FLAGLER COLLEGE, ERAI:
SOCIAL FRIENDS

Socially speaking, ERAI and Flagler College are destined to become good friends. The short distance between Flagler College, a young women's college with an enrollment of 190, and predominately male Embry-Riddle, makes commuting relatively easy. The trip to St. Augustine takes only fifty minutes on I 95 and U.S. 1.

Flagler College is in its' first semester of operation, but the buildings of the college give the school an aura of tradition. The college plant used to be the old Ponce de Leon Hotel which was constructed in 1889. Traditional fountains, ivy, and palms grace the campus scene. Inside the buildings original oils (one-quarter of a million dollars), Ming vases and intricate carvings add to the beautiful environment. The plant includes a swimming pool, social bar, an informal dance floor, a ballroom and tennis courts.

In contrast to Embry-Riddle, Flagler offers degrees in the liberal arts. Music, Art and Dramatics are some of the majors offered by the fourteen faculty members, ten have doctorates.

Work between the Student Governments of Embry-Riddle and ER have produced many social events. Friday, Sept. 20th, a pool party at Flagler served as a useful mixer. The sixteen visitors from Riddle were served sandwiches, chips and dips, punch and Flagler College continued.

Dear Students:

Elections are over, and we now have thirty new representatives in the Student Council to carry out the tasks which face the SGA. They are many indeed. Organization of the committees to handle social events, cultural activities, dormitory problems, and student grievances is high on the list of priorities. Election of officers will be one of the most important events in which the entire student body will participate.

The mood of the new SGA should be one of accomplishment. Many excellent ideas have come before the past SGA, but in many areas we have failed to accomplish the desired end. With the proper leadership and organization the new Student Council can sparkle with success.

The administration has again pledged its' support of SGA activities. In most cases it will be necessary only to channel the administration's and the student's support into an effective program of accomplishment. There is no limit to a Student Council which diligently pursues the course of, accomplishment on the students' behalf.

In closing, I hope that all students will give serious thought to the leadership of their Student Council. Halo effects, popularity and good looks will do little to help the SGA, however, a candidate for office with solid leadership qualities will help each of us as students.

cheesecake at the poolside. Afterwards, there was a friendly exchange between students. On Saturday night forty-five Riddle students attended a dance at Flagler. The ERA! SGA has set aside November 2nd for a bar-b-que and has invited the Flagler girls to attend.

The relationship between Flagler and Embry-Riddle is bound to be harmonious. One young woman at Flagler commented to the effect that ERA! has what Flagler needs: boys from a school which is more technically oriented. Ideas are being considered for a combined cultural activities club.

Congratulations to the new Student Council. As representatives of the student body your responsibilities are great. The first responsibility of representatives is to attend the council meetings. Meetings will be held every Tuesday at 11:30 a.m. in Room 210 of the academic building.

Complaint: (1) Telephone Service

Why can't something be arranged at the hotels whereas students could receive incoming telephone calls? I can see why it would not be allowed to call out, but I strongly feel that we should be allowed incoming calls: emergency calls, calls from parents.

As it stands, we are not even informed if our parents call.

Complaint: (2) What's the deal on films this trimester?

Complaint: (3) The enforcement of meal tickets.

Why should it be mandatory for Sophomores, etc. to buy meal tickets?

Ed. Complaint (1) The Housing director was asked about this problem and stated that most of the motels are forwarding messages to the students. Beginning next week, if everything gets inspected, you should be moving into Dorm #1 anyway.

Complaint (2) This will be taken up by the newly elected SGA at their first meeting.

Complaint (3) All students living in Dorm #1 are required to purchase meal tickets.

Dear Suggestion Box:

It sure would be great if "he" who sets the final exam dates and times would do so now. Then those who will be flying home for Christmas could make their reservations early and avoid the rush.

Well, oh wise Suggestion Box, what has you to say?

Sincerely,
Mike Baron

Ed. Dear Mr. Baron: The wise Suggestion Box checked with Dr. Bain, Assistant Dean of Academics, concerning final exam scheduling and was promised he would have the schedule prepared by our next edition.

Dear Editor,

It is clear to me that Embry-Riddle is faced with the same problem as the rest of the aviation industry. Returns are low but operational costs are high. The airlines have had a large increase in volume but their profits are off due to operating costs. Likewise, we are in the same hole. Our student enrollment is up but so is the cost to each and every student. The reverse should be taking place. With our enrollment up our operating costs should be down, or at least remain as they were before.

By the information I received before enrollment, I was led to believe that I would have a choice as to what dorm I could reside in. Also, I was not informed of my Post Office box number until being here for three days. Further, I was informed of "free bus service", but not informed of any iota of a schedule. Also, I was not informed of a mark up in books and study materials.

Well, what can be said for our book store? I am completely disgusted. We pay a mark-up and yet the book store can't give us the bare needs for study because they are "sold out".

It is clear to me that there has been gross mismanagement somewhere. What Embry-Riddle needs is a mass hysteria of economization on everything from paper towels and stamps to aircraft operation. Any move in this direction should result in a direct savings to the students.

Sincerely,
Juan T. Ruth

Partially-baked Ideas
by FUBAH

In many schools, superior academic achievement is recognized by such things as keys, trophies, and engraved plaques. To date Embry Riddle has failed to institute similar rewards. I think that the Honors List and the Dean's List are good for a start, but even scholars enjoy the tangible rewards of their efforts.

I hope that the faculty and administration will consider the following system for academic rewards:

3.5 to 4.0
A charge-a-plate for the ERAI bookstore.

3.0 to 3.49
A key to the washroom in the library.

2.5 to 2.99
Low numbers on ERAI parking stickers.

2.0 to 2.49
A season's pass to Dean Mansfield's office.

PI SIGMA PHI

BY RICHARD COOK

Tonight (Sept. 27) is the night of our second rush party, an important happening in any fraternity’s existence. It will be the pledges chosen from this party who will be the brothers and officers of Pi Sigma Phi next year. These “soon to be” brothers are the people who will be responsible for continuing our short, yet well established, tradition of progress, service and fraternity.

I am sure you have noticed some of the posters and the pledge application booth in the student union. You may have also found that if you did not fill out a pledge application form you were not invited to our rush party. In other words, the party is “closed”.

This policy deserves a few comments. First of all, Pi Sigma Phi is a social fraternity. We are not a professional fraternity, nor are we trying to be all things to all people. We are simply trying to offer progress and service to school and community and fraternity to our members. Social functions for the school at large are provided by your SGA and they do a fine job. Our social functions are for our members and, in the case of the rush party, for those interested enough in our fraternity to lift a pencil and write their names.

Our football game with the “bombers” was well played by both teams. They were a somewhat stronger and heavier team and the 18-bombers 12-Pi Sigma Phi final score showed it.

Larry Grondzski and his MB placed first in class at Spruce Creek last weekend. His best girl also raced and also came in first in class.

Yours truly recently bought a cycle and became the fraternity’s resident Hell’s Angel.

That is the news for this week. If you missed the pledge table or were ineligible (degree seeking, 2.2 C.G.P.A., 2nd tri and up) we would like to talk to you in January.

SIGMA PHI DELTA

BY RALPH MANCUSO

Sigma Phi Delta is moving ahead in great strides. Last Sunday we interviewed a contractor to investigate the plans for our new house. While it is yet in the planning stage, we are all optimistic that we will be moved in by next spring.

We are happy to announce that our flag football team trounced the "Crunchers" by a score of 37-0. All the brothers are looking for another victory when we play the "Bombers" this Sunday.

Any 2nd trimester Engineering student or above wishing to pledge Sigma Phi Delta Fraternity is welcome to come over to the house Sunday night, September 29th, at 7:00 p.m. The address is 204 South St. If you need transportation or any other information please call 252-9374.

ALPHA ETA RHO

BY RAY LEE

Members of Epsilon Rho chapter of Alpha Eta Rho would like to report on our fall rush party. It turned out to be a tremendous success. Approximately 80 – 100 guests were present at the Plantation Room in the Ridgewood Hotel. We were very pleased to see that some of the co-eds from Embry-Riddle attended and we hope that they enjoyed themselves. Refreshments flowed quite freely throughout the entire evening. The guests were able to meet and mingle with the Epsilon Rho’s and we were able to get acquainted with the prospective pledges and many of their lovely feminine companions.

We were impressed with several guests and are sincerely looking forward to the coming fall pledge period.

A party is now being planned along with several other little choice projects for a House Party this Saturday night. Alpha Eta Rho members, pledges, and their dates only will be invited. We would like to thank all the people who came to our Rush Party for helping us make it such a great time. We will be hoping to see many of you again in the near future at more of our fraternity functions.

ON THE CAMPAIGN TRAIL
BY GARY ANDERSON

As everyone knows, this is campaign week for SGA elections. Since I'm not running for anything this year, I figured that I would cover the campaign of my friend Gomer Denk. I'll give you a running account of a day in Gomer's whirlwind campaign:

9:00 a.m. Gomer gives a short speech before Physics class starts.

9:05 a.m. Mr. Campbell informs Gomer that he is in the wrong room.

12:05 Mysterious flash flood traps Gomer in the boys' lavatory.

3 p.m. Gomer kisses babies and pets dogs at a local shopping center.

3:30 p.m. Gomer is treated for trench mouth and dog bites in the infirmary.

8:00 p.m. Massive "Denk for President" torchlight parade on the soccer field.

8:30 p.m. Massive grass-fire on the soccer field.

9:00 Gomer speaks at memorial service for victims of the grass-fire.

11:10 Gomer speaks at "Denk for President" beer party at Mac's Bar.

12:Midnight Gomer babbles incoherently during drunken brawl at Mac's Bar.

ON PHILOSOPHY AND EDUCATION
BY DON NICHOLS

Ah - the student philosopher. From the bar-rooms, bedrooms, protest meetings, and student elections, all have one thing in common; thoughts. They believe they are able to solve the problems of the world, if only someone would listen. Escalate the war. Decelerate the government. Legalize pot, free-love, and co-educational housing. Overthrow the government. Perhaps, I sound bitter, and possibly, I am. You may say to yourself: who is he to pass judgement upon these people? Where has he obtained these convictions to form opinions? Yes, I do have the right, for I pass judgement upon myself. I have been with these student philosophers, at the love-ins, the pot parties, and the protests. The whole selfish purpose of these gatherings is to glorify the students' warped ideas and impossible dreams. This can only promote more discrimination and unreasonableness than that which exists today. Only with the patience and the dedication of those who have withdrawn from the media of unrealistics, can we solve the problems of today.

I believe we owe thanks to the educators of today, for being realistic. Their goal is for the students to assimilate a part of themselves - wisdom and logic, which cannot be obtained without an education and a desire to search for the truth and knowledge that is available. Truly, they are the philosophers who mold our future.

Entering freshmen, on large college campuses, are run through the gauntlet: registration, rushes from Fraternities and Sororities, football practice, classes that are and are not wanted, and, last, but not least, the bars. After suffering through a hectic week of mass confusion, the students eventually find themselves in the bars, in states where drinking beer is legal at the age of eighteen. Their purpose in the bars is to explore the campus night life and/or to drink away the weariness and confusion. This is where the philosophy classes begin. Men and women are dancing, drinking, talking, or just gazing. One man fights to out-drink another - a feat demanding the admiration of those who are not able to consume the minimum. A pert-looking, perhaps even naive, freshman girl is perched upon a bar stool, nervously awaiting her first approach. Eventually, the students mingle, relax, and discussions begin. usually the first topic, leading into politics, war, pot, and free love. Some merely disregard the night as a "happening." Others will participate in the events seriously, usually acquainting themselves with leaders of various organizations.

In classrooms, discussion takes place and ideas are formed from the diligent work of the professors. But once the students exit from classrooms, they disregard and cast aside, as burdensome bores, the teachings of Socrates, Plato and Dante. Again there are the bars and pot parties. The great philosophers of the campus expound upon their vast knowledge of everything, to everyone. Those who believe these so-called leaders agree unquestioningly with complete disregard for what they have learned in the classrooms.

We might ask ourselves: Why teach philosophy at all? Why waste the time of the students and bore them endlessly? Have patience, for they may absorb only a small part of this vast knowledge. All is not lost if only one or two disregard the problems of today and seek to obtain the wisdom offered. For these men or women, it means seeking and finding others who believe in the logical way of solving problems. There is a minority of others who have been led astray by disregarding knowledge and truth, but they return to reality. The reality is that education is not for uniting wrongs and for supporting the insecure individuals — individuals who must associate with people whose only education is to protest and reform the world by any selfish means they are able to derive.

EAGLES LOSE TO BREVARD

Our Embry-Riddle Eagles were brought down by the Brevard Soccer team last Sunday afternoon, 3-1, in a game played in Cocoa Beach at the Minute Man Stadium.

The Eagles' first and only score occurred in the first 10 minutes of play. Brevard scored with eight minutes left in the first half and dominated the second half with 2 goals.

The game was played under International rules, which include 45 minute halves.

A good aspect of the encounter is that it gave Coach Mansfield a chance to see all of his players, old and new, perform in actual combat.

This game is not officially on our collegiate record, but much was gained in experience.

Students needing rides between academic Buildings and Building 14 should come by the INFORMER office before September 19th for free instructions in thumbing.

SL-16 will be closed next week due to spring cleaning.

EMBRY-RIDDLE SAILING CLUB
skipper's corner

Although dampened by intermittent showers, the week-end was a joyous success. The club arrived at Monroe Harbour at 12:00 noon and was greeted by three and four foot swells and 14 to 20 knot winds. After about five hours of training and sailing, the members returned to the dock and tied up; tired, damp and wiser.

The next two meetings are very important for members, new, old and anyone else who would like to join.

Club business for the next 2 meetings includes:

(a) prospect of bringing the boat to Daytona and mooring in the Halifax River,
(b) purchase of another boat or go ahead on fixing the "Malibu",
(c) adopting plans for building a "y-Flyer" in stages for inter-collegiate racing.

The sailing club has initiated a new "Learn to sail" program which we hope can help everyone. We have five instructors to help anyone learn to sail. With this in mind we hope to be able to teach many people to sail and possibly raise enough money for another boat.

NEW PLANES AT RIDDLE

Two new Mooney Rangers are now on Riddle's flight line. These two planes represent the first shipment of six planes, for which Riddle has contracted. Delivery on the remaining four planes is expected before Jan. 6, 1969.

The Chemistry Lab would like to thank the Maintenance Department for the fine apron rack which it has never received.

A work order was properly filled out, hand carried through the chain of command, approved by Mr. Mondshein and personally delivered to Mr. Miklavic on September 16, 1968. It must take a long time to cut an 18 inch board and screw on 4 clothes hooks.

LOST

Pair of prescription flight glasses lost on Monday noon, September 23, between the front parking area of the Eng. Building and the student center. Reward offered.

CAMPUS IMPROVEMENTS

The City of Daytona Beach is hard at work to improve the facilities on the campus. The sidewalks being constructed will be a great panacea to the muddy shoes syndrome. Next the parking lots?

COMMON COLD

THE FACTS

For at least 3,000 years man has been trying to cope with the common cold. He has been armed with faith, superstition, and hope. He has been advised by Grandma, his next door neighbor, and the advertising copywriter. And he has bowed, year after year, to the persistent, perennial, plaguing cold.

Yet, ever the optimist, he faces each winter with new hope and - probably - some old, unproven, but beloved remedy.

DO YOU?

Here are some time-honored rituals...and what modern research has to say about them.

At the first sniffle, go to bed and stay there. If you have a good book to read, or if a steady diet of tv is your meat, you'll probably enjoy the vacation. But for a normal, healthy adult, Bed rest is not necessary unless you have a fever.

Of course, you'll be doing other people a favor by staying away from them during the first contagious days. And taking it easy is a good idea, since it helps your body to resist complications.

Young children, the elderly, folks who seem to get one cold after another, and adults with a serious chronic disease - these need to rest. They need all their energy to ward off further illness.

Wrap a piece of flannel around your throat at the first sign of scratchiness. The cold germ will have a good laugh. The flannel is only a substitute for the teddy bear you clutched as a baby.

But lots of remedies - hot milk is another example - have a beneficial, though purely psychological, effect.

continued.
COLD continued:

Take vitamin pills, and prevent colds.
Excess vitamins serve no purpose, and may even be harmful. If you have a balanced diet, you don't need vitamin pills.

Some people don't get all the vitamins they need. (Teenagers appear to live only on hamburgers and Cokes.)

Ask your family doctor if you need a vitamin supplement.

Take a laxative to get rid of the cold germs.

But if you're constipated, a mild laxative may make sense if you don't make a habit of it.

Get under a pile of blankets and sweat.

This is supposed to flush out the poisons produced by the infection. It hasn't been proved.

Anyway, it's pleasanter to drink liquids, and you accomplish the same purpose if you accomplish it at all.

Cold baths and winter sleeping porches build you up so that you don't get colds.

No, they don't. Cold baths and cold air enthusiasts get as many and as severe colds as comfort lovers.

Of course, you may become so used to discomfort that you don't mind the cold when you get it.

Feed a cold and starve a fever.

Oh, come on.

What do you do if you have a cold and a fever?

HERE'S WHAT YOU CAN DO FOR YOUR COLD:

You can relieve the symptoms:

Your usual dose of aspirin helps your headache and aches.

Antihistamines give you some relief if allergic reactions accompany your cold.*

A vaporizer or a hot bath relieves congestion. (Don't get chilled afterwards.)

A piece of hard candy soothes your throat.

Cough syrup eases a troublesome cough.*

Nasal decongestants, in the form of drops, inhalers, or sprays, are useful when your nose is clogged up and your breathing is difficult.*

Liquids - fruit juice or water - make you feel better generally, though no one is sure why.

And rest, since it conserves energy, helps your body to build up resistance against complications.

*Please note: Some nose drops, sprays, combination cold tablets, lozenges, capsules, and cough mixtures contain drugs which have a long-term bad effect. Ask your doctor which he recommends.

Warning: Occasionally sore throat, headache, and fatigue may not be symptoms of a cold at all, but heralds of a more serious illness.

Call your doctor if you develop any of these symptoms: a fever that lasts more than two or three days, a severe headache, chest pains, hard coughing spells, earache, or rusty-looking sputum.

And if you suffer from asthma, chronic bronchitis or any other chronic respiratory illness, you should consult your doctor at the onset of the cold.
