Call for Papers: Special Issue on Security Issues in Online Communities

The purpose of the special issue is to contribute to the discussion and understanding of the current status and perspectives of digital forensics, security and law as it applies to security issues in online communities.

Prospective authors are invited to submit regular technical papers or position papers. The latter should present novel ideas at an early stage of development or share future vision. All the submissions should describe original and unpublished work, not currently under review by any other journal or conference.

All submitted papers will be blind reviewed with respect to their relevance, originality, adequacy, contribution, correctness, readability and presentation.

To be considered for inclusion in this special issue of the journal, manuscripts should be received no later than midnight (EDT) of December 31st, 2007. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscripts through the journal's manuscript tracking system at http://www.jdfsl.org/submission.asp or may be submitted by email to the special issue editor, Nick Flor, at nickflor@unm.edu.
Guide for Submission of Manuscripts

All manuscripts should be word-processed (letter or correspondence-quality font). If the paper has been presented previously at a conference or other professional meeting, this fact, the date, and the sponsoring organization should be given in a footnote on the first page. Funding sources should be acknowledged in the "Acknowledgements" section. Articles published in or under consideration for other journals should not be submitted. Enhanced versions of book chapters can be considered. Authors need to seek permission from the book publishers for such publications. Papers awaiting presentation or already presented at conferences must be significantly revised (ideally, taking advantage of feedback received at the conference) in order to receive any consideration.

Manuscripts should be submitted through the JDFSL online system in Word format using the following link: http://www.jdfsl.org/submission.asp.

Manuscripts may also be submitted to the editor in Word format as well. The editor of the JDFSL, Dr. Glenn S. Dardick, may be reached via email at editor@jdfsl.org.

The copyright of all material published in JDFSL is held by the Association of Digital Forensics, Security and Law (ADFSL). The author must complete and return the copyright agreement before publication. The copyright agreement may be found at http://www.jdfsl.org/copyrighttransfer.pdf.

Additional information regarding the format of submissions may be found on the JDFSL website at http://www.jdfsl.org/authorinstructions.htm.
