New Registration Changes

The Registrar's Office is considering several changes for increased efficiency. Questionnaires recently distributed are to provide initial information for a computer changeover from G-E to Computer. The data will be used to calculate total costs to facilitate administrative responsibilities.

It is possible that pre-registration will be eliminated. Middle currently operates under eight separate registration periods; this is time consuming and costly.

In addition, a student pre-registering for the full term in the spring may be forced to enroll for the fall term if he fails a course during the summer term.

Students who pre-register also have the opportunity to sign up for exams during the regular registration period.

The eternal cashier's line may be shortened by pre-registration. Registrations if a suitable system can be developed. This would save time for everyone, but complications involved (guaranteed tuition, etc.) would require a highly organized program.

This spring, the minimum credit hours for full-time students will be being lowered from 14 to 12 hours. There will be no minimum.

The student who can manage a heavy schedule will not have to pay extra. To adjust the 12 hour minimum to present tuition, costs per credit hour must increase to $53.

Congressman Chappel visits Campus

Congressman William Chappell, incumbent U.S. Representative from this District, toured the Embry-Riddle campus Friday morning Oct. 27th and in the process was able to meet many of the staff, faculty and students.

An ex-Navy pilot, Mr. Chappell was in the U. S. Navy during World War II and flew B-24 bombers. He also served in the Air Force as a pilot.

The Air Science Department recently took over the dormitories and the library is currently being renovated.

Library To Be Moved

This Christmas break the library will move to the dormitories. The new facility will be located in the new dormitory building.

The library will provide a quiet study area and will be staffed 24 hours a day.

Richard Reimann was named the top position in the SGA obtaining 49.2 per cent of the votes cast. The closest candidate was Eric Tresz with 31.4 per cent.

Michael Leonard took the vice-presidential slot with 46.1 per cent, a clear victory over his closest contender, Ken Woodward, with 28.3 per cent of the student vote.
REIMANN, LEONARD CAPTURE SGA New Registration Changes

The Registrar’s office is considering several changes for increased efficiency. The questionnaires recently distributed are to provide initial information for a computer changeover from G.E. to Unisys. The data will be used to facilitate administrative processes.

As long as the student has the privilege of writing his own schedule, registration is going to be a hassle. Improvements are being made and old procedures discarded to make it less trouble than in the past.

Erau Starts Dorm Grill

This week ground will be broken for a temporary food facility next to Dorm 2.

Frank Forest has stated that the new food facility will be capable of handling anything available at a normal ‘grill’ when completed, about 90 days from now.

Russell Loomis commented that the grill will be located at the corner of the South Court and Foxen, facing the Dorm 2.

The steel buildings will construct the 40 feet by 60 feet structure and will be covered with a 20 foot by 60 feet patio covering the grill.

The Dorm Annex has three major areas. It consists of a kitchen area containing a ice cream machine, deep frier, and a vending machine. The dinning area is similar to the present Student Center with 40 feet of vending machines and seven people at a time. The largest area will be devoted to light recreation, i.e. pool, ping pong, football.

Undecided as yet are hours of operation, the menu, and recreational equipment. It has been suggested that the students should start organizing their ideas for recreational equipment and their menu choices to be instituted in January.

Library To Be Moved Over Christmas Break

This Christmas break the library will move to the downtown West side of A building. The catalogues, presently found at the main library, will be converted into classroom and office space for use by the Air Force ROTC.

Congressman Chappell Visits Campus

Congressman William Chappell, incumbents U.S. Representative from this District, toured the Embry-Riddle Campus Friday morning, Sept. 22, and in the process was able to meet many of the staff, faculty and students.

An ex-Navy pilot, Mr. Chappell flew in the 143 trainer in which he exhibited his piloting ability.

Mr. Chappell was of great assistance to ERAU in bringing on Air Force ROTC Training Program on Campus.

Mr. Chappell owns and flies his own airplane between his Washington office and the District he represents.

Richard Reimann won the top position in the SGA obtaining 45.2 per cent of the total votes cast. The closest candidate was SGA Vice President Michael Leonard with 31.4 per cent.

Richard Reimann took the Vice Presidential slot with 46.1 per cent, a year over his closest contender, Ken Woodward with 28.3 per cent of the student vote. When asked about their joint victory, Reimann and Leonard said: “We expressed our thanks and admiration to the entire student body whose personal and group efforts have made this the most successful election in the history of Embry-Riddle. Never before have so many organizations and individuals displayed an active interest in the politics of this school.”

Special thanks and congratulations are due to be extended to all of the other candidates, winners and losers alike, without whose exhausting efforts in compiling ballots, and providing sure fire campaign success for anyone would not have been possible.”

In a close battle, Anne Irving surpassed Bill Medley by over 7 per cent (49.9 to 42.5). Jim Dailey, although he was unsung, received strong voter support (568 votes).

Erau has several students interested in senatorial elections from the AEP, Stetson, E-Ren, and Mobile, among others, but none other than Richard Reimann has displayed an impressive interest and commitment.

The Air Science section, under the direction of H. Ford, Ron C. Moore, Bill Province, Craig E. Knoll, Randy Winters, and Richard F. DiPietro to their senatorial roll call.

Reflections Of A By Gone Era

by Curtis J. Forsee, Jr.

THE GREAT HERR SCHICKELGRUBER

There's a rumor around tho' strange it may seem, of the great Herr Schickelgruber and his marvelous dreams.

Being tired of the Russian, he took to his bed and above all things he dreamt he was dead.

To heaven he went straight in a pompador manner and banged at the door away in his banner.

But Peter called out in tones cold and clear, "Boopie, Adolf Hitler, we don't want you here.

So away did he turn and off did he go, with a real German goose step to the region below.

The devil to his imps gave fair warning, "I'm expecting Hitler, this dreary morning.

"Don't let him in for I've got the fear, he's a worse guy than that, and he'll want to rule here."

"Excuse me for easedropping," the Dictator said, "but I couldn't help but hear how he was talking, and is my face red."

"I know no how to hear," the devil, "I really don't know."

So he spit on the great and vanished in smoke, and just at that moment he jumped to his mirror.

He jumped to his mirror, his moustache awry, then he let out with a loud shrieking cry.

"Heaven I've lost, I know very well, but whoever heard of being kicked out of hell?"

This poem was written by a boy of five in 1943 with the help of a German nun of the Dominican order.

The nun had been forced to leave Germany and was teaching at a boarding school in Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

The boy entered his poem in a contest to win ten, twenty-five cent war bond stamps.

The point of this editorial is to share with you an experience a German nine year old boy who had with a teacher who he'll never forget.

The humor of the poem reveals more about the teacher than about the boy. It shows the great influence she had on him, and the sort of relationship the two of them had.

One can only wonder if she knew how often she would be remembered.

Many teachers are thought of and remembered this way, and some are thought of in the negative. Both kinds, I think, have a profound impact on the life of the student. Teaching does have its rewards if only being remembered in the prayers of a grateful student.

By the way, I won the contest.

Reflections Of A By Gone Era

LETTERS TO THE AVION

Dear Editor:

To those just elected, congratulations! One question: How will you do? Follow the crowd, i.e., get sworn in, have your picture taken for the yearbook, rewrite your resume, and then disappear into oblivion?

You know as well as I do that if membership in the SGA were not mandatory, only the senators would be members. You can change this. What has the SGA done for Joe Student lately? You promised "to work for change" or "improve the SGA" in your election campaign.

DO IT!

It wouldn't hurt for a senator from "division" to write a guest column for the paper explaining what has been accomplished at the last meeting, or for that matter, what are aggravations! Just issues or issues are coming up? The humor of the day would like to know.

Make the SGA an organization that students want to belong to, show 'em how much it's possible to get for illegal backing in the rear of the Krystal parking lot. You've got to get a ticket for illegal parking again (blocking a driveway that hadn't been blocked before), or get a ticket for loitering (blocking a sidewalk that hadn't been blocked before), or get a ticket for 45 mph in a 40 mph zone. The humor of the day would like to know.

My wife got a ticket for illegal backing in South Daytona when an old lady smashed into the rear of the car she was backing out of. She was backing out of The Krystal parking lot.

Can anyone call this justice? How can talking to some people on a sidewalk not be loitering? They arrested thirteen of us when we blocked a sidewalk by McDonald's and charged us $77.00 bond to get out of jail. Two of the thirteen were under 13 years old.

I can only wonder if she knew how often she would be remembered.

Many teachers are thought of and remembered this way, and some are thought of in the negative. Both kinds, I think, have a profound impact on the life of the student. Teaching does have its rewards if only being remembered in the prayers of a grateful student.

By the way, I won the contest.
Today's Music
by Rory Donnelly

David Ackles hasn't put out an album in two years. For Ackles, whose first two albums thoroughly disarmed all of his fans those two years as a sort of sabbatical period. Two years is a long time between albums, but during these years he developed what seems to be a new sound, one that is more to the liking of his music. David Ackles' newest release, American Gothic, is well worth the wait.

It is a revolutionary album and probably the most important record since the Beatles' Sgt. Pepper. American Gothic requires repeated listening to fully appreciate the quality of the music.

It is almost unrelated to rock and can be more closely associated with musical theater. It is good, not because it is good, but because it is good. And it is good, because it could possibly keep anyone from falling into Ackles' music, introducing musical forms which were previously excluded from the world of rock.

The mood of the entire album is mellow. Many of the songs are quite short, and there is not a lot of repetition. The mood seems to be a result of Ackles' desire to move to a new sound without losing his fan base.

The opening song, "One Night Stand," is one of the best on the album. It features Ackles singing with a soft, melodic voice, with a touch of jazz. The song is accompanied by a piano and a guitar, creating a soothing atmosphere.

"Loves Enough" is another favorite of mine. It is a slow, majestic ballad, featuring Ackles' powerful voice and a powerful melody. The song is accompanied by a piano and a cello, creating a somber, reflective mood.

"Blues for Billy Whitecloud" is an example of Ackles' jump to the home of his ancestors. It is a great song, featuring Ackles' powerful voice and a powerful melody. The song is accompanied by a piano and a cello, creating a somber, reflective mood.

"The Night Star" is another favorite of mine. It is a slow, majestic ballad, featuring Ackles' powerful voice and a powerful melody. The song is accompanied by a piano and a cello, creating a somber, reflective mood.

"American Gothic" is the most dynamic voice on campus. Ackles' performance of this song is brilliant, with his voice soaring to new heights. The song is accompanied by a piano and a cello, creating a powerful, emotional atmosphere.

Since space prevents me from going over every song on the album, all I can suggest is that you buy it yourself. Every song offers something different, and each is an interesting experience. "Blues for Billy Whitecloud" is an example of what Ackles' music is capable of. It is beautiful, powerful, and emotionally charged.

American Gothic completely over shadowes any music that has been put out this past year, and there is nothing coming out this year that will equal or surpass it. Much admiration and praise should go to Novak, who has been a constant presence on Ackles' albums.

Chris Vanes is the Los Angeles Free Press. He has nothing but praise for this album. American Gothic by David Ackles is, as far as I can tell, the best album of the year - and it's only been out for two weeks. It is almost a given that I can't find anything to praise except for the quality of this album. I am sorry if this caliber could possibly surface before at least 1975. You owe it to yourself to get this album.

Look out Sgt. Pepper.
Intramural Football Team Of The Week

By Robert Acquila

In an attempt to include more school sports coverage in The Avion, the staff has decided to feature an intramural football team each week.

This week the deserving team is the Delta Chi Jets. The Jets were strictly an independent team in their first year during the fall of 1969. That first year they finished in third place, but many of the players on the Jets pledged Delta Chi Fraternity, and together they formed two unbeatable teams in 1970. The leagues were separated, one being inter-fraternity (only fraternity members could play) and the other open intramural. The Jets, made up of Delta Chi members and only three independents, would play one game Sunday morning, and then play the fraternity game later that afternoon, with the same basic team minus the three independents.

The situation occurred in 1971 in both leagues, one team was undefeated. The teams were Delta Chi and Jet names to be used. The name was intramural league.

The start of this football season saw the Delta Chi Jets defeat the Cowboys 36-0. This night was the inaugural Delta Chi and Jets victory string to 24 straight. The team has a powerful offense and defense which has been scored upon only once in 2 years.

The Delta Chi Jets would make no predictions on the outcome of this season, only stating that it will take a very good team to beat them.
ERAU GREEKS AND CLUBS

Alpha Rho Omega by Jim Baerwolf

Alpha Rho Omega Professional Aviation Maintenance Fraternity was founded right here at ERAU during March, 1971. During this past summer the incorporation papers were completed, and the first alums were left so any schools wanting to look for a branch fraternity of Alpha Rho Omega can do so under our incorporation.

Alpha Rho Omega is currently aligned with a national Aviation and an international association. The national is P.A.M.A. - Professional Aviation Maintenance Association, headquartered at Pittsburgh, Pa. and the international is S.A.A.R.T. - Society of Licensed Aircraft Engineers and Technologists, headquarters at London, England. The purpose of these organizations is to promote a high degree of professionalism among aviation mechanics and foster and improve methods, skills, learning and advancement within the field of Aviation Maintenance. We conduct international, national, state and local meetings and seminars, and publish, distribute and disseminate news, technical bulletins, journals, and annual publications dealing with the trade of Aviation Maintenance.

APU, PAMA, and START are co-operative, non-profit, non-partisan, non-sectarian and non-political. Membership in the aforementioned can be retained for the cost of your life. The dues are extremely reasonable, and in the best way I know to keep up with the maintenance profession.

For further information, contact us through Box 1479 or you are welcome to attend any meeting of the APU. The next meeting will be on Oct. 4th (Wednesday) at 7:30PM at the Lakeside Park Recreation Hall, Nova Rd and Need Canal Rd.

Delta Chi by James Hunter

Last Friday evening we had a Rush party. What a Rush it was! We dined on some tasty food and enjoyed the company of the Gamecocks. The guests were treated to a night of fun and games, and everyone had a great time. The Delta Chi Jets flew their first game last Sunday, defeating the Wolverines by a score of 6-0. They are currently on a roll and look to be the team to beat in the league.

Sigma Phi Delta by Mark Re dendorff

As most of you probably don’t know, this article has been written and published over to the Avion Office in the Friday for its publication. Therefore, most of the news you get is almost two weeks old. For instance, when you read this article our first game will already have been played but it will be another week before this column can give you an account of the game. Protest this delay! (To Security: if I should disappear, look for my body behind the Avion Office). Now down to business. Our mighty team, strengthened by pledges and players, is winding up for Sunday’s game. We know the Coyotes will give us good competition but the better team will win.

One of the guards on our fine team is Don (otherwise known as warden - head). This quiet and unassuming but former Avion employee, former player, former coach and former student, is a valuable member of our team. Anything for a job, huh? Don’t you agree?

ERAU Pistol And Rifle Club

All ERAU students are welcome to come to our first meeting on Fri the 14th of September, building A, room 117, at 7:00 pm. Contact Capt. Wabel, ext. 52 or Gregor Redin, Box 436B, if you have any questions. Hope to see you there.

Mansfield Travels To Munich

by John Miller

"Politics intruded on the games terribly and the ethic of the Games was lost." With this statement, Dean Mansfield described the Olympic Games after his first-hand experience in Munich, Germany.

When he arrived, he found the city beautifully decorated and the people most gracious and hospitable. However, this was soon overshadowed by the murders of the Israeli wrestling team members. "After the shootings, a black curtain seemed to pass over the city," Mansfield said. The tragedy, along with the mishandling of the Games themselves, caused Dean Mansfield to spurn his remaining tickets and return early.

Among the events the Dean did attend were track and field, soccer and basketball. Speaking as Soccer Coach, Mansfield noted, with disappointment, the performance of the American soccer team. He felt that since the rest of the world plays the game, it is "not democratic for the U.S. to play sub-standard soccer." (The U.S. team was the first to make the quarter finals.)

To further improve the Games, the Dean suggested that national teams be abolished and an unbiased world committee be formed to choose the best team regardless of national origin.

The Dean did not spend the entire nineteen-day vacation in Germany. He traveled to Vienna to witness the Lipizzan Stallions perform and to take a boatride on the Danube.

He also drove to a small town in Czechoslovakia to attend a bagpipe festival (and was surprised to discover that no Scots were participating!)

The Mint Made A Mistake

You Can Collect

By Joe Green

Usually, a penny is worth a penny, except for Indian Head pennies, and quite a few old Lincoln cents. In 1955, the U.S. Mint erred and minted a few thousand double stamped pennies, but these are out of circulation now.

It is very rare that the U.S. Mint goes with their stringent methods of manufacture and quality control—but this year they did.

That's right, they double stamped a few thousand, or perhaps as many as a hundred thousand, 1972 Lincoln one cent pieces. What does this mean to you? Well, if you're a numismatic, you can put one in your collection. Or, you can sell them to a coin dealer in Daytona or anywhere else in the country.

What's the price? Well, it's up in the air right now, but they've usually been selling for 50 to 100 dollars each. A young man in Port Orange found 230 of them and sold them for $1,500 to a coin dealer in Philadelphia.

There are still plenty in circulation, so, after you pay your 4% Florida sales tax, look at the pennies you get in change. Watch those pennies you spend; a handful could finance your education.
