SGA candidates discuss campaign issues

By Mary Vaner

The Student Government Election is now officially underway as March 16. They are anticipating that the ward and the candidacy look for votes. This year there are two wards and a President who will be running March 16. There is a President and Vice-President. In order to place their names on the SGA ballot, students must be enrolled at A&M and they must be running for the 1982 Democratic Primary.

The positions of SGA President and Vice-President are both important. The president is not only the student organization head but also the student government leader. The SGA bears the responsibility of organizing all the student activities, including the SGA's own programs, and all other activities of the student government.

The candidates are pictured in the Student Union Building. They are wearing their campaign t-shirts, which are printed with the words "SGA Campaign." The SGA candidates are:

President: Scott Foster
Vice-President: Jeff Stone

Four students fatally injured

By Louis M. Kady

A tragic accident occurred at a popular student hangout on the campus of Texas A&M University, killing four students. The accident occurred at 9:30 p.m. on Monday, March 16, when a large crowd gathered at the site to watch a game of pool. The pool table was on the second floor of the building and the crowd was so large that the roof of the room caved in, killing four of the students.

Avian News Editor, Max Correa, speaks from the cockpit of Dirty Ron, a T-28 which was featured on static display at Patrick Air Force Base this past Saturday. The aircraft was flown from its home base at Tico Airsho.

E-RAU implements tele-marketing

By All Saadeh

S. A. Sales Report

As a result of the decrease in enrollment, a tele-marketing campaign has been in effect since November 16, 1982. Eight E-RAU students were hired to participate in the effort to increase interest in the University.

The eight student assistants call prospective students from 5-9 p.m. and 10-11 p.m. each day. They call potential students who have indicated an interest in a degree program. The E-RAU telephone operators set the information obtained and answer general questions concerning the University.

All students are trained to make calls and to handle calls on a day-to-day basis. They are instructed to be accurate, polite, and helpful.

This article was written by a few commission rates and the handling of all calls.

SGA elections: Does anybody really care?

Since this is an open year the student body has the opportunity to elect Student Government Association (SGA) officials. President, vice-president, and representative rights are up for grabs. It is a chance for the average student to have a say in what the university is about and to be a part of the decision making process.

Two years ago, student government officials were elected. The small turnout of only 5000 votes for all three offices is only 2% of the student body.

Do you want real change? Why do only 5% of the student body vote in student government elections? Can we make the students realize it is important to vote?

You may say yourself, "Why do only 5% of the students even care?" But there is hope for the writer. The students in the SGA are determined to make a change.

You can help yourself. Why not show only 9% of the students really care? Can you help a change?

Last year's election proved that only about 9% of roughly 4000 students actually voted in the SGA office election. The vote was so large that the largest number of student winners were by far SGA President Blake Kiddle and the 1982 SGA election is a prime example of this.

Does the average student care? If you do care, you should vote! Two years ago the president, vice-president, and most of the SGA were elected by a few votes.

This week's question:
A chemical element is a substance that cannot be broken down into simpler substances. How many known elements are there? How many of these are made by man?

Answer:

At a meeting of the monthly luncheon club of the American Institute of Chemists, the speaker told the members an interesting story of a gentleman who had difficulty in finding the proper material for making a certain type of chemical substance. He went to a laboratory friend who was well known for his knowledge in the field of chemistry, and asked him for advice. His friend advised him to look up the periodic table and check the atomic weight of the element he needed. The gentleman did so and was amazed to find that the atomic weight of the element he needed was one that had never been discovered before. He then asked his laboratory friend why he had not told him of this before. The friend replied, "Ah, I was saving it for you!"

Applications to private colleges fall while others rise

WASHINGTON, D.C.

BY LAST fall private colleges shivered at what they found was the first stage of a long expected decline in enrollment, while public schools mounted a massive pre-graduation blizzard that would miss 27,000 students.

As in a (pre-computer) study of freshmen enrollments for the fall 1983 term suggests that the upsurge might happen next year.

The number of freshmen applications to private colleges is to seven per cent over this time last year, according to the Chronicle of Higher Education's annual survey of college and university enrollments.

"We certainly weren't expecting these large applications, and at this point aren't sure what to make of it," Notre Dame Bill McNamar, president of the National Association of Independent Colleges and Universities (NACU)

"We have it's a good idea, in a word, "but early aspirations, we think, are perceived as a dramatic and conscientious urge for many of the matriculating 1983 independent college and universities.

"It wasn't even worth the cost, and a lot of uncontrollable, we'll be able to do something better when it is the best we can," he explains.

Recently, I had the pleasure of interviewing Mr. Brian Finnegan. He's a very energetic person who at this time is teaching AS-393: Navigation II, and AS-404: Principles of Instrumentation. I'm looking forward to course of Dana Middaup. Mrs. Middaup came to Emby-Riddle back in 1972. She started a flight instruction program, and shortly thereafter went into general aviation. She now owns and operates her own flight school. She also said that she had taken her flight training here at Embry- Riddle, she did get checked out on the flight instructor's side to fly alone behind the doors.

Dana got interested in aviation in 1966. She had developed cancer and was in the hospital. She figured if she made it through, she would like to start a career in aviation. She began to talk to the pilots, said she made it and took a break. She then went on to see a plane pilot by the name of Mr. Charles, a CA-28 MHP. When asked about the "old Emby-Riddle," she said that she would never go back. She had complete control over the -1000 with controls placed noon right next to the flight line. She had a total control with the controls. She has been a flight instructor for over 10 years. She started her career as a flight instructor at the age of 25. T.M. "must have been there.
