E-RAU imposes wage freeze

By Neil Corcoran

Rasenld, a 5-1/2-year-old, was decided by university administrators to be a step towards improving the living conditions of university employees. The move was widely welcomed by students and faculty members.

The decision followed a series of meetings between the university administration and the trade union representing the employees. The union had been pressing for a wage increase for several years, citing rising costs of living and the need for better compensation.

The new wage agreement covers all employees and it includes a 3% increase in base salaries, as well as adjustments to benefit packages. The agreement also includes a review mechanism to ensure that future increases are equitable and fair.

The university administration praised the agreement for its fairness and for promoting a balanced approach to compensation.

The new contracts were signed on January 1, 2023, and they will be retroactive to that date. Employees will receive their first increase in their paychecks in February, 2023.

Voice for animal rights

A chapter of the Humane Society is located in almost every country in the United States. The humane society is dedicated to helping animals, to prevent their torture and to end cruelty toward them. They encourage us to help animals in our society. We must be aware of the conditions animals are in and strive to help them.

Cruelty to animals is wrong and must be stopped. Animals are caring and kind, and they deserve our respect. We must do all we can to prevent cruelty to animals.

More on survey

To the Editor:

I would like to add to the protection of February 13th, the survey is due to be conducted by one of the students classified as the most knowledgeable.

Students have expressed their opinion enthusiastically and have been informed of the importance of the survey. The humane society has been invited to participate in the survey.

Perhaps we have all fallen prey to the shadings of Mr. Elliott's smooth tongue.

Though I did see the ABC

News show called "The Last something major/very objectionable.

But, I also feel Mr. Elliott's methods and comments on this article, are causing serious-overspillions and ignorance of humanity and has led him to believe that all humans are conscious beings, yet humans are given in their actions and beliefs. Mr. Elliott seems to have complete comfort in the knowledge of the carelessness and the cruelty to animals.

Microprocrastination

To the Editor:

Three years ago, I visited Enfield Riddle to witness the last three Mountains cheerleaders leave the team. Even after all the Mountains were long gone, Enfield Riddle continued to run an advertisement in The Avion, which has since been taken down.

But I also feel Mr. Elliott's methods and comments on this article, are causing serious overspillions and ignorance of humanity and has led him to believe that all humans are conscious beings, yet humans are given in their actions and beliefs. Mr. Elliott seems to have complete comfort in the knowledge of the carelessness and the cruelty to animals.

Microprocrastination

To the Editor:

I was amazed by my book today and realized something that is commonly known of life. Life is a journey and we are all on it. Life is not a race, it is a marathon. We all have different speeds and we all have different distances to travel. We all have different obstacles and we all have different challenges.

Graduates have job advantage

New May, at 6:00 every May, university graduates whose

New York will have jobs waiting for them when they graduate, but the majority will probably not start looking until they have their first

11 percent, the prospects for finding a job do not look hopeful.

However, government statistics indicate that all graduates are definitely the favored group when it comes to finding work. Walter Weingartner, economist for the Bureau of Labor Statistics in Ka-

1982, the unemployment rate for people with five or more years of college was only 3 percent. This

Automated weathered phenomenon undergoes year-long test

By Victor Salzwedel
Washington, D.C. - The FFA will begin a year-long demonstration of automated weather reporting equipment at 12 airports from Florida to Alaska.

Known as the Automatic Weather Observing System (AWOS), the equipment will automatically gather weather data from various locations and send it to an airport and transmit this information directly to the planes by means of a computer-generated voice message. The messages will include wind direction and speed, visibility, temperature, dewpoint, obstructions, and the status of runways, among other factors.

David L. Levy, a spokesman for the FAA, said that the planes would be able to get into the AWOS if they are about 30 miles away and you have to know the access information to reach the ground.

The FFA said that if AWOS does not require any manpower, if the demonstration proves successful, the FAA will use it for all its facilities.

The demonstration will begin this year and continue into the next.

The system will be designed to meet the needs of all travelers and allow for a smoother flow of traffic.

 إطلاق برنامج إختراق للجفاف يسمح لأول مرة بالإجابة على شرفة الجاف

واحدة من مواقعنا تحدث في الفيديو عن برنامج إختراق للجفاف الذي تم إطلاقه مؤخراً. بدأ البرنامج في تجربة عامية في مطار دافوس، سويسرا، حيث قام بالتجربة على مدار السنة.

البرنامج يتيح لأول مرة للطيارين استخدام المعلومات الجوية الصادرة عن نظام FFA الخاص بهم. بمجرد اكتمال اجراءات الطيران، سوف يتم نقل هذه المعلومات إلى المطار للتفحص بسهولة.

تغطي الحزمة الجديدة عدداً من الظروف الجوية مثل درجة الحرارة، المد، الرعد، وإشارات الرياح، مما يوفر للمطارين أداة هامة لمناولة الطيران بأمان.

ورغم ذلك، تظل الأمور في اتجاه مثير، حيث يعتمد البرنامج على التكنولوجيا الجديدة للجودة العالية. من المتوقع أن يتضمن البرنامج أيضاً قدرات التنبؤ بالطقس للطيارين، مما يوفر لهم مزيداً من التسهيلات.

ومع ذلك، فإن البرنامج لا يزال في مراحله الأولى، وستحتاج إلى وقت لتطويره وتطبيقه في مشاريع أخرى.

The FAA has thousands of records on file for use in weather forecasts, but the development program is scheduled to end by the end of the year.

E-RAU graduate files for Blue Angels

By Max Coward

On February 22, the Blue Angels' captain, Jorge Rodriguez, stepped up to the starting line in front of the crowd. He was about to make his final run at the 1983 Blue Angels Scholarship Program. Rodriguez and his team, the Blue Angels, are a group of highly skilled pilots who perform aerial exhibitions as part of the United States Marine Corps. The Blue Angels are known for their precision flying and are a popular attraction at airshows across the country.

Rodriguez is a member of the Blue Angels team and has been flying with them for two years. He has been selected as the Blue Angels' captain for the 1983 season. The Blue Angels' scholarship program is open to students who meet certain criteria, such as being a U.S. citizen, having a minimum GPA of 3.0, and having a declared major in aviation or a related field.

The scholarship program provides financial assistance to students who are pursuing a career in aviation. The Blue Angels' scholarship program is one of the many scholarships available to students who are interested in pursuing a career in aviation. Other scholarships may be available through the United States Marine Corps, the Federal Aviation Administration, and other organizations.

The Blue Angels' scholarship program is an excellent opportunity for students who are interested in pursuing a career in aviation. The program provides financial assistance and valuable experience to students who are interested in becoming pilots.

Aero-Hispanic society newly formed

The Aero-Hispanic Society, a new student organization, held its organizational meeting in the D-289 at 7:00 p.m. on February 16. There were 11 members present at the meeting, which was called to order by the president of the society's constitution. They discussed various aspects of the society's planned activities.

Loan available to women

A loan is available to women in engineering during their last two years of engineering studies. Loans are available for tuition, fees, and related expenses. The loan amount is $10,000, and the term is 5 years, with payments of $1,200 per year. Application forms are available at 110 College Avenue, and the loan must be repaid within 5 years.

Aerial Dispatcher program succeeds

Five recent E-RAU graduates successfully completed the FAA Aerial Dispatcher Program. The program is administered by the FAA and is designed to prepare students for careers as aerial dispatchers. The program is located in the University Center and is open to students who are interested in pursuing a career in aviation.

Dispatcher program demands

The program demands a high level of knowledge and skills. Applicants must have a minimum GPA of 3.0, and they must be U.S. citizens. The program requires a total of 30 semester hours, including 12 hours in mathematics and 12 hours in science.

Application forms and information about the program are available at the Financial Aid Office. E-RAU offers scholarships to students who are majoring in transportation management. Scholarships are awarded on the basis of academic performance, and they may be renewed for up to four years.
Health counselor speaks to Management Club on stress and coping with it

Inter-Fraternity Council holds annual meeting in Atlanta

by Jeff Murph

This past weekend the South Inter-Fraternity Council (SIFC) held its annual "Leadership Academy." The convention is held during the spring term of every year and includes most fraternity shops and universities. In the midst of the usual good times, no end, the SIFC held an 'E-RAU' for hat purchase.

The convention was held at the Peachtree Hotel in Atlanta, and drew delegates from all of the southern states. The convention was a great success, and the delegates returned home with a renewed sense of purpose and enthusiasm for their respective organizations.

Brothers of the Wind prepare for black history celebration

by Dennis D. Henderson

The annual Black History Month Event at the University of Dayton was held this past weekend. The event was sponsored by the Black Student Union and the Office of Multicultural Affairs. The evening began with a speech by Dr. John Hope Franklin, a prominent historian and author, who spoke about the importance of understanding history and the role that African Americans have played in shaping it.

Following his speech, Dr. Franklin signed copies of his book, "The Negro in the American Mind," and the audience was encouraged to purchase copies to support his work. The evening concluded with a performance by the university's Gospel Choir, which sang a medley of spirituals and traditional gospel songs.

The event was well-received, and many attendees expressed their appreciation for Dr. Franklin's insights and the powerful performance by the Choir. The Black Student Union plans to continue to host similar events throughout the year to promote black history and cultural awareness.

Computer club hosts Riddle lecture

by Ray Deoper

The general membership meeting held last week served to familiarize members with the club's objectives and to plan for the year's activities. The meeting took place on Monday evening in the Computer Science Laboratory. President John Smith opened the meeting with a brief overview of the club's mission and goals.

Emeritus faculty member Dr. R. William Riddle was the guest speaker at the meeting, and he provided an enlightening presentation on the history and development of computer science. Dr. Riddle is a respected member of the academic community and is well-versed in the history of the field.

Dr. Riddle's talk was well-received, and many members expressed their appreciation for the opportunity to hear from such a distinguished expert. The meeting concluded with a vote to approve the club's budget for the upcoming year, and the members were encouraged to actively participate in the club's activities.

The meeting was a success, and the members are looking forward to an exciting year of activities. The Computer Science Laboratory will be a hub of activity, and members are encouraged to attend and get involved in the club's events.
