----IBPP Special Services

The IBPP Editorial Board will develop articles on specific topics requested by the readership. The Board will also provide analyses for the professional use of readers at their request. If you would like to make a request or need additional information, contact bloomr@erau.edu.

----IBPP International Editor Nominations

The International Bulletin of Political Psychology (IBPP) is requesting nominations for a number of Regional Editor positions. Regional Editors should (1) work and live outside the United States; (2) be fluent in English; (3) encourage IBPP submissions from colleagues, students, political activists, mass media representatives, and others; (4) facilitate the development of these submissions; and--if they desire--(5) translate IBPP Issues and articles into local languages for educational purposes. Regional Editors may wish to create their own network of editors to ensure representation of political psychology ideas from as many populations as possible. Please help make IBPP truly international. Interested parties may contact the IBPP editor via email: bloomr@erau.edu, telephone: 928-777-3837, or post: Director, Terrorism, Intelligence, and Security Studies, Embry-Riddle Aeronautical University, 3200 Willow Creek, Prescott, AZ 86301, USA.

----Contemporary Books/Journals/Articles

Baer, R. (2002). See No Evil: The True Story of a Ground Soldier in the CIA's War on Terrorism. Crown. (This text highlights and entertainingly describes common intelligence issues such as the human versus the technical, careerism, headquarters versus field personnel dynamics, and the roles of covert action and espionage.)

Belli, G. (2002). The Country Under My Skin: A Memory of Love and War. Knopf. (A narrative of the nonrevolutionary treatment of women within political revolutionary movements.)

Norton, M.B. (2002). In the Devil's Snare: The Salem Witchcraft Crisis of 1692. Knopf. (An alternative approach to causal analysis of a well-known historical event and an example of the import of socio-historical analysis of stigma and socio-pathology.)

Rustmann, F.W., Jr. (2002). CIA, Inc.: Espionage and the Craft of Business Intelligence. Brassey's, Inc. (A professional exposition of business intelligence based on generalization from governmental intelligence activities.)

Shulsky, A.N., & Schmitt, G.J. (2002). Silent Warfare: Understanding the World of Intelligence. (3rd ed.). Brassey's, Inc. (Probably the best English language introductory textbook on intelligence matters.) (Keywords: Books, Conferences, International Nominations, Journals, Special Services.)
