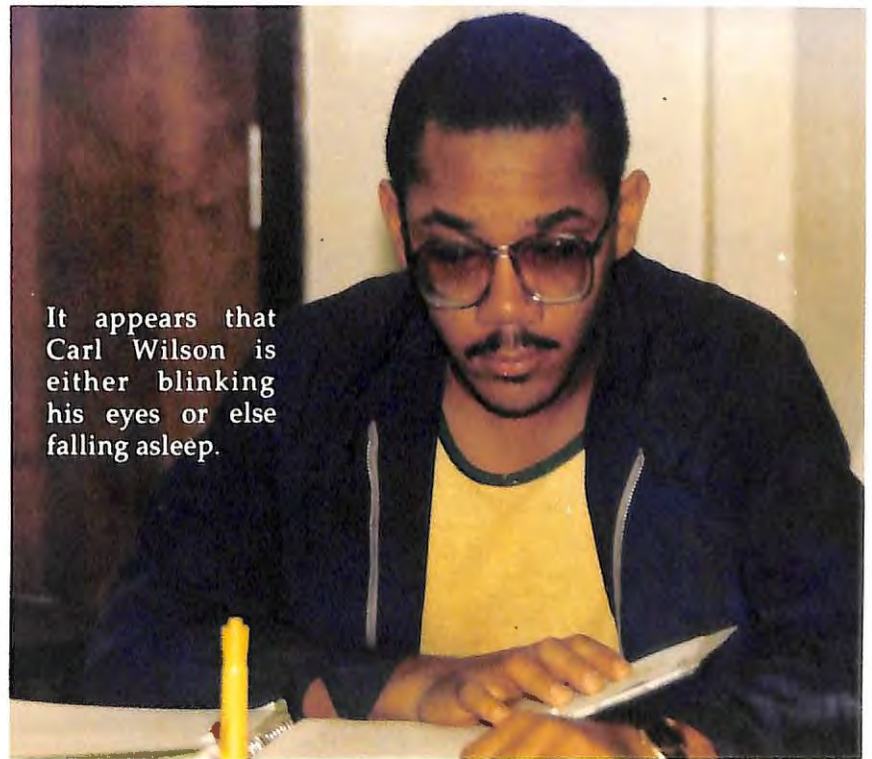

Swimming is one of the few recreational activities that E-Rau offers that many students don't get involved in.

Today, Embry-Riddle has a proud and colorful history that spans more than half a century. We've come a long way in those more than 50 years, but, as the saying continues, "we've still got a long way to go." What Embry-Riddle accomplishes during the next 50 years — and beyond — will largely be determined by its students . . . people of all kinds who care enough to give their very best to make Embry-Riddle even more than what it is today . . . the world's leader in aviation higher education. It's the Embry-Riddle way.

1983 PHOENIX STAFF

Another year has passed and with it many memories have made their mark in our lives. Though our friends may come and go, these memories will live in our minds forever. If this book brings back even one of these memories, our goal will have been accomplished. Many long hours have been put into the production of this book and with those long hours there were a few people who came through with that extra effort which helped make this book possible.

I wish to thank Scott Trueira, Gordon Crago, and Rich Maynard for their work in the photography department. Through their efforts the darkroom increased in efficiency and played a large part in producing the fine photographs in the book. Many hours were spent in taking, developing, and final printing of all the pictures that make up this yearbook. Without their combined effort the quality of the book would have been less than what it is.

Thanks should also go to Dave Davenport and Mark Hilborn for the numerous hours spent drawing the layouts for the pages of the yearbook. Their effort is greatly appreciated and without it, more hours would have had to be spent making up for their work.

Finally, a very special THANK YOU goes to Randy Bloom and Jim Crocker for their effort in organizing the all important decisions and making sure that they were carried out. Without these two the production of this book would have been extremely difficult.

Many thanks again to all those who participated in the production of this book. Hopefully it will bring back as many memories to you as it does to me.
