WILSON DAY SUCCESS

BY RICHARD T. WHITE

The day finally came, and Embry-Riddle was to show off its progress - both in physical plant and in its dedicated people. This was Friday, December 5 - Gill Robb Wilson Day - the day Embry-Riddle would learn of its true acceptance into the aviation community.

The buildings and facilities were polished, the people who took part were groomed and prepared for the occasion. Embry-Riddle never looked so proud and tall.

The first event of the day commenced shortly after 1 PM at the Daytona Plaza Hotel with a buffet-style luncheon honoring General John P. McConnell, who was to receive the GRI Award that evening. Nearly 300 persons from students to trustees listened as General William W. Spruance introduced General McConnell.

General McConnell reaffirmed to the audience, the dedication and understanding that Gill Robb Wilson had had for airmen, throughout the world. McConnell, like so many other friends of Wilson, was proud to be associated with a man of such high ideals for his country. General McConnell concluded by allowing Mr. Jack Gross, a close friend of both him and Wilson to read correspondence between McConnell and the late Wilson's wife upon

Students:
I would like to thank everyone in the Student body for the success of the SGA Council this past trimester and hope that we can keep this movement rolling along through the next trimester.

I have a happy Holiday Season and anyone returning to Christmas Country let me know how beautiful Embry-Riddle was during next trimester. What I want for Christmas: "Also on Friday, Season and anyone returning to the SGA can let me know how beautiful Embry-Riddle was honoring his own tragic accident and the knowledge he was able to impart."

A LlVE LETTER

Being an observant person, I have noticed a steady decline in the quality of food served at a certain restaurant-cafe- teria, not to mention names, of course. It is not unlikely that upon returning to my humble domicile, after gluttony with this wholesome food, mild stomach pains wrack my comfort. I also find that I frequent the toilet much more often usually. Headaches seem to occur in shorter intervals. At first, "It is only me," scoffed I. But I noticed that other gents who visit the same kitchen have been complaining of the same symptoms. I don't know, maybe it's a small plague, maybe it's nothing. I only wish I had a choice in "Naming my Poison!"- Mad Russian

TO THE AVION

I believe that the students have a responsibility to let the people in power know exactly how we feel about issues and the college structure in general. Apathy seems to be a part of this campus. But IT DOESN'T HAVE TO BE!

As long as any structure knows it can manipulate those it should be serving, it will continue to do just that.

Whether it is right or wrong is not the issue. The point is that it manipulation, like power, is a fact of life, in the end, what is done, if anything depends on YOU.

NEWS & VIEWS From the Editor's Desk

By Linda Larsen

"Just when a fella gets to feeling blasé, something comes along to make things all right again." So said Mr. Paul Harvey after his ride around the Daytona Speedway Friday, December 5. "Now I know what I want for Christmas", he continued, "my own race track".

Embry-Riddle was honored to have Mr. Harvey in our midst Friday for the Gill Robb Wilson ceremonies and to hear him speak at the Presentation that night. The hour and three minutes he spoke were quickly passed as he held an audience at his will - aroused by his facts and appeal to "clean up Main Street, U.S.A." and his opinions and statistics on the Vietnam War, then stirred by his tender and compassionate account of Gill Robb Wilson and the airmen of his era - the pioneers of the jet age pilot - as he ended this epitaph with page two of news.

Following him through his schedule that day, I found myself watching a man who has the ability to display the excitement of youth, the finesse of a professional commentator, and the wisdom of maturity, all tinged by a mind and heart approaching greatness.

And thus, Friday, at Embry-Riddle, Paul Harvey passed our way.

Also on Friday, Brigadier General William Spruance gave a talk on flight safety, incorporating his own tragic accident in 1961 in a T-33. The knowledge he was able to use about flight safety got him through the crash alive. See the first issue of next trimester for further details on this story.

Our apologies to Ralph Wicklund for failing to give him credit for his article last week, "Legible Writers-Non-Existent". We also apologize to any other writers whose names we failed to print.

The AVION extends to you our heartfelt wishes for a happy holiday season. May joy be upon you, peace in your heart, generosity in your actions. May your Christmas gifts runneth over and the Blue Bird of Paradise hang a stocking on your nipple.

Wilson's passing. The message confirmed for those present, what place Wilson held in the airmen's world.

After the luncheon, the visitors and other notables returned to the ER campus for an afternoon of discovering what Aviation Education is all about. The well run tours were the result of our 13 coed students, and many female employees. During the afternoon, this reporter had the opportunity to speak at length with Mrs. John Mitchell, the wife of the late Gill Robb Wilson.

Mrs. Mitchell, an amazing woman who looks but half her age and can mix well with any 20 year old ER student received her pilot's license in 1934 flying a De Haviland "Moth". Mrs. Mitchell expressed her great faith in the youth of this nation and felt confident that a responsible, well-educated generation will soon be running the nation's affairs.

When asked her opinion of the great strides ER has taken in aviation Mrs. Mitchell stated she was "very impressed with the dedication of our students and the foresight of our teachers and leaders." Adding that "people in aviation are just a different breed - just a little bit better."

Mrs. Mitchell, convinced that ER will play an ever-increasing role in aviation stressed the need for ER building "multiple-campuses" throughout the country so that its campus won't become overly large and cumbersome.

Mrs. George Donnison, Mrs. Mitchell's daughter was very impressed with how Embry-Riddle places prime importance on its students and how the students have responded by assuming positions of responsibility in the affairs of the school. General McConnell, who was so impressed with the progress of the building program, spent the entire afternoon moving from classroom to classroom just observing how education is transferred to the student.

At 5.30 the quests reconvened in the VIP lounge.

and proceeded to the site of the new GWA Aeronautical Science Center. The dedication was short and simple and lasted but fifteen minutes.

Perhaps the most frivorous, yet most sincere event of the day was the cocktail party - social hour which took place at the Daytona Plaza just prior to Paul Harvey's speech. The atmosphere at the party nearly escapes description of a young student, for so many of the guests present were old timers in aviation - men and women who were flying when "Slim" Lindberg crossed the Atlantic, or when Amelia Earhart first learned to fly.

As I roamed about the room conversing with many historians I soon found myself amidst a reunion of airmen who had been students at Embry-Riddle in Cincinnati in 1926. Furthermore, several were "Quiet Birdmen", members of that organization of real old-time airmen. Many students present Friday night felt that listening to a few words of wisdom from these ancient airmen was more educational than any chapter in a modern textbook.

At 8:30 the crowd moved into the Auditorium to hear Paul Harvey's address. Nearly 1300 persons were fortunate enough to attend, for Paul Harvey is even more dynamic in person than on radio or TV. Mr. Harvey's ability to capture his audience in an aura of understanding befits his tall stature, which dominates the stage.

The underlying theme of the evening was "When America will cease to be good, America will cease to be great." Mr. Harvey pondered the fate of the three problems we are faced with today: the unwon war, inflation and crime and peppered the audience with his doctrine of beginning with a mop, broom and hoe to clean up Main St., USA before cleaning up the rest of the world. To this presentation, the audience responded with two standing ovations and 18 rounds of applause.

When it was all over, the Embry-Riddle community felt reassured that the students of ER. present and future could and would enter a world of aviation befit and worthy of the greatest traditions of America.
EAGLES WIN 69 CHAMPIONSHIP

THE INTRAMURAL FOOTBALL CHAMPS for 69-70 are the Eagles.

BY RAY LEE

The Eagles are the new intramural football champions at Embry-Riddle after defeating a team of tough and determined Bombers. Both teams scored an equal amount of touchdowns but the deciding factor was the one extra point of the game received by the Eagles. The game ended with a score of 19 to 18. Both teams went into the game undefeated and seemed to really be up for the game. Both teams are to be congratulated on fine seasons and displaying good school spirit. Members of the championship team are; Captain "straight leg" Jack Emery, Don Guerra, Dave Roberts, Hugh McCoy, Chip Hokeck, Paul Carpenolla, Bruce Mueller, Carl Joffie, Clay Alexander, Denny Page, Terry Schultz, Ray Palant, and Steve Sharstein.

Several of the teams in the intramural football league are already making plans for the spring trimester and the intramural sports that will be offered then which are softball, volleyball, and basketball. All students are welcome to participate in these activities for PE credit, trophies, to keep in shape and just have a good time.

Watch for more information pertaining to these activities when you return from your Christmas break.

PERSIANS VOLLEYBALL CHAMPS

BY RAY LEE

Remaining undefeated throughout the season, the well-organized and brilliant Persians arose above the other teams in the league to capture the championship. They had plenty of competition, however, from the Hall Busters and Staked Ballers who came in 2nd and 3rd in league competition respectively. Marty Stilling, Walter Fraser, Andy Potaczala, Bijan Toghac, Ahade Maghaudi and Fred Sharifi are the men to be congratulated for the Persians winning season. Intramural volleyball will again be offered next trimester but will be better organized. Each team will play all the others more than once to eliminate any disputes over who is the best. Watch for more information at the beginning of next trimester.

SOCCEP BRIEFS

BY MARTY STILLING

The 1969 Embry-Riddle soccer team has finished their best season ever with a 3-1 victory over Santa Fe J.C. Again the team was lead by Zach Fagbemi and Tom Conte as Zach tallied his 3rd hat-trick of the season with the three assists coming from the hard-running right winger, Conte. Allowing only the 5th goal in seven starts, Paul Vargo played another fine game, making nine saves for the Eagles.

In the past four years the soccer team has participated as a major independent in Florida. Since the founding members first took the field back in 1966, the team has compiled an amazing 25-11-3 record. After this year's 10-2-2 record it seems Coach Mansfield's Eagles are ready for their big step.

Rollins wrapped up its finest soccer season ever by blanking the University of Miami 5-0. Unbeaten in 12 matches since losing their season opener, Coach Gordie Howell's Tars finished 10-1-2. The Tars will be opposing the Eagles in NCAA play next year.

There comes a time each trimester when all of the frustrations, anxieties and disappointments of the previous dozen or so weeks are cast aside and everyone goes all out to have a really good time. Such was the case this past weekend when the SGA put on perhaps the best dance in Riddle's History. Needless to say, Alpha Eta Rho attended en masse and from the reports turned in at the debriefing session on Sunday morning, it appears that everyone had a real blast on Saturday night. For those brothers who couldn't account for frustrations trimester when all of the while, needless to say, Alpha Eta Rho attended the debriefing session at the Plaza Hotel.

The weekend festivities began on Friday night with our biannual Awards Banquet held at the San Remo. Frist on the agenda was the formal presentation of certificates and wings to our four new brothers: Jim Frye, Ed Briggs, Bruce Cook, and Dick Smock. Following, associate memberships were bestowed on Mr. Tamm, instructor in Air Law at Riddle, and Mr. Fred Krantz, a member of the Board of Visitors. Both gentlemen are deeply involved in the Aviation Industry and we are proud to announce their inductions as associate members of Alpha Eta Rho.

The traditional "Flying Fickle Finger of Fate" Award found its way into the hands of Bob Anderson for his stirring presentation of "Please don't take me-I'm a sick man," as portrayed to the Kappa Pledge class during their search for Road worthy Brothers.

Following the Banquet a number of Brothers traveled to the Plaza Hotel to serve as ushers for the Paul Harvey ceremonies while the remainder continued on page 8.

The Brothers of Sigma Chi Delta had an eventful and most successful weekend.

A cocktail party hosted by Brothers Steve Avery and Jim Bradley was held Saturday night before the Christmas Dance. All Brothers were present with dates and the evening was commenced in an appropriate manner. The entire fraternity then attended the dance and from all comments received, enjoyed themselves immensely.

On a more serious matter, Brother John Delafosse, who was in Jackson ville for the weekend, had a conference with Mr. John Smith, Florida's Grand Praetor for Sigma Chi Fraternity. Mr. Smith seems to be highly impressed with our efforts to establish Sigma Chi here at ERAI. He has given us a great deal of support in his capacity as Grand Praetor. He has advised us that we may possibly have our charter within nine months, which is a great honor since the usual time for petitioning is between two and three years.

Sigma Chi Delta also has received a letter from Mr. Milton Caniff, Mr. Caniff, as well as being a nationally famous cartoonist, is a Sigma Chi Alumnus held in the highest esteem. ERAI students should be familiar with him since he is also a member of the Gill Robb Wilson Memorial Committee. Mr. Caniff, praising ERAI profoundly has offered his full support to our efforts in petitioning Sigma Chi for a national charter. The Brothers of Sigma Chi Delta are forever indebted to Mr. Caniff.

Last week in the AVION we published the names of our Brothers with the deletion of two tentative members. We are proud to announce the acceptance of these Brothers: They are Sid Barling and Terry Owens.

In conclusion, we hope that we can be of perpetual service and may remain an asset to the ERAI student body and administration. We would sincerely enjoy and welcome the opportunity to work in harmony with the other fraternities here at ERAI, on any project which we may be assigned to the Student Body.
This last weekend the Vets had a very successful dinner and held its first annual Awards Banquet. Richard Martucci was given numerous awards as Founding President. Other founding officers, Gene Le Clair, and Jerry Berndt, were also given special recognition. Certificates of Awards went to Sherm Bruce and Dave Croakman for their outstanding work in the Association. Along with this, the officers were installed for next year. Don Kuhfuss is the new President, Bob Stambowski Internal VP, Matt Greer External VP, Kent George Secretary, and Rich Acee is the new treasurer.

After an eventful dinner with such dignitaries present as Mr. Ness, Dean Spears, Mr. & Mrs. Mansfield, it was off to the Desert Inn for what turned out to be "the best damn dance this school has ever had." The music was "loud" and the booze ran freely. In general, a great time was had by a capacity crowd.

Maybe now that the water is over the dam, and the SGA is working with each other instead of against each other, their efforts can be appreciated by the Student Body. Congratulations on a fine job SGA.

Announcements of meetings for the spring trimester will be posted when school starts again in January.

Merry Christmas to all from the Vets Association.

distributed to the audience population. The festivities went smoothly and Mr. Harvey's distinctive style and insightful views provided a very enjoyable hour of listening.

Sunday night was the annual United Nations pageant at Peabody Auditorium and once again the brothers donned usher badges to top off the weekends schedule of events.

Upcoming:
A lot of studying, a long drive home, and a lets get the hell out of here party on Saturday night.

Since this is the last issue of the AVION this year, the membership would like to take this opportunity to wish everyone a safe and speedy trip home and the happiest of Holiday Seasons. See you all next year.

ADMINISTRATION DENIALS

DAYTONA BEACH... (HUMOR-FP)
The Embry-Riddle Efficiencies Department charge of "gross overstaffing throughout the administration" was fervently denied today by the spokesman for Vice-President in charge of Administration Denials, Wally Beechcraft. It will be a special administrative assistant to the Dean of Intradepartmental Relations, read a list of counter-charges in a prepared press release. Later Beechcraft commented, "Anyone who thinks the administration is overstuffed, has never seen the Pentagon." Strangely no person could be found to refute Beechcraft's claim at this writing.

Meanwhile the Efficiency Department announced the hiring of three staff workers to complete the investigation of overstaffing at ERAI.

SHEPHERD HAS AN ATTITUDE PROBLEM

BY GARY ANDERSON

One of the Fraternities on campus bought a German Shepherd to keep them company and to provide a ferocious mascot that they could take to athletic events.

The other day while I was walking downtown, I ran into one of their members who was walking Bullwhip (that's the dog's name).

"Hi, Wally, is that Bullwhip?"
"Yes, that's him."
"How old is he now?"
"Four months."
"Purr."
"Did you say something?"
"No."
"I think your dog purred."
"No, you must be mistaken."
"Purr."
"There it is again; your dog purred; he really purred!"
"Well, he's had a cold and..."

About that time, Bullwhip saw another dog walking down the street and he headed for the nearest tree and started climbing. Wally was horrified.

"Bullwhip, come down here."
"Meow!"

"Wally, your dog thinks that he's a cat."
"I guess the secret had to come out sometime. He's a little confused. I think his mother was scared by a Siamese or something."
"How are you going to get him to come down?"
"He won't; he knows how to climb but not how to get down."

About fifteen minutes later the fire truck got there.

"We understand that you have an animal in the tree. What is it a cat or a monkey?"
"It's a German Shepherd."

After a while, they got Bullwhip down.
"GARY, you wouldn't tell anyone around school about this would you? He needs understanding, not ridicule."
"Are you kidding? This is the funniest thing I've ever heard of. How could your Fraternity ever keep a dog who thinks that he's a cat? I'll tell the whole world about it."

When I got home, our Fraternity cat was waiting for me at the door.
"Chirp."
"HOY, George, the cat's out of his cage again!"

MERRY CHRISTMAS, FELLA'S
MARTY'S TEN POINT PLAN

Ed. The opinions in this article do not reflect those of the majority of the AVON staff.

BY MARTY STILLING

The damned Commie fag-got hippies are trying to take over this country - and nobody's doing anything to stop them.

What's happening to America? Nobody respects anybody else's rights anymore. Except the little guys, like me. I believe in the United States Government. I'm not like the radical Commie long-haired queer hippies and yippies, who are trying to destroy everything this country stands for.

You see these hippies and yippies complaining about everything. They're trying to help the colored people. They run around naked at their music festivals. They even criticize our boys fighting overseas. Why, if I were 30 years younger I might go over to Vietnam and fight myself.

My neighbor's son got killed in Vietnam, fighting for his country. I don't think there's a greater sacrifice a man can make than giving up his son's life for his country.

I know I'm not as smart as some of those long-haired college professors who encourage the students to riot and destroy our college campuses, and don't offer anything constructive for helping our society. But I've been thinking, and I have a constructive plan to help get rid of the communists and undesirable elements in America once and for all:

TEN POINTS

1. Anybody who says anything publicly against our government should be thrown in jail. The President and Vice-President are doing the best job that they know how. And if the Left-Wing press guys like Walter Cronkite and David Brinkley keep speaking out against them, they should be kicked out of the country.

2. Take away the guns from all of the black people who are shooting at our police and causing internal dissension, and don't allow any of them to buy any weapons.

3. Have the police or Army undercover agents keep a secret 24-hour watch on anybody they think might be a traitor or planning something subversive. They could just move right into apartments or dormitories without the students or hippies knowing.

4. We could get rid of all the hippies taking pot and LSD by just having police raid the student dorms and apartments by surprise.

5. If any hippies or Communists like this conspiracy & get acquitted, after we all know they are guilty, then the government should find a court that WILL convict them.

6. If the police know any hippie is a troublemaker but they can't prove it right away, they should just lock up the hippies anyway.

7. The politicians could make sure we have judges who feel like we all do about the hippies and yippies. The judges could just handle everything then.

8. The SDS Hippies who go around rioting should be fined so much by the judges that their rich suburban parents would go bankrupt. Then they could lock up these undesirable elements and throw away key.

9. If at any time we decent citizens think the government is falling down on its job, we should be able to get together and force out anyone in the community who works against the majority rule.

10. In times of emergency or internal strife, like now, the Government should be able to order all citizens to obey it no matter what it asks. We should help our government - not work against it.

My ten point plan would really work to clean up the student unrest and hippies rioting. After we put it into effect, we could send all the radicals and freaks to Russia. See how they like it there, with no individual rights. Then they'd respect America and what it stands for.

God Bless America

Save it from those who try to destroy it.

BFTS HOLD ANNUAL MEETING

BY HAROLD KOSOLA

On November 5th, the annual dinner meeting of the BFTS No. 5 personnel was held at the Sweden House in Miami, Florida. The BFTS No. 5 (British Flight Training School, No. 5) is the Flight School Embry Riddle operated in World War II at Riddle Field in Clewiston, Florida. The attendance was made up of approximately forty ex-Embry Riddle Flight Instructors who taught British Fliers during the war. These British Fliers were from England, New Zealand, Australia, Jamaica and other British possessions and were given basic, primary and advanced flight training from 1941 to 1945.

The meeting was called to order by Mr. Frank Veltri, the secretary of the organizations American side. Some of the guests in attendance were Mr. John Paul Riddle, founder of Embry Riddle, Mr. Len Povey who was ER general manager during WW II, and who is famous for "inventing" the Cuban Eight, Aerobatic Maneuver. Also in attendance was Mr. Jack Hunt present President of Embry Riddle, and yours truly, Harold Kosola.

The main topic for discussion was organizing the reunion of the ex-RAF Fliers from England who are planning on coming over next October. Present plans are that forty ex-RAF Pilots will be arriving on October 3rd, 1970 and return two weeks later in a letter from Tony Lindfield, the organizer from across the creek, he suggested that if the ER Alumni Association should have their convention during the time that they're over here, a good date would be October 10, 1970.

One of the transportation problems in coming to America are high costs. Mr. Len Povey and other officials of Eastern Airlines, Pan American and National (all former ER personnel) suggested that they will check into getting the cost down on air transportation. It was also suggested that the people in attendance to this meeting (mainly from the Miami area) put up the ex-RAF in their homes when they arrive. It was brought up that a trip to Clewiston for a visit to the old airfield (Airglades on Miami sectional) would bring back many memories. It would consist of a one day affair with a barbeque and tour of the old cuban (it's still there and some buildings in use) and topped off with a dinner at the once popular Clewiston Inn. The Clewiston Chamber of Commerce, Jay-Cee's and the U.S. Sugar Corp. of Clewiston would be contacted for their support.

One of the members brought up that the first part of October might be a bad time, weather-wise, since it's the later part of the rainy season. This was agreed upon and Tony Lindfield would be contacted to see if he could change the dates to the later part of October or first of November.

Mr. Veltri brought up that among the membership of their group, there were two books being written about the years at Riddle Field in Clewiston. One written by Tony Lindfield about the RAF side of the story, and one written by an ex-Embry Riddle instructor about the American side of the story. This American side of the story book is now at the publishers and should be out at the end of December.

Tony Lindfield sent a box of ties to be sold among the members of the American side. They are dark blue in color and have the insignia of the ER Alumni Association on top. It would be desirable in having the ER Alumni Association's Annual Convention during the time the forty ex-RAF Embry Riddle Alumni have their reunion with their instructors in 1970. Any ideas or thoughts concerning the convention will be welcomed.

Frank Veltri will be sending the ER Alumni Association a copy of their mailing list.

TO GRADE OR NOT TO GRADE

BY GARY J. GRINNAN

Grades are basically a means of evaluating a student's progress, but in recent years marks have become so important they have become an end in themselves. Competition for grades has become so intense that many students and educators feel we have lost sight of real goals of our educational system, learning. Because of this feeling, many colleges and universities are experimenting with the pass/fail system.

Princeton has gone beyond the experimental stage. A student is now allowed to take one course a year without getting the usual number grade. Princeton uses this system to get students to take courses they would normally fear. Students can take courses in fields not related to their major without fear of a low grade hurting their average.

CalTech has its entire freshman class on the pass fail system. With the pressure of comparative grades removed, the freshmen dropout rate has gone from 20 to 14 percent. The freshman Dean of Students, Foster Strong commented, "Students are developing into self-made scholars rather than grade getters."

Industry has become interested in the new system. The Ford Foundation has sponsored a program at six schools, where select students study without required courses attendance, credits or marks.

The pass/fail system is spreading and many educators believe that marks are unnecessary and that the future will bring an end to the numerical grading system. One of these educators is Linden Summers, a Professor of Education and a University counselor. "Grading is an outdated, hoary tradition, said Summers. "Professors play a game of grades, a guerrilla war with their students...if a man can't become a student on his own we shouldn't be in the position of whipping him into being one."

Directions...for best results this article should be read at three o'clock in the morning while the student is cramming for his next final exam.

CLIPPED AT RIDDLE?

BY DARRY ELLER

Students may soon be getting "clipped" at Riddle. A barber shop may soon come into being in the old accounting department's room, just off the bookstore. Dean Mansfield, after conferring with the SGA, determined a price of one dollar as reasonable to the student body. However presently the barber being contacted by the school representative Mr. Mondschein, wishes to cut hair at twenty five cents less than the lowest going price in the area. Presently the Diplomatic Center is charging one dollar and a half, by far the lowest, since most barbers in the area are soon going to two dollars.

The school is still holding out for one dollar if the barber won't come down as of now our barber shop may never come into existence. At least the school is trying to save the students money, for a change.

THE NIGHT BEFORE FINALS

By TERRY STEVENS & PAUL VARGO

'Twas the night before finals and all through the dorm, Every student was cramming
In true Riddle form.

The crib sheets were strewn From the desk to the floor, And in the time that was left There were bound to be more.

"This course is a bitch!" Said one guy in dismay. "Keep writin'", said his friend "Or we'll all flunk today!"

At quarter past three They sent out a scout To Royal Castle and Mac's And all round about.

Four burgers, three shakes, Two fries and a coke; They'd had dinner at six But that was a joke.

Stuffed peppers with noodles and cold hash in a cup From Holiday Inn would Make anyone throw up!

The teachers were snuggled All warm in their beds While visions of grade curves Passed through their heads.

True-False and matching, Those anyone could pass; New essay tests, boy, That'd get their a_-

Now rings the alarm clock - No time left to study! Into the test room go The victim and his buddy.

Like Christians to the lions They go to their doom; No one can save them Once they enter that room.

And all of them know that Next tri it'll be better - They'll work and they'll study And be real eager go-getters

But you know and I know They'll still have to cram, 'Cause when next term roles around, They just won't give a damn!!

I HAF ZIS TEST... UND YOU VILL PASS IT!!!
