NASA CELEBRATES 20TH ANNIVERSARY

Surprising as it may seem, we are living at a time when space is no longer the domain of a select few. Today, nearly anyone with a college degree can apply for a position as an astronaut in the United States. The success of the Apollo missions has inspired many young people to pursue careers in science and technology. The future of space exploration is bright, and the opportunities for those interested in this field are endless.

Studies of the uncharted atmosphere of Mars, Venus and Jupiter are providing new insights into the nature of these planets and the potential for life. These missions have also helped us understand our own planet better. The spacecraft have collected vast amounts of data that are being used to improve our understanding of the natural world.

The Cassini mission, which arrived at Saturn in 2004, has revealed many surprises about the planet and its moons. The mission has uncovered evidence of liquid water on Titan, Saturn’s largest moon, and has discovered geysers on another of its moons, Enceladus. These findings have sparked new interest in the search for extraterrestrial life.

Looking to the future, NASA is planning missions to Mars in the 2020s. These missions will include the first landing on Mars since 2012 and will be designed to prepare for human missions in the 2030s. The agency is also exploring the possibility of missions to other planets, such as Europa, one of the moons of Jupiter.

The future of space exploration is exciting and full of possibilities. With the right investments and continued support, we can continue to push the boundaries of what is possible and discover new wonders in the universe.
LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Mr. Kolkman,

I write to you in hopes of any non-AFQT students who do not have an ACT score, or those still in school and may not yet have it available. What are the options for me?

Thank you,

Dear [Name],

Thank you for your letter. I am sorry to hear that you did not receive your ACT scores. If you are still in school and have not yet taken the ACT, you have several options. You can retake the test at a later date, or you can apply to a college that does not require ACT scores. I hope this information is helpful.

Sincerely,

Ca. Brown

I received your inquiry about black elements in the history course. Unfortunately, I do not have a copy of the textbook at this time. If you would like, I can provide you with a summary of the material covered in the section you are interested in. Please let me know if you are interested in receiving this information.

It's been a blast," said Ellen Hirlbringer, "it was my greatest high ever." added Foolish Crow. But Richard Hobson, Jr., turned it up to three shrill words — "It's been real!"

DEAN ROCKETT PUSHES AEROBICS

In a conversation with the Dean of Students, we discovered some of the plans he hopes to carry out in the near future. Depending upon circumstances, he hopes to begin a physical fitness trail put in on campus within the next year. Dean Rockett eventually hopes to develop a complete Aerobics program available for physical education credit.

Aerobics are a variety of exercises that stimulate heart and lung activity for a period of time sufficiently long to produce beneficial changes in the cardiovascular system. Because physical conditioning-related occupations involve a lot of stress, Dean Rockett emphasizes the importance of physical fitness.

The physical fitness trail would have a running path with a number of stations where a runner may stop to perform exercises that develop strength and flexibility in specific areas. Each station has a sign explaining various exercises that can be performed on the equipment located there. An example of this fitness trail can be seen at the D-I-Y.M.C.A.

A service program would include swimming, running, tennis, cycling, weight lifting, and other exercises. This program would help to increase the attractiveness of the campus and would be a constructive outlet for built-up energy.

Frank E. Wencel

This year, Eunice-Middle is growing at such a fantastic rate it is hard for the students to avoid some practical problems with the system, whether it be with scheduling, a small classroom, and any of the small things that plague students in an expanding school. However, the faculty cannot be exempted, because it is one of E-RAU's major assets.

Mr. Frank Wencel serves as a good example of faculty quality. In the classroom, he is demanding, and at the same time, I feel that his lectures are always stimulating and to the point.

Mr. Wencel was born on May 29, 1930. After going to school, he entered the US Air Force in 1953. While there, he served as a meteorologist and also was rated "Master Navigator." He flew in many types of planes, including C-54's, T-33's, and C-130's. He served a tour of duty in Vietnam from 1962 to 1963. While in the USAF, Mr. Wencel earned a Bachelor of Science degree in meteorology at Texas A & M University and also a Master of Science degree in meteorology at the University of Oklahoma.

After retiring from the Air Force in 1973, Mr. Wencel came directly to Eunice-Middle, starting work in the fall. In 1971, he was appointed Director of Meteorology at Texas Tech University. Mr. Wencel has taught classes in meteorology, mathematics, and physical science. He teaches both in the School of Science and Engineering.

I wish to comment on how he fulfills his present duty of several classes. Though the quality of education here is very good, the students don't really benefit from very early or late classes because they are too tired. Mr. Wencel expressed this view by saying, "Maximum learning is achieved between 8 a.m. and 8 a.m. He also felt that most of the other alternatives suggested so far (mainly Saturdays) are inadequate.

Mr. Wencel is always eager to answer questions related to his field and is always in talk to, as are the majority of the faculty members. Though Eunice-Middle's budget is quite limited, Mr. Wencel manages to get as much as possible out of the students and faculty remain one of the highest assets to this school.

BODIES WANTED

The E-RAU Post Office is considering closing the window to student access at 6:00 a.m. daily. The action may become necessary in order to secure student mail and the $50,000 investment in mail boxes and the mail system that attempts to maintain mail boxes, mail room, and similar tasks. Reportedly, the damage must be paid for with student tuition dollars. It seems unfair that all students may have to suffer the inconvenience of shorter Post Office hours and potential loss of services due to the actions of a knowledgeable few. You may be among those who are willing to take some precautions, as you will have to avoid problems if you are unable to get to the Post Office at Ext. 444, go directly upstairs to the University Center and report the incident to the Safety Office, or call the University Center Manager on Ext. 310 at 311. Please help us keep the Post Office open and sending as much speed and love as we can need.

DORM LIFE
By Mr. D.L.K.

Well, this has turned out to be a battle between the wings on the field of battle known as lounge-war. For those of you who haven't participated, you don't know what fun it is. The winner receives a leg of beer and the loser receives a refreshing dip in the most? Fine! You lost. One dip in the most is like a breath of fresh air. The losers can always imagine that magic moment forever. The grand champions, team 152, are declared to be the winners in the near future.

As far as future activities go, your advisors have laid the plans for a behind the dorm B-9: With plenty offood and that magic elixir of life to keep the spirits at a wild and woolly level, this event is guaranteed to drive the neurotic blues away. Ask your advisor about these and other upcoming events. They're worth FOR going to.

One MAJOR problem we have around the dorm is called littering and it's very bad. Everyone complaints about the dorm living conditions while the dorm leaves them in the lurch. Everyone knows it's only a handful of people who litter, however those people will please not be pleased to know there is a $25.00 fine for littering and it will be enforced. That's right. For all you lucky people who get caught you'll probably lose your beauty. If you happen to be a person who is addicted to littering something, you will be glad to drive you to the city or county dump where you can foolishly in the garbage all day long. To know. The only way to step this is if everyone keeps an eye out for themselves and others and remember, you've got to live here too!

By Virginia L. Winkler

Due to the tremendous increase of students on this campus, the University has decided to utilize its available classroom space. Our Common Purpose Rooms and Faculty Study Lounges are also being used for meetings of campus organizations and administrative purposes. This leaves the students with a problem of where to study on campus.

The Registration and Records Office, in cooperation with the faculty, has kindly donated their time to remedy this situation by providing a list of rooms that are available to the student. However, these rooms may be occupied during special occasions due to announcements of meetings. Please cooperate with the faculty and staff on these matters, and all of the University will benefit. FRATERNITY CORNER

By Bernie Netzel
This Friday, the 12th of October, there will be a big South party held at the house for all prospective little oms. If you need any information on this call 252-9277 and ask for Don Miller. We are looking forward to seeing all of you there.

Last Saturday we had a field trip over in Martin County. The road was big and everyone seemed to have a blast. The finest time of the day was turned in by a pledge. It was just under fifty seconds. We held a 2 lap race and the fastest time turned in by a not so perfect Tree Trim.

The party went so well that everyone forget about the can sitting stuck in the sand and was happy to make the sandpiles. It doesn't matter anyway, nothing happened last week to write about, but this week happens to be a very nice day.

The week really started Thursday night with our national contest was waking. It started when we gained 23 new associates and a few more who are very interested. After that this “Twin’s Test” at noon turned things down to Edie’s and settled down for a long evening. With the contest following behind, the party turned back at Edie and Brother Jake. As usual the sun was rising and the party was setting. Friday was very short for everyone.

We had an eventful weekend. Our beach party came out pretty well, the main event came about the beginning of the week. Brother Steve Bell jumped from a perfectly good airplane flown by "Glide" and "The Jumper" Henry I didn’t get in at first time but due to an unforeseen incident I wasn’t able to make the sandpiles. It doesn’t matter anyway, nothing happened last week to write about, but this week happens to be a very nice day.

Saturday night we managed to get cleaned up for the little omy’s and cheese party. I think everyone was happy with the turnout.

Saturday we also saw a tree climbing and Frisbee exhibition by Paul White and a couple other brothers. This upcoming weekend Delta Chi will be celebrating their anniversary. Founder’s Day Banquet will again be held at the Battle.

This week’s "Chic" Award goes to pledge Ron for getting a new B for effort Friday night. In closing I’d like to ask two things:
1. Ph. where’s your pledge?
2. Who are you ready?

The Omi Delta Kappa idea at Embry-Riddle can be best supported by the members of the Icarus Circle. The Icarus Circle will be holding a reception on October 16, at 8:00 p.m., in the Common Purpose Club. This is the place to go if you are interested in expressing this idea. It is hoped that the more members, whether students, faculty, or administrators, will sign up to become members of the Icarus Circle and save the Omi idea.

DELTA CHI

By Wick
The past week turned out to be very productive for Delta Chi. Saturday and Sunday were both designated as work days. The brothers and pledges got together and turned the house upside down cleaning and doing necessary repairs. The outside of the house was painted cleaned, fences were painted, doors repaired, and everything cleaned up.

I think the patio still needs more work, Chuck.

Friday quite a few of the brotherhood went over to Bid. for a concert with Phi Mu Mu fraternity. After the party everyone met back at the Delta Chi house for another happy happy hour.

The Embry-Riddle Radio Station, WERU, has now been in operation since the summer of 1976. WERU literally started from scratch and has continued to grow. Currently, a major portion of the station's staff is new. We have a young and enthusiastic management with fresh ideas from all backgrounds and parts of the country. We have been amazed and appalled at the misunderstanding regarding the budget appropriations to WERU.

To avoid any further lack of communication now, or in the future, here is the cost allocations to WERU from your students:

Spring 1976 $3,000.00
Summer 1976 $3,900.00
Fall 1976 $3,000.00
Spring 1977 $3,900.00
Summer 1977 $3,000.00
Fall 1977 $3,800.00
Spring 1978 $3,927.00
Summer 1978 $2,245.00

HEARSSY and rumor are two of the most destructive influences on moral and social stability. If this letter can explain to all students what the truth is, then and only then, can we make an intelligent assessment of the situation.

Come by and get acquainted with your new WERU Manager, Tony Miller, and his staff. Let's work together; this is an educational experience and a worthwhile effort toward understanding each other.

Hereby extend an open-wild invitation to all organizations, for information to be broadcasted in promoting professionalism that we can all be proud of.

Riddle, together with WERU, is sponsoring an Oktoberfest weekend. We're sure you'll all have a ball and we'll explain what's happening at the meeting on Friday. The management considers the Embry-Riddle Club playing chess. The officers will be holding elections for a new management of the club. We'll be discussing the impact of the opening meeting on Sunday during the blues music festival. Club members get a discount on the T-shirt (really acting at a low price) and are encouraged to purchase them as more people will be aware of the festival. For your convenience, we'll have T-shirts or beer phone call one of the executive members of the meeting or contact Kim at Box No. 154b.

See you at the meeting!

Although this past weekend was eventful for Arnold Air Society members, many of us were planning for the upcoming weekend in Miami. That's right, Commandant Call has arrived! Starting this Friday, many AIS members will travel to Miami for a weekend of events that should be fun for everyone.

Mike went out to the Daytona Beach Correctional Center this past Saturday. It appears as if AIS members will work with the youth at the center. Activities would include showing movies and playing softball or football.

The AAS Road Rally committee met again last week at Duke's house. It seems that everything is falling into place and this year's road rally will be as successful as last year. In case you missed last week's article, the date of the road rally is set for Nov. 11. There will be more information concerning the road rally in next week's article.

Pledge Class: The pledge class continues to impress regular members of AIS. They have decided, for a community project, to concentrate on children. This is what National Headquarters wanted all squads of AIS to do, and it appears that our pledge class is going to follow these same guidelines.

We hope all of our members that go to Miami have a great time. One thing is for sure, we'll be the life of the party!!

The Marine PLC Club is in full swing again. We are planning a few field trips this trimester, one of which will involve some scouting and altitude chamber training at NAS JAX. This training will enable us to get some basic flight time in the TA-4 and F-4, in subsequent visits to NAS JAX.

Don't forget the PLC meeting on Tuesday Oct. 3rd, and also bring your money for the banquet. In addition, all PLC's are reminded that football practice is held every Saturday at 9:30 p.m. - attendees is limited.

RIDDLE SKYDIVERS

By Gary MacPeranl

We had another successful jumping weekend at Deland. Many of our first jump students of the week were once more in action on the drop zone and are continuing rapidly. Keep up the good work and efforts.

With keeping busy at Deland on the weekends, little time has occurred. However, the entertainers must swing in the CJ's at 8:00. All past, present and prospective jumpers are encouraged to attend. The entertainers for this week will include the T-Birds who will hold, you'll have about equipment and rigs for sale, and there will be jump stories for everybody to hear. Hope to see all of you there.
