Fall 2010 International Program

Hello everyone, my name is Matthew Falkler, Class of 2014 and an emerging leader of the Student Government Association on our campus. I am an Executive Board member of the SRB, College of Business. I am also a Resident Advisor and a member of the Catholic Student Association. I am from the Middle East and I am an International Student. I arrived in the United States two years ago. When I graduate, I hope to work as a business attorney because I love helping people.

The Student Court deals with parking and safety violations. Embry-Riddle has a colored decal system corresponding to designated parking lots, which are GREEN for General Student Parking, RED for Restricted Parking, BLUE for General Student Parking, and YELLOW for General Student Parking. The rule is very simple. You must have the proper decal corresponding to your parking lot. Violators will be charged a fine of $40. Your fine will be assessed from 7:00 AM until 7:00 AM Monday through Friday, and on weekends with a yellow and green media. If you are parked in the Blue lot, you must have a blue decal on your vehicle. If you are parked in the Green lot, you must have a green decal on your vehicle.

Whether you are an avid scuba diver or just a bit interested and would like to try it, the Diving Eagles Scuba Club at ERAU is right for you. Organizing scuba trips for almost every weekend, the Diving Eagles have been helping Embry-Riddle students get underwater and scuba diving semester after semester. Trips include visits to the very accessible natural springs all over Central Florida, beach diving out of South Florida’s Atlantic Coast, and at least one boat dive every semester. But this is not all, as many divers may want to explore different sites, the club will organize other trips based on where members want to go. The possibilities are endless.

Never dived before? Not certified? Not a problem. Getting certified through the Diving Eagles is cheap and easy. Thanks to our partnership with Spruce Creek Scuba, a local dive shop, members can get certified in two weekends for the lowest cost in the area. Certified but no gear? That’s fine too. Your semester dues do much more than pay for gas. As a member you are entitled to use the club’s gear, consisting of several BCD’s, Regulators and Dive Computers. All you need to own are fins, a mask, weights, and a wetsuit.

Not sure if diving is for you? Come on out and try it! Most semesters, the club organizes a try-scuba event taking place during the activities fair. Just bring yourself and a swimsuit over to the Fitness Center Pool and we will gear you up and get you diving under the supervision of a certified instructor, completely free of charge or commitment. Just to see if you like it! So if you have got the urge to submerge, do not forget to come and check us out during the activities fair and check out our Diving Eagles Scuba Club Facebook group. The club is not only your gateway into fun and adventure in Florida’s temperate waters, but also a way to experience strong camaraderie and friendship with your dive buddies. Club members can often be seen hanging out together on and off campus and like to throw the occasional dive party. So do not stay dry, dive in!
Pi Kappa Alpha look forward to Rush Week

Colin Meagher

The brothers of Pi Kappa Alpha (Pike) have returned from a relaxing summer and look forward to the full semester with great optimism. However, not all brothers returned to campus as many brothers stayed for summer abroad or for various reasons.

Additionally, several brothers attended the Pike International Convention in Austin, Texas. These brothers enjoyed the great barbeque but also focused on how to improve our chapter and had a great time doing so.

At the International Convention, Lambda Mu, received several awards which included the Raymond D. Ostrum Excellence Award (the highest honor awarded to chapters by the International Fraternity) and the Student Public Relations Program of the year award. We were recognized for our 25 man University Program. The brothers now look forward to the rest of Rush Week. The brothers are looking for male students who uphold the ideals of Pike and want to be a part of the largest support system in intramural teams as well as the student Orientation Team.

As athletes, our chapter holds several Intramural Champion trophies, held teams for every sport, and are the current owners of ERAU's largest trophy. As gentlemen, we strive to constantly improve our relationships with female students, act professionally towards professors, students, and other male students on campus. If you are interested in becoming a brother of Pi Kappa Alpha please contact our Rush Chairman, Brother Cody Dumon at (386) 947-1844 or stop by Student Government in the Student Center, Room 106.

For additional information visit our chapter website at www.pi kappaalpha.com or come see a brother of Pi Kappa Alpha in a decision you will not regret.

Space Shuttle Discovery makes horizontal move for the last time

Space Shuttle Discovery moved from the Orbiter Processing Facility to the Vehicle Assembly Building September 9. Once in the VAB it was lifted vertically and attached to the external fuel tank and solid rocket boosters that will take it into space November 1.

This is the 39th and last flight for Discovery, which has been in operation since 1984 and there is just one more shuttle mission after this one: STS-134/Endeavour in February. Funding is possible for one additional mission, STS-135 next summer, which would be Space Shuttle Atlantis.

RYAN MALONEY SCORES TWICE to lead the fourth-ranked Eagles in their 3-2 win over thirteenth ranked Bethel on Friday night.

The Eagles held their first lead of the half when, at the 1:04 mark, the Eagles were awarded a free kick inside the 18-yard box. Armando Orozco took the resulting penalty kick, but Bethel goalkeeper Chaz Dachenhaus was able to make the save.

However, just 10 seconds later, the Eagles would be awarded another free kick on the right side of the box. This time, Michael Donald took the kick and the ball sailed over the head of Dachenhaus to give the Eagles the lead in the first half of play to lead 1-0.

Electric Zoo Festival

& Blackwater Music Festival
See C2
A musical close to summer in Live Oak

Samir Parakash

St. Augustine Music Park in Live Oak is home to many bands and entertainers. From the upcoming Electric Zoo festival to Blackwater Music Festival, various headliners such as Slightly Stoopid, STS9, Michael Franti, and Rebelution, Disco Biscuits, G-Love and many more. The rain didn’t stop the music from being played one rain of the summer were felt throughout the three day event, but this did not stop fans from coming out to see their favorite bands.

The Electric Zoo Festival was beyond my expectations. Given its location in New York City, it was somewhat expecting EZF to be rather similar to what I would see at a festival in New Orleans. It has been such a huge success at the annual summer events, and this year was no different. The events have been like: Chaos, music, fireworks, aerial, and general herbilicious mayhem. Instead, the whole experience was quite opposite of that. The set up for Electric Zoo was splendid, absolutely perfect. Perfect for ambiance! Splendid! Perfect for atmosphere! Zoo was splendid, absolutely perfect. Opposite of that, it was a little less infuriating. The set-up for Electric Zoo Festival was a little less infuriating. Opposite of that, while listening to great dance music, there was on just having a good time schedule, making it seem-ingly impossible to attend any set for even more than 30 minutes without feeling guilty that I was missing one another of your favs. (Prime exam-ple: Wolfgang Gartner and A-Trak’s sets started and ended almost simultaneously. However, given the close prox-imity of each stage and tent, and the feasibility of slipping through the sides of the tents, it was actually somewhat possible to attend any set for even more than 30 minutes without feeling guilty that I was missing one of your favs.

The Electric Zoo attendees them- selves, were highly-matured — for the most part. At the Electric Zoo Festival norm, however some extremely stand-out performances from these artists, starting at the Main Stage. From stage to stage, it was a very elemental experience: there wasn’t so much concentration of trying to get the best views of the stage, or avoiding the stage hops, or other fans that galloped across the meadow to keep everyone hyped through- out the set, their usual extraordinary light show was enhanced by the rain-keeping time schedule, making friends — all while listening to great dance music. There was still a lot of enthusiasm and energy for the DJs and the music, there was that additional sense of control that I did not expect to see — and have rarely, if ever, experienced at a festival, of any kind. From stage to stage, it was a very elemental experience: each artist/DJ was thoughtfully proprietary on the Main Stage. However, given the close prox-imity of each stage and tent, and the feasibility of slipping through the sides of the tents, it was actually somewhat possible to attend any set for even more than 30 minutes without feeling guilty that I was missing one of your favs.

Unlike the initial Electric Zoo festival, the first, I was upset with whoever was responsible for those FCC rules — and appropriately-dressed — for the most part. At the Electric Zoo Festival, I got to experience exactly what Electric Zoo festival illuminates New York City
