This past Wednesday, October 15th, marked the day on which many people expressed their discontent with present U.S. involvement in the Vietnam War. The nationwide peace moratorium proclaimed by anti-war factions was designed to illustrate a demand for peace.

On the international scene, the moratorium had its effects in a number of overseas nations. The French press gave wide coverage of the day's events while students protested in that nation's universities. In Italy police banned American students and businessmen's wives from collecting signatures on a Vietnam peace plea in places other than the U.S. Embassy in Rome.

Here in the States, there were demonstrations, speeches, memorial services and other observances. Some universities cancelled classes, others held special Vietnam discussions and still others were relatively unaffected by the moratorium. Not all "peace" demonstrations were peaceful though.

NEWS IN BRIEF

SGA will sponsor a drawing in the near future the proceeds of which will go to the SGA student aid fund. Winners will receive: a dinner for two, 10 gallons of gas, floral corsage, haircut, and two theatre tickets (Daytona Beach).

Friday, October 31 will mark the date of ERAI's trimester blood drive. This time the goal has been set at over 300 pts.

What had been a peaceful anti-war demonstration in front of the White House turned to violence. A group of youthful black militants, joining anti-war demonstrators, threatened to break into the White House grounds. Some of the demonstrators shouted, "The revolution has come". These people were quickly dispersed by effective security measures. Congressmen and other government officials expressed varied views of the day's activities, some in support and others against the protest.

Meanwhile, students at Bethune-Cookman College here in Daytona Beach planted a field of white crosses on the campus and later walked past them in celebration of the war moratorium day. They also made plans to view a movie entitled "No Vietnamese Ever Called Me Nigger". Here at Embry-Riddle, not many visible signs of protest materialized. Only black armbands with white peace symbols were seen being worn by a definite minority of students. Signs which had been posted in support of the peace moratorium were removed.

the president's corner

The letter I sent to Stetson last week has caused a little controversy, let me explain the aim of that letter. Prior to Mr. Collins reign, a policy was set by the SGA Council that any organized groups wishing to do business on another campus would be required to notify other campus in advance. This is why my letter went to Stetson informing them that because this policy was not carried out, their organization was not welcome at this time. As it turned out, the newspaper article was in error and Stetson had not planned on entering ERAI.

As to the letter written by Mr. Collins and Mr. McQuaid, there were a few false items in that. I was accused of releasing my letter to the news media in which this was in error. I was accused of not representing the majority of the students in which case they were strictly conjecture.

For overstepping my authority, I must plead guilty to that. This will not be the case in the future, and I have learned this quickly.

My apology and as for those students worried about our relationship with Stetson please read the second letter send by me to Stetson.

I hope we have all learned from this exactly how important communication actually is.

NEWS & VIEWS From the Editor's Desk

Due to lack of response concerning the "Spirit of Embry-Riddle" contest, we are extending the deadline until October 22, 1969, the winner to be announced on October 24.

Don't let your talent go to waste - or $25 that could rightfully be yours. Remember, all photographs automatically become the property of Embry-Riddle, and should be marked "Spirit of Embry-Riddle" and deposited in Box 1568.

Why isn't the SGA constitution, which was supposed to have been typed and put to a vote by now, installed and replacing the old outdated constitution?

Dean Etter McTeer Turner
Dean of Activities
Stetson University
Deland, Florida 32720

Dear Dean Turner:

My letter to you of October 6, 1969, was the result of a serious lack of communication due largely to the publication in a Daytona Beach newspaper of an item that was not factual. I apologize for accepting such information as factual without further researching the matter.

To help prevent similar errors in the future, I would like to propose periodic meetings of the Executive Board of your Student Government Association and those of Daytona Beach Junior College, Bethune-Cookman College, and Flagler College with Embry-Riddle's. I believe such meetings would facilitate student communication among the higher educational institutions in this area.

I would appreciate your views on this proposal.

Yours truly,

Gerald J. Berndt
President, SGA

While students on campuses throughout the nation marched and campaigned and expressed opinions about the Vietnam war this Wednesday, Embry-Riddle students were speaking out on an issue on our own campus. SGA president Jerry Berndt, in addition to making the mistake of writing an unfortunately worded letter to Stetson, (AVION, October 10, 1969), has aroused this student body to a point of active concern. Berndt's act, perhaps, would be excusable, but the principle behind it renders it a direct contradiction of the "Democratic way". To disagree with what others say and think is one thing; but to stifle anyone's right to free speech and lawful action is another. Moreover, no person has the right to speak for others without their approval and support.

Before I put down my picket sign for this week, a word to those stupid filthy-minded students who are writing (or should I say engraving) on the new desks in the Academic Complex. These people are damaging public property and incurring the wrath of their fellow students, faculty, and administration. Think before you act, maybe?

FROM THE DEAN'S OFFICE

"No posters, announcements, signs, or advertisements may be affixed to buildings, bulletin boards, etc. at ERAI unless prior permission is acquired from the Dean of Students."

There are certain bulletin boards that have been established (in the student center for the SGA for the ERAI; For "Sale" - limit ads to 3x5 cards; in the Academic bldgs. for department use) and are the responsibility of those assignees. Any other posters, etc. must be cleared by my office.

H. V. Mansfield
Wednesday, October 15, 1969, had been set aside for a Moratorium at Colleges and Universities nationwide to discuss the war in Vietnam.

Jerry Berndt, our newly elected President of the Student Government Association, took it upon himself to inform Stetson University that their students who are going to pass literature distributed, would not be welcome on the Embry-Riddle campus.

As a member of the Student Government Association, I think that such a program would have been beneficial and that any decision made without all the information being made public to the student body and without prior ratification by the student Council, is a gross misuse of the Office of President of the SGA.

This Moratorium was primarily to enlighten the students; not to organize them in a protest group. The deliberate lack of knowledge and apathy on the part of Mr. Berndt seems to show very little insight or understanding of the feelings of his fellow students.

Brude Rozett:

Myself, along with other people I have talked with, agree that the recent letter to the Student Government Association written by Jerry Berndt was totally unnecessary and unethical. What is wrong with anti-war literature distributed around the campus in a peaceful manner? I do not advocate S.D.S. movements, but I do advocate peace movements.

Jerry Berndt and thousands of others like him have definitely been in a military way of life too long. If he disagrees with this movement in a peaceful way, then we should take this as his approach to no-peace.

Because of this, I believe Jerry Berndt should be removed from his office before this school turns into a poor example of the Marines.

The other 500 Universities throughout the country have decided this movement is satisfactory. Notice I said the Universities: That includes students, faculty and student Governments as well. In the three years I've been at this school, I have never seen such one-sided thoughts.

Dane Johnson

Gerald J. Berndt projects himself as an average Riddle student by wandering around in moldy leather shoes, badly worn "fruit boots," and dirty wrinkled shirts. Most of us can grin and bear this. Berndt's letter to the Dean of Students of Stetson University cannot go overlooked. Be assured that his action in this matter has blemished the record of Embry-Riddle. An educational institute in our stage of infancy does not need the bad publicity that will result within the local academic community from Berndt's letter.

It appears the student body - it has been my opinion since the election results - has elected the wrong man. You would think that a holder of public office does not just go around firing off personal reactionary opinions via open letters without first getting the consent of all of his constituents. After one term with Berndt, ERAI will be in need of as much repair as the famous road.

Ed Hewson

I find it hard to believe that the elected head of the student body could be guilty of such a flagrant misuse of the powers of his office. Mr. Berndt's source of information in this matter was a newspaper article which proved to be totally inaccurate. Apparently our President is advocate of the old Will Rogers philosophy, "I only know what I read in the papers" for he never bothered to verify the story with Stetson. Armed with this misinformation, Mr. Berndt wrote a letter informing the Dean of Men at Stetson "that said group would not be welcome on this campus." Unfortunately, this group of "anti-war" students never existed and the letter only resulted in a poor reflection on Mr. Berndt, the SGA and the entire student body.

There is something more fundamental here than a poor reflection on our school. The letter contained the generalization, that if you want something changed you should write your congressman because that is "The Democratic Way." This is only partially true. Giving every man the opportunity to express his views, whether those views are in the majority or minority, whether it is a campaign headquarters or on a college campus, is "The Democratic Way". Mr. Berndt points out in his letter "had your students followed proper channels of communication things might have been different". It seems our President ignored all "proper channels of communication" when he sent that letter.

This leads me to two possible conclusions; either Mr. Berndt feels he is blessed with divine guidance or he had the simple gall to think that his was the "right" opinion. In either case, this was not the action of a responsible President. I can only refer to a quote from last week's "President's Corner":

THINK BEFORE YOU ACT

Gary J. Grimm

Dear Editor:

I have been enjoying the AVION to date. The variety of articles in your newspaper are well written and varied. I would like to request a description of the week's activities at Embry-Riddle.

prior to the beginning of classes, evidently showing that the EAA student body's general feeling toward the day's activities.

Counter-demonstrations throughout the nation were held to demonstrate support of the present U.S. government policy of a gradual withdrawal of troops from Vietnam. American flags were flown over all the country and aircraft flew over some areas trailing signs such as "Peace, yes. Surrender, no."

A group called the Citizens Committee for Peace With Security declared in New York, "Everyone who wants peace in Vietnam should tell it to Hanoi."

A VIEW ON PEACE

It is this reporter's opinion that the peaceful demonstrations illustrated the nation's desire for an end of the war in Vietnam. But it also must be understood is that this country is deeply embroiled in a very touchy situation which contains a vast amount of political, in addition to military, overtones. Having recently returned from Vietnam, an infantryman, I have had a first hand view of what too many overly opinionated people can only read about and hear about. It must be understood that international politics is playing a large part in our decisions on the Vietnam issue, and it is for these reasons, if one is to take a realistic view of the situation, that the United States cannot simply up and pull out of Vietnam.

A gradual withdrawal is obviously the most practical and realistic position which can be taken, if the overseas situation permits. Such was not the peace moratorium, which was held in the United States. Russia made the announcement that it will provide more help to North Vietnam. Any last chance of obtaining peace must necessarily be desired and worked for by all opposing forces. A one sided attempt will be of no avail.

Richard T. Wolfe

At Harvard the students left the campuses and went to homes and shopping centers inviting people to join them at Boyton Common for their antiwar rally.

In Chicago, the commuters, as they boarded their trains, were greeted by Northwestern and U of Chicago Students distributing leaflets announcing a "Peace Vigil" at the Civic Center in downtown Chicago.

Outside Governor Reagan's home more than a thousand persons gathered to read a roll call of war dead, most coming off from the campuses.

In Washington up to 45,000 persons, each representing a U.S. soldier killed in the war, marched in single file from Arlington National Cemetery to the Capitol in their "March Against Death."

At many colleges approval has been given to boycott classes. Many college officials indicated their support of the antiwar activities. Such names as Sen. George McGovern, Edmund Muskie, Eugene McCarthy, Eugene Nickerson and many more important political figures were actively involved in the day's protest.
Let's go, divers! It's time to suit up. You don't even need scuba equipment for this weekend's trip.

On Sunday, October 19, the Diving Eagles and the Daytona Beach Skin Divers are heading north for an Itchetucknee River float. All you need for the twelve mile float is an old inner tube, a bicycle, and fins. For a more comfortable trip you should also have a wet-suit.

There will be one stop for those who bring Scuba gear but it will not be a cave-dive.

This will be a long trip, so it would be a good idea to bring along an extra tube to float your beer cooler along.

Next Monday, October 20, Mr. Dave Snodgrass will present a lecture on cave-diving after the regular business meeting of the Diving Eagles. This lecture will last about an hour and a half and will be one of the most interesting talks you have ever heard. Mr. Snodgrass is a professional diver who has recently joined this club and volunteered his skills to further the aims of the club.

Lack of information from officials kept the Diving Eagles from participating in the St. Petersburg Optimum Spearfishing Competition this past weekend. The Diving Eagles and the Daytona Beach Skin Divers were left behind because there were no boats available when they arrived to register. Unable to enter the water, the teams lost both clubs went home.

Next time, maybe? Laugh-in is still the Number One Monday Night entertainment, but we're trying harder.
maintain their lead against a determined group of CMF's in the second half was a tough job while trying to make a comeback and the CMF's were quite fortunate to be able to do so. The CMF's trailed throughout most of the game, however, and scored early in the game for the Engineering Fraternity. It was unfortunate that later in the game they incurred a shoulder injury. He scored twice for 12 points on end runs. Steve Ellis scored on a pass play from quarterback Don Kessler. Kessler was later, in the game, he re- ejection from the field. Anderson was also ejected from the field. Powers got 2 TD's, one on passes from Rehrmann. Gelband also added his own TD that the Jeebos got. The Jets, however, were able to score freely. Gurdoy and Brodic both ran for a touchdown and Schott also combined with Rehrmann to score twice. He ran for a touchdown when he knocked down Dale Feeser, who was the other end on his own team, and caught the ball in the end zone. Dale Feeser scored 3 times, once on a run, and twice on passes from Rehrmann. Little Charlie Swanton also reached pay dirt on a run. Phil Steffan was on the receiving end of a Rehrmann pass to score. The versatile, quick, short, cunning, and agile Rich Gelband set up a fantastic scoring play when he passed to the quarterback Mr. Wonderful, Broadway Bill Rehrmann.

It was also brought to my attention that many of the players think that they are not suited to be officials during the games, and have been expressly opinions, displaying their ignorance and generally making fools of themselves during the games by bitching at the referees, and your trying to confer with the other referee. If you haven't, I can assure you that it is not the most gratifying position you've been faced with. In the future, use your head before using your mouth when in doubt about a questionable call by reviewing your language also because several attractive young ladies are also beginning to show up for some of the games and it may help to improve your image around the Daytona area if you're not known as a "garbage mouth" animal. Be on time for next Sunday's game. It is quite likely that you'll enjoy yourself!

INTRAMURAL VOLLEYBALL

BY RAY LEE

Intramural volleyball will be offered this trimester for the first time. Anyone participating will receive one PE credit. At the present time the games will be played on Tuesday evenings after classes at 5:30. Players can form their own teams or submit their names to Ray Lee, Box 455, EERA, before October 22nd at 12:00 in the afternoon.

The first game will take place the following day, which is Tuesday, October 21st at 5:30 PM. All team rosters and game schedules will be posted throughout the school and especially in the Student Center on Tuesday morning. The competition should be very good. No satisfactory team has been assured by Dean Mansfield that a faculty team will compete. The teams will be composed of six men or women playing on each team but eight people can be on each roster to compensate for absences. Anyone not able to form a team is urged to speak to the Intramural and school box no. and they will be placed on a team. Don't put it off till later, act and you'll be glad you did!
Coach Dave Lowe held his final day of tryouts on Thursday, October 9. Each day's intensive workouts saw a fewer number of men appearing due to exhausting heat and aching bodies. Of the 32 men who appeared during the two week tryout period, fourteen were chosen by player/coach Lowe to play on the final squad.

The success of this year's team will rely heavily on four returning veterans - seniors Ray Lee, Mike Hoyle, Gary Quanstrom and David McClaine. Coach Lowe expresses bright hopes in newcomers Larry Schillings of Orlando, and Larry Hines of Bedford Village, N.Y., both probable starters.

What the team lacks in height is made up by sheer determination, along with speed and ball control. These traits should make Riddle's first real intercollegiate basketball team a formidable opponent to all teams to be played.

The schedule will be a long and trying experience for the young team. Every school will be new, and every game a battle.

The team needs your support and attention throughout the year. They realize that it will be impossible for you to follow them on away games, but they will certainly be looking for you at home games.

EMORY-RIDDLE SAILING CLUB
SAILING CLUB
Skipper's Corner
BY RUSS STRINE

On October 8th, the ERAI Sailing Club held its annual election of officers for the 1969-70 school year.
Bill Gamble was elected President; M. Van Probasco, Commodore; Russ Strine, Vice-Commodore; and Jere Andrews, Secretary-Treasurer. Additional members of the club are:
Bud Taylor, Jr.
John DelaFosse
Rick Rouse
Stephen L. Avery
Howard Burgess
Robert W. Plulpott
D. Asmondson

After elections were held, Van Probasco, last year's President, filled in officers as well as all other members on the guide lines of the club.
It was decided that one of the club boats, which needed some repair work, was to have been fixed so the boat could be sailed last weekend. Despite the welcoming sunshine, we neglected to brave the wild waters of the Halifax River in our little scow.
The members of the sailing club would like to take this opportunity to invite any interested persons to drop their anchors and stop in at our next meeting. Please check the bulletin boards at the student center and Dorm I for date, time, and location, or contact Russ Strine: Box 697.

A & P students will soon be saying goodbye to their beloved Steerman. The F.A.A. will be here shortly to give it the final inspection. If all goes well, the old biplane will be packed off to the New Jersey paper plant from whence it came.

Completion of the 150 Cessna is also in sight: Wanted - Test Pilot!

Mr. Harton, Administrative Assistant to Chairman Caswell, happily reports 85 students in the newly designed A.M.M. Program. The 96 credit program is designed to prepare the aircraft maintenance technician for managerial positions by enabling him to develop writing skill and advance his general overall knowledge at the college level. Six and one-half trimesters will be required to complete the curriculum.

The old 1800 hour requirement for an A & P license has been boosted to 2025. SL 010 - General Aeronautics, and Introduction to Aviation Maintenance Management have been introduced to supply the extra hours in the A.M.M. and A & P Curriculums.

Eagle Eaters Downed
BY GARY ANDERSON

Embry-Riddle's "Eating Eagles" traveled to Mac's Bar on Saturday afternoon to try for the one-hundred dollar prize for eating 6 of Mac's Ham Sandwiches. The team consisted of John "Fat Albert" Amick, and was coached by Don Nichols. A bipartisan crowd of nearly one hundred looked on as Fat Albert finished off his first two sandwiches in under 15 minutes, but lost ground as half time approached.

Half time entertainment was provided by Sigma Phi Delta, who gave a demonstration of pledge baiting and creative black marking, and Jan Collins, who discovered that the beer he had been drinking for the past hour had chipped glass in it.

The Sandal Sheaf, E11 Main Street
STUDENTS BENEFIT
BY RICHARD T. WHITE

He's new on the scene at Riddle, but not in Business Management. He's also well versed in Electrical Engineering. That aptly describes Mr. Frederick Hamilton, teacher of Principles of Management and Finance. He is also knowledgeable and conversant in aviation with two patents on aerial reconnaissance equipment to prove it.

Mr. Hamilton is originally from Massachusetts. After four years in the Army Signal Corps during WW II, he received his Masters in Electrical Engineering from the University of Illinois and later an MBA from University of Chicago.

He spent three years in the Jet Engine Department of G.E. in Philadelphia, taught at Drexel Institute of Technology and later, eight years with the Space Program of G.E.

The USAF Manned Orbiting Laboratory project of G.E. brought Mr. Hamilton to Daytona. After spending a year here, he decided to settle down instead of transferring with G.E.

Mr. Hamilton's interests are quite varied. He is a skydiver with 159 jumps, a one time commercial fisherman and even an audiophile.

He's made it known that he holds ER in high esteem for its' progress. Most of his students have a mutual feeling for him, too. He's certainly a needed asset to Embry-Riddle.

A Universal Answer to a Universal Question
BY RICHARD T. WHITE

The question is: Why do things always go wrong? The answer, according to Dr. Lawrence J. Peter, is "because in a Hierarchy every employee tends to rise to his level of incompetence." By now, many Americans are becoming familiar with The Peter Principle, a book published only a few months ago and already Number one for three weeks on the best seller list.

The Peter Principle is a collective study of an Educator who tries to explain the science of Hierarchiology - the rise of people to their level of incompetence. According to Dr. Peter, the phenomenon can be found in every organization, he it E-R, the Pentagon or the corner Grocery Store. Upon reading the first few chapters the reader at once sees the validity of the argument - he can even apply the "Principle" to his own environment.

Premature application, however, can be dangerous without reading further. Nevertheless, upon finishing the book one realizes that he has not learned any material facts from Dr. Peter, yet has become acutely aware of the problems surrounding his every day life.

The book could, I found, help explain Vietnam, the Bay of Pigs, the road to the new buildings, and even the PUSAR vending machines. May I insert a note of caution to the reader. The Peter Principle is amusing and light reading, but it cannot act as the Utopian answer for the whole world.

One of the most amusing parts of the book is the 100-word glossary. It is here that one can apply fancy terms to everyday phenomena. For instance, it is possible that E-8 suffers from "Lateral Arabesque" (Pseudo-promotion consisting of a new title and a new work place) as well as "Peter's Placebo" (you'll have to look that one up for yourself).

The Peter Principle - highly recommended - Wm. Morrow & Co. - available at Cox's Office Supply - Beach Street - Daytona Beach.
Last Friday night the membership of Alpha Eta Rho held a trashcan party which proved to be one of the best yet. Although the contents of the community punch bowl are still being analyzed by NASA's Rocket Propulsion Laboratories, the autopsy reports on those Brothers who tasted the brew have been released, and are now on display at the Ripley's Museum in St. Augustine. For the survivors there are only the happy memories of a good time, and the heads to prove it. Those who didn't attend or who left early missed a really wild bash.

On Saturday morning, the ambulatory cases made their way down to Mac's Bar to watch John Amick "do his thing" in a dramatic duel to the death with Mac's Famous Ham Sandwiches. Although John held a commanding lead for three rounds, his savory opponent rallied in the fourth and sent "Pat Albert" to the showers with a hard shot to the breadbasket. We congratulate John on a valiant effort to beat the clock and the laws of nature.

Sunday morning the Brothers suffered a disastrous defeat in flag football at the hands of the Bombers. Although we have lost several players due to injuries, we've apparently lost many more due to disinterest and other activities which helped account for the touting we took Sunday. However, those of us remaining on the active roster will be on the field again Sunday in hopes of avenging last week's 52-0 shut out.

In upcoming news: Brother Bill Walter will get married this Saturday in Ormond Beach. Many of the membership are planning to attend the wedding and reception, and we all wish Bill and his bride the best of luck in the future.

The average person has about 12 pints of blood.

He gives one pint. 48 hours later... he still has 12 pints of blood.
