Dear Students:

I received this memo and forwarded it to the Dean of Students.

Concerning TGII's is an inappropriate name for the special dinners being planned. There will be no “bargains” in the form of $2.10 for lunch, $1.40 for dinner, and $2.10 for breakfast. The food service will be charging approximately $2.75 per meal for the TGII special. If you would like to have a meal at the SCA, you will need to purchase tickets ahead of time. Tickets are available at the Student Activities Office. Please make sure to purchase your tickets early as they do sell out quickly. The TGII special will be held on November 29th.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Dave Froster

SUGGESTION

Please suggest alternative names for TGII dinners.

RESPONSE

The SGA has received many suggestions for alternative names. Some suggestions include "TGII Specials" or "TGIIfeast." We are considering these options and will announce the final name soon. In the meantime, please continue to purchase your tickets at the Student Activities Office.

SUGGESTION

Please consider offering more vegetarian options at the TGII meals.

RESPONSE

We have received many suggestions for improving the menu at the TGII meals. We are looking into the possibility of offering vegetarian options. We will keep you updated on the progress.

SUGGESTION

Please provide more information about the special events planned for the TGII meals.

RESPONSE

We will provide more information about the special events planned for the TGII meals in the next issue of the Avion. Please stay tuned for updates.

Thank you for your suggestions and input.

PRESIDENT’S CORNER

I hope you had a nice Thanksgiving holiday. I would like to congratulate Arnold Air Society on its successful road rally. The event was attended by over 100 students, and we are proud to support such initiatives. In addition, we would like to thank all the volunteers who made the event possible.

Don’t forget the dinner dance this Saturday night. Tickets can be purchased at the Student Activities Office.

B游戏技巧

On a related note, we received a report that some students have been using inappropriate names for the TGII dinners. We are investigating the situation and will take appropriate action.

Thank you for your cooperation.

Dave Froster

V-P THOUGHTS

Think of it this way, you are undoubtedly going to pay almost $2.75 for that dinner dance Saturday night. So why not come to the Campus Center instead? You won’t be entitled to the food. The Campus Center is still a great option for a fun night out.

SUGGESTION

Please consider offering more options for the TGII meals.

RESPONSE

We will take this into consideration. We are looking into the possibility of offering more options, such as vegetarian options. We will keep you updated on the progress.

Thank you for your input.

COMPLAINT

The bus driver keeps his windows down 10 minutes early and 10 minutes late. I suggest that the driver keep his windows down.

RESPONSE

The University reserves the right to discipline any student, with the exception of criminal offenses. The University's disciplinary procedures are outlined in the Student Charter.

COMPLAINT

The bus schedule has changed without informing me. The bus driver keeps an erratic schedule, lies about times, and leaves U.C. up to 10 minutes before the hour. The bus leaves the University Center at 12:15, 12:30, and 12:45. If the bus were on time, we would have a problem.

RESPONSE

The bus schedule is modified weekly with Monday and Thursday classes. The schedule should be at 17:10 instead of 17:30. Students must use the shuttle to get to the C.C.

COMPLAINT

The dining services are not providing satisfactory service. The food is cold and the portion sizes are small.

RESPONSE

The dining services are responsible for providing quality food and service. Suggestions for improvement are welcome.

COMMENT

I would like to see a member of the Student Body present at the board meetings. We have no voice here.

President Hunt centers his speech on the importance of hard work and persistence in the aviation industry. He stresses that challenges should be embraced, as they are opportunities for growth. "If an organization can be broken in two, it will either die or become stronger."

The Favored Quot

"President Hunt" was positive about the organization's future, stating that it has the potential to become stronger. However, he also warned that it cannot survive without hard work and a strong leadership. He emphasized the need for open communication and a commitment to the organization's vision.

The organization was first established as a student body organization, but it has evolved into a professional entity. The organization has developed a unique and compelling vision, which is a challenge to implement but necessary for success.

One Lor ALL and All For One said: "We could not have achieved this without the support of our members and the community."

Each trimester a very few students are invited to join the Sigma Chi Circle of Malcolm Delta Kappa. Why? Well. First, the requirements for membership are so tough, that’s why. To even be considered for nomination, you must be a junior or senior with a 3.5, of 1.0 or better with at least 30 hours at Embry-Riddle.

In order to be nominated, students must be considered outstanding leaders and be well rounded enough to excel in more than one major area. Areas of campus life considered are: 1. scholarship, 2. athletics, 3. student government, community, or religious leadership activities, and 4. the fine arts.

If you are a student or teacher wishing to attend, please contact any of the members of the faculty and student body of Embry-Riddle on a basis of mutual interest, understanding, and helpfulness.

If you believe you may qualify for membership, please contact the Office of the Registrar for an Information Package.

Embry-Riddle Skydivers have been making a lot of jumps this past month. Everyone is getting ready for the College Cocoa to be held next month in Dallas.

The four-man team representing Embry-Riddle will be: Doug Bream, Jerry Roberston, Dave Johnson, and Jeff Sheffer. They are both working hard under the direction of coach Bill Herring.

Many new members that joined the club and started jumping this fall will also be entering the meet in the menstrual event. The club has had new shirts printed, so if you ever see one that says "Embry-Riddle skydivers and would you like to buy one, just ask the member."

The parachute club held meetings the first and third Tuesdays of every month. Everyone interested is welcome to attend.

A word to those of you who have jumped but stopped for one reason or another, come back! We need your experiences. Special congratulations are in order for Al Shorter. Ed made his first 10,000 jump this past weekend and was cleared of student status.

Inspired by admiration, motivation and curiosity, I visited Daytona Beach aviation's ramp, and gazed into that airplane with the "V" number 30102. I saw... only at first site. Seconds later, I stumbled up to A-17 for a quick—some pilots won't turn down—on hour's worth of pure joy—easily in tailed in the fuel system. Ingeniously shuts off fuel supply if your car "runs out of gas" in a short time. From CAHS, athletic and recreational equipment. Free from the flower market (West 20's); catch a concert or serenade at Trinity Church, then take a walk through the Ninth Avenue markets from 39th to 57th Street. The Ninth Avenue markets from 39th to 57th Street. Hey, I'm still sold on the 201 and in my humble judgment, it's the most aeronautic and aloofly bird I've ever experienced! Try it, you might like it! I did and I did!
MEMO TO DORM STUDENTS

To: All dormitory residents

From: Security Headquarters

Subject: Trimester break - Vehicle parking

The following regulations, in effect through the break, are necessary for the safety and protection of all students and campus property.

1. All property left in or around the E-RAU campus and dormitory during the break will be left at the owners' risk.
2. All parking regulations will be strictly enforced during the break.
3. Automobiles left on campus should be parked in the ten-hour or overnight parking lots, especially on the airfield.
4. Do not leave vehicles unattended in any area that is not accessible to theft.
5. Remove all valuables, such as tape decks, equipment.
6. Do not park motorcycles or bicycles in stairwells or entrances or on dormitory walkways.
7. Do not park motorcycles or bicycles in stairwells or entrances or on dormitory walkways.
8. All vehicles not removed from the tennis court prior to 7:00 a.m., January 8, 1977, shall be subject to traffic fines and removal by the university.

Compliance with these instructions will enable Security Personnel to provide adequate protection of your property while you are absent. Those students remaining in the dormitory over the break should notify Security of their intention to remain. In case the gates will be locked at night and during most daytime hours.

An experience available to most of us is to co-op. Don't take it for granted but use it! A co-op position offers you more than you may think about.

Presently I am co-oping at the Martin Marietta Aerospace Company in Denver, Colorado. You may say you aren't an outstanding student, but neither am I.

Working out in the professional field gives you an insight as to what the business world is like, and whether what you're doing is for you. It enables you to meet and to come in contact with things you hear of through the media but may think are far beyond you.

My co-op position is working as an engineering aide. Some of my experiences include working on the company's computer system, putting in programs given to me, and developing my own programs. I have also written manuals on satellite projects and have prepared drawings and plots for final reports. I have been able to get my own copies of certain reports, such as the design system for the company's computer system, putting in programs. I have prepared drawings and plots for final reports.

When I first received the position, I thought, "What can I do? I don't know anything," but I was surprised at the things I could do with the few courses I had taken. I didn't think the basic computer course at school was going to be of any value to me in any other work, but it was a waste of time. The course proved to be very helpful. SOCIETY SEASON ENDS

By Ann Edmunds

For all of you faithful fans who are patiently waiting to find the result of this Saturday's game, there wasn't a game. The game was canceled, and during the stadium game both goalies were hurt, and none of the players didn't arrive at the field half an hour after the game started.

As a result, last Saturday's game against the University of Nevada was cancelled, and the Eagles season came to an end.

The Eagles finished with a 3-9-1 record. During the season the Eagles scored 33 goals, while allowing their opponents to score 23 times. The Eagles finished with a 3-9-1 record. During the season the Eagles scored 33 goals, while allowing their opponents to score 23 times.

Now let's look at what we're doing to get to the stage.
THE BROKEN WING

By Kenneth E. Wood

There is no helicopter pilot that flies for Air America is a veteran of over 50 years of service, well disciplined in the cockpit, loves to fly, is tolerant to a limit, and probably would not trade his job for anything else in the world. His greatest asset, however, is his ability to put every experience he's amassed from his previous flying jobs to work for him. His experience in the military, lighting ships, and flying cargo planes, gives him the ballast the country in these trying times. He will undoubtedly save his own life a number of times. Even though he's a professionally man, he sometimes puts himself into some difficult situations. They will tax his ability to reality. He will, over time, show that, no matter how bad, he's got to make it over the next hill.

Our winged friend begins his day at 5:30 am. He's shaven, the night before. He has a six-men sleep, and he wants to get out of the house. The bus is enroute. At 5:30 am he gets a thump out of his right il-leg, and the craft is ready. Now how about getting to work, no matter what? And no worry about missing the bus. What a wonderful life! It's not bad, but he'll be ready.

It's 5:30 am. After a quick breakfast, and 45th- shift with the others, and siesta, he never understood why he wanted to be a pilot at such an early time of day, he has no idea what to do.

Here's how he's powered, and following a ceremony of adjusting his seat and his belt, he challenges the pilots with the "office" checklist. "Is the weather apt," "Is the Captain," "Is the oil too high," "Is the weather apt," "Is the other plane too low," "Is the flight north or south whatever he wants to be." At the time of the flight, he's quite the other plane. The flight north is without event, but he has many others to choose from. Something in the air is bucking though, and casts a cloudy shadow for only his

"It's crazy, it's mad, but I'll be ready. I hope, Yes, I will!"

The biggest challenge will come after a 300-foot perch, and rather than revolve, he'll fire up the engine.

A familiar face to many, and a reminder of the late nights he's spent flying. A Night time pilot was contended by the man who radioed the news. No, it's not. But this time it's different, our friends, our soldiers held. The fish, rice, and water are to capacity. "She's been," says the man at the post, "I'll try and make it, we're going to do our best."
