Airlines swipe NY City subway drivers to fill pilot shortage, aliens the cause

By Booger
Avioff Staff Inceptor

Avioff sources learned Thursday that high ranking officials of Bleakstern and Contwrecktail Airlines are recruiting New York City subway drivers to alleviate the current pilot shortage.

Furious passengers waited hours as the city scrambled to replace the displaced drivers. According to city officials the action has nearly brought New York's public transportation system to a standstill.

Bleakstern and Contwrecktail officials had no official comment, however, George Tyrebitor, a senior official with Bleakstern's Department of Redundancy Department agreed to an exclusive interview, provided that his name not be used. Mr Tyrebitor said that the transition from subway trains to DC-9's and B767's wouldn't be difficult for the new recruits. He stated that the newer aircraft operated largely on autopilot and crews routinely slept through entire flights, except to use the washrooms when certain stewardesses were available. He added "there isn't any third rail for them to worry about up there anyhow." When asked about the fairness to subway patrons he replied "what the hell, those chumps only pay a buck to ride that sacker, our chumps pay over a hundred. Besides, think of the potential savings on salaries."

Federal Anal-retentive Association (FAA) spokesman Mort Hoeksteren said that the practice should not cause concern for Bleakstern and Contwrecktail passengers because "they're going to die sometime anyway and screw 'em if they can't do a little job."

In related news, students at Empty-Griddle Beach Bingo Universe school staged a protest on the flight line in response to the perceived threat to future employment interests.

One student covered himself in avgas and lit himself on fire to protest the conditions. Senior officials at Empty-Griddle tried to save the student by extinguishing the flames with Open Pit barbecue sauce, but the student was burned beyond well done and could not be eaten.

University officials tried to ease student's concerns, stating that the accident rate was proving high turnover and that students could easily get jobs as subway drivers in New York, but protests continued through press-time Wed.

Unsuspecting subway riders are unaware to a living! "The poor sobs never even the white blur entering in the rear who will know what it's all" says observing alien steal their railway operator, forcing him to fly "These human-types are real ditzes"

I know something was supposed to go here, but for the ditz life of me, I can't remember what it was!

Dominominomios quits pizza business to start aromatic wallpaper franchise

Dominominomios quits pizza business to start aromatic wallpaper franchise

By Ina Spy
Avioff Japbe

The Avioff has uncovered an amazing plan which will begin on April 1, 1988, a plan that will affect the fast food industry nationwide.

Dominominomios, a popular franchised take-out pizza restaurant, will change its purpose. No longer will they deliver take-out pizza in 30 minutes or less. Now, they will cater to the "take-out aromatic wallpaper" market.

Yes, now when the wife says, "Honey, I just can't stand that kitchen wallpaper an hour longer!", you, the brilliant husband can say, "Don't worry dear, in just 30 minutes we can have Dominominomios aromatic wallpaper delivered straight to our home. And for every two square feet of wallpaper we buy, we get a free pizza. Also, since the wallpaper has the aroma of pizza, our kitchen will smell like we're taking pizza all the time!"

The re-structure of Dominominomios is the brainchild of three former Empty-Griddle Beach Bingo Universe students, who in just 185 days (days since the beginning of Fall Term minus Christmas vacation) managed to spend approximately $3000 on wallpaper: their dorm room with 273 Dominominomios wallpaper.

For instance, for the bathroom, they plan to have aromatic wallpaper that smells like detergent, etc. As D's Aromatic Wallpaper expands, anything is possible. By the way, if you are holding stock in companies that manufacture air fresheners, sell now! D's Aromatic Wallpaper plans to put them out of business.

Dole sets controlled airspace altitude up to eye-level

Well, now we've gone and done it. We made the Avioff. We'd like to sincerely apologize to anyone we've offended. We hope we've offended many, though, else we haven't done our job.

This is probably the most tasteless issue ever, and we hope you enjoy it.

Some of us all ready have.

A recent development in the Robert Dole Presidential camp has caused ripples of wonderment in the transportation industry. Libby Dole (aka "The Pineapple Lady"), wife of candidate Bob Dole and former secretary of transportation has unveiled a new plan to increase aviation safety which has aviation industry analysts scratching their heads and wondering when she will check herself into the Betty Ford Center for the Chemically Befuddled.

The first part of her controversial plan calls for all airspace ten feet above ground level to be declared controlled airspace by the FAA (Federal Anal-retentive Association). In order to avoid any possibility of the dreaded "near miss," Ms Dole's plan would allow only one aircraft to be in the controlled airspace over the United States.

When told that such a plan would effectively shut down the air transportation industry, Dole said that her plan could save thousands of lives each year. Additionally, according to Dole, "it would put hundreds of muck-

Wingwalking . . .

EGBBU recently began its new and improved wingwalking course. The course is designed to teach basic and advanced wingwalking to really stupid Freshmen, Sophomores, Juniors and such. Unfortunately, however, many of the Freshmen dropped out of the course, causing quite a mess on the airport grounds, because of the stringent requirements of adhering to a freshly polished surface.

Avioff lack of materials

This empty space represents a direct result of this problem!

Aliens switch EGBBU fleet with something

Avioff reporters have discovered that the flight line is going to replace their fleet of Cessna 172 and Cessna T303 with North American P-51D trainers and North American D-25H's. According to Doll Mckidley the decision to replace the aging 172 and T303 with more modern aircraft was "to give the flight students the thrill of flying combat type aircraft, and besides, we're the only school to have them."

With these new additions to the flight line it will make the flight students who leaves here with the edge one needs to survive in the 1990's. This reporter would like to know why it took so long for the administration to make this decision when I try to find out the board of directors refused an interview, this leads one to believe that our great school is preparing to become a close of the Airforce Academy.

The state of floralgatorlandusa

There is a state down far south that we all know and call floralgatorlandusa. During this time of the year most of the winter residents have all left and only foolish people who work here and those of us who have to stay here do classes are residents here, now. This is an interesting point because that means that we are in charge of the state while the other people are out of it. We could change it so that they couldn't enter the state until they stood on one foot and turned, or we could all make them all go home for good. But we don't want to do that because they might not come back and then where would we be? Well I'll tell you we would be in a snaky infested sink hole that is full of water. In other words this place is the armpit of the lower knee of a swamp pig and stinky legitime swampwater.

This is probably not entire what I think because it is nice as an escape from the far North's winter, that most of us have grown use to since birth. Remember that this is the state that we all chose to go to college in, so does that mean that we are, in a sense, swamp sucking, snaky infested, sink hole living, foreigners to this state? No it doesn't because we all realize that it is a nice place to visit but then eventually it will sink into the sea, with the rest of the continent.

Why did we pick such a state to reside in for the four most tender years of our life? It could be because we are mentally stupid and all we think of are beautiful golden bronzed bodies, and well built babes? No now we know what do beach is all about... Unless you are female. Well in the future we will have to choose much better. Then we will all waky up, smell the coffee and laugh about this town.

Never do, always the bride's maid, and never the one that gets the good looks. Then all is not yet lost there is Sexy Really Wacky, Speed Wacky, and of course Spring Breaking. This surely makes up for the loss we have in classmate.

Complaining students always makes the day of the Avoiff, we stay up all night in the gentle procedure that we call LayOut and after staying up until 20 minutes before our first class a club or two will stroll in and make threats about how the student body will start wrapping their fish in the newspaper... where would the students who live on campus get the fish to wrap the newspaper around, and why would they wrap a newspaper around a fish when there is cellophane, aluminum foil, or wax paper in the world to use much better for the purpose. People are really weird in this way.

I don't know. Forget about it.

The Avioff and Phoenix's staffs met up with the News Desk, public and encountered a new lad they call, Tiger eating.

Messed up

Dear Boss:

I had 12 bottles of whiskey in the collar and my wife said to me to empty the contents of each and every bottle down the sink.

I proceeded with the unpleasant task.

I withdrew the cork from the first bottle and poured the contents down the sink with the exception of one glass which I drank.

I pulled the cork from the second bottle and did likewise with the exception of one glass which I drank.

I pulled the cork from the third bottle and poured the whiskey down the sink with the exception of one glass which I drank.

I pulled the cork from the fourth sink and poured the bottle down the glass which I drank.

I extracted the bottle from the cork of the next and drank one sink out of collar and my wife later told me to empty the contents of each and every bottle down the sink.

I proceeded with the unpleasant task.

I withdrew the cork from the first bottle and poured the contents down the sink with the exception of one glass which I drank.

I pulled the cork from the second bottle and did likewise with the exception of one glass which I drank.

I withdrew the cork from the third bottle and poured the whiskey down the sink with the exception of one glass which I drank.

I pulled the cork from the fourth sink and poured the bottle down the glass which I drank.

I extracted the bottle from the cork of the next and drank one sink out of it and threw the rest down the glass.

I pulled the cork out of the next glass and poured the contents down the sink.

Then I corked the sink with the glass, behind the drink, and drank the beer.

When I had everything emptied, I studied the house with one hand, counted the bottles, corks, glasses, and corks with the other. There were 24 and so the houses came by I counted them again.

I finally had all the houses in one bottle which I drank.

I was not under the alcoholence of inebriety, though some think I am, I am not so thump as you drink.

I feel so foolish. I don't know who I am and the drunker I stand here the larger I get.

Everyone loves a parade...

Universe Prez goes to extremes to relate to students...

As part of his new student awareness program, the president has taken up skate boarding, wind surfing and being loud and obnoxious in the library study areas.

Damn aliens!

As these ROTC pukes demonstrate, in their new uniforms, everyone loves a parade. Although the pukes were parading through the recently invaded world of guacy colors, many of the bystanders were allowed to jive; however, many others suffered from severe eye strain.

Faculty/staff beautification begins, ends, begins again; aliens believed the cause

By Ima Spy Avloff Jigabe

In Mid-March, a reference was made in the Killer Morris cartoon strip to a voluntary faculty/staff beautification program. Students campus-wide applauded the program and immediately came forth by the thousands to help with this project. Students had been secretly thinking that such a program was needed for years, but simply did not know how to approach the matter. They can't wait to get started to work on a plan to help beautify the faculty and staff.

Clubs and organizations campus-wide will be holding dress-up sales and car washes to raise the money needed to keep the Universe barber shop open free of charge one day a week to faculty and staff of the Universe. Any employee of Empty-Griddle who still dons a 1967's haircut, may use the barber shop free of charge effective immediately.

The Management Club is sponsoring seminars for employees to instruct them how to "Dress for Success." Correct tie width and length and lapel size will be the topic of the first seminar to be held on Friday, April 1. The following week this seminar will discuss women's clothing. In particular, "Why you shouldn't wear a peasant dress."

In short, you should not dress in a manner that tells the world you make the wages of a peasant. The history of fashion, and why we must let go of the past will be discussed later in April.

The AMT students decided not to be left out in the faculty/staff beautification program. They will be offering seminars to employees free of charge regarding their vehicles. For instance, Piston are passive, Gremlins look goody and no matter what you make, you don't have to drive a Rambler. Later seminars will reinforce the notion that rust is not a viable color scheme and the do-it-yourself-war wash. You probably already have what you need just sitting around home.

Once the program is underway, grades are expected to improve around the campus. Faculty did not realize in the past, this was the reason students would not open their eyes in class, also students will be able to take better notes since they will no longer feel the need to keep a scorecard of how many days in a row the faculty member wore the same pair of pants.

The most serious campus eyeseore, the employee, will be history. Hallelujah!

...And here we have a trough at 500 millibars...

...approved to instruct them how to "Dress for Success." Correct tie width and length and lapel size will be the topic of the first seminar to be held on Friday, April 1. The following week this seminar will discuss women's clothing. In particular, "Why you shouldn't wear a peasant dress."
